MONCTON

I have much pleasure in announcing to my customers and the general public that I will make them my annual call with a full line of goods from the above mills which will consist of

YARNS, SHIRTINGS, FLANNELS, BLANKETING, RUGGING, HOME-SPUNS, TWEEDS, OVERCOAT-INGS, AND DRESS GOODS.

These goods need no introduction to you as for the past ten years I have called upon you. You have seen that great improvements have been made each year in the style, coloring and finish and this year is no exception. I am confident that I can offer you goods not excelled by any mill in the maritime provinces, and as this will be the last season I will call on you in this century I trust you will continue to give me the patronage you have so generously bestowed in the past and assist me to make my sales the largest of any year I have had the pleasure of dealing with you. I am,

Yours very truly, A. D. McLEAN

Work Horses.

Work horses that have been comparatively idle during the winter should be used a little every few days a few weeks the last thirty years and the importation cords of the neck and shouldeas. If the before the commencement of the heavy work of ploughing. There is always more or less light teaming to be done, or when driving to town for pleasure or profit early in the spring when the roads are high-class character our sheep has won heavy drive two horses instead of one. It for us. It is gratifying to know that so will harden them for the heavy work later on. - National Stockman.

Successful Farming.

The large crop of mixed grain, buck wheat, potatoes, turnips and cabbage this year on the Thos. C. LeBlanc farm. with energy and perseverance, will accomplish, writes the Moncton Transup twenty-five acres of land and sewed it | tion and in robust health and vigor. with the above crops, and he chopped down 17 acres of wood land again to clear up for next year. From this land he secured a large supply of cordwood, and this fall from the cultivated land will realize about 100 bushels of buckwheat, two barley, four hundred bushels of potatoes and a large supply of carrots, beets, turnits and cabbage. From thirty-one acres of marshland, with this farm, he has cut about sixty tons of hay, and this together with hay from another piece of land has filled four large barns. Mr. LeBlanc intends clearing up a certain number of acres year after year until the whole 75 acres is under culcivation.

Trimmed Sheep.

Some complain much about the iniquity of trimming sheep on the ground that it is an attempt to deceive, says Professor Thomas Shaw in The Northwestern Farmer. There is only one way of look ing at it. The aim of the average man who trims sheep is not so much to de ceive as to improve the appearance of hi wares. To that end a horse is groomed It is to improve her appearance that maiden decorates her hair. It improves the appearance of a sheep to have him trimmed, even though he is free from defects. But, even though the aim should be to cover up defects, there is one class of men from whom defects cannot be hid den-that is, to say, men who understand the chief essentials of good muttor form. When these can get their hands on a sheep, the attempt to hide its weak ness will not avail. In this we have an other illustration of the fact that know ledge is power. The men who are to excel in live stock in the future must understand it, else they cannot hold their ow in the fierce competition of today. In thi we have a powerful argument for teaching agriculture in our colleges and in giving every attention to the short course in these colleges. Young men of the farm, look into the short course at our agricultural colleges. It can do you much good. You ought to take it when it is not possible for you to take the longer and fuller cellar for me, as I do not believe cows relish being confined in a dungeon any more than a man does. Give them all the sun- days. light possible. I never saw a stable with 'too many windows to suit me. If you are building, by all means, look well to your water supply. If possible to do so, build where you can have the advantage of running water in your stables. If you cannot do this, be sure you get a supply of well water, at all times in the year at a reasonable depth. After you have fitted up your stable with modern devices for watering those cows go one step further and arrange to heat that water up to a temperature of 70 degrees.

Rules of Registry.

The marked revival of interest in cattle breeding has set afloat a number of inquiries as to whether cattle graded up or anything that has been used to stand by successful crosses of pedigreed bulls about the room unwashed. As soon as can be made eligible to herdbook registration, says The Breeder's Gazette. These questions are answered in the negative. No herdbook accepts for record animals that are graded up from unregistered cows. All animals registered must trace to recorded stock through both parents. Some studbooks accept horses that have four or five top crosses of registered sires, but herdbrooks are closed to to all animals that do not descend on both sides from ancestors already on record. Five crosses of pure blood practically eliminate all alien blood and establish the type, but breeders maintain that the "taint" yet remains, however small the percentage of "scrub" blood may be and hence refuse herdbook record to animals thus bred.

Rivalry of the Sheep Industry.

Not for many years, writes the Farmer's Advocate, have so large a number out this summer. This may safely be re- ful curves.

bred flocks in the last two or three years | ing a woman's expression. that they have been reduced in numbers many Canadian breeders have the courage and enterprise to assume the risk of im porting on so large a scale; and we are glad to learn that commendable care has been exercised in the selections made for importation this year, and that a larger proportion of high-class stock than usual better known as the Herb Humphrey has been brought over. The magnificent farm, in Sunny Brae, across Robinson's display of sheep of all the principal creek, shows clearly what labor, coupled | breeds at the leading exhibitions in Canada amply demonstrates that we have a country admirably adapted to the proscript. A year ago last spring Mr. Le- duction of this class of stock in the high-Blanc purchased 75 acres of green bush est degree of perfection, and we have land from Mr. Herb Humphrey, who left | practical shepherds not a few who are for Vancouver, and with two men and well qualified by training and experience himself last summer Mr. LeBlanc cleared to bring them out in the pink of condi-

Choking Cattle.

Choking in cattle is usually caused by swallowing a potato, apple, piece of turnip or carrot. No matter in what part of the gullet it is lodged, it causes great hundred bushels of mixed grain, oats and distress, says Dr. McIntosh in the Denver Field and Farm. The animal coughs, saliva runs from the mouth, eyes bulge out, back is arched, and bloating also takes place. If it is in the upper part of the gullet, the animal soon dies from suffocation; if it is in the middle or lower part, the animal may live for several days. If it is the upper part of the gullet, give a little oil and then rub the hand up and down the throat to scatter the accumulation. It may be necessary to give a little oil several times and continue the rubbing, as it may take some time to overcome the choking. In case no oil is at hand a similar attempt may be made by pouring down some water. If the obstruction cannot be forced up or down by oiling and rubbing the gullet, use a proband, which is made of spiral wire covered with leather and which will bend with the neck. There is also a gag to be put in the mouth, with a whole in the centre through which the probang passes. Oil the probang and let one man take hold of the animal's horns or ears, while another passes the probang through the hole in the gag and back into the gullet. Press gently until the object is felt; then by steady pressure it will pass into the stomach. Too much force should not be used for fear of rupturing the gullet. No unyielding article should be pressed down the gullet, as it is almost sure to rupture it. If a probang is not convenient, take a piece of rope about threefourths to one inch in diameter, fray out a little of the end and tie a piece of string around it to form a soft knot, grease this well, and it will supply the place of a probang. In cases where an animal cannot be relieved by this treatment cut down on the gullet with an knife, making an incision and removing the material. Clean the wound and bring the edges of the gullet together firmly and sew with silk thread or catgut, letting the ends bang out of the external wound, bring the edges of the skin together, put a bandage around and keep it wet with cold water for 24 hours, and it will usually heal. I want my stable above ground. No Give the animal soft food for some days, and if a probang was used and the gullet not cut give soft food for two or three

Care of the Sick Room.

Dust should never be allowed to accumulate in the sick room. If the flour is entirely covered with carpet, let it be swept every other day. A thick, damp cloth or a canton flannel bag slipped over the straw of the broom, first wrung of water, will preveut the dust from rising and making it disagreeable for the patient, says the Buffalo Times.

Let furniture and woodwork be dusted daily with a damp cloth, not a dry or feather duster, for then the dust is simply whisked from one place to another instead of being removed from the room.

Never allow medicine glasses, spoons the patient has taken his nourishment the tray should be removed.

Flowers and growing plants need not be banished from the sick room except at night as, according to scientists, they distribute oxygen when under the influence of the sunlight. Their brightness, fragrance and beauty are beneficial to the invalid, and this alone should give them a passport to the room, which ought to be the most cheerful in the house.

High Collars Harmful.

Artists assert that the high collars now worn by women are destroying the poise of the head and the lines of the neck, says the Philadelphia Times. The use of unnatural collars, they say, changes | Plough Fittings, &c. the pose of the head to a marked degree, and this habit, if continued for several years, causes important changes in the muscles of the neck which soon become permanent. In old paintings the pose of of sheep of the different breeds been im- the head is perfectly natural and graceported to Canada as have been brought | ful, and the lines are round and in grace-

Cut This Out And Keep It.

At the first indication of diphtheria in the throat, make the room close, then take a tin cup and pour into it an equal quantity of tar and turpentine, then hold the cup over the fire so as to fill the room with fumes. The patient, on inhaling the fumes, will cough out the membraneous matter, and diphtheria will pass off. The fumes of the tar and turpentine loosen the throat and thus afford the rejief that has baffled the skill of physic-

Bob McCready.

Above is a splendid portrait of Bob Mc-Cready, one of the best football players in Canada. He is a member of the Ottawa hiversity team, and has been in all of its championship matches. He is a splendid specimen of robust Canadian manhood, but. trong as he is, he has known what it is to suffer from dyspepsia. So seriously afflicted was he at the opening of the past (1899) season, that he was not able to go out with his team. Pains in the back and sides, intermittent headache, and the awful pangs he suffered after eating, the result of an impaired digestion, warned him that he was in no condition to play football, the bardest of all games. Besides, he lacked the energy to carry him through a campaign He consulted his physician, but that gentleman gave him no relief. "At this stage." he writes, "I was advised to try Dr. Petty's Pills, the new remedy that one of my friends assured me was wonderful in its effects. I was skeptical, but he sounded their praises so persistently that I was at length induced to try them. The very first cose drove the pain away, and at the end of a week I resoined my team, and I have come through one of our hardest seasons in the best form that I have ever been in. Dr. Petty's Pills are alone to thank for my fine condition. They are the best medicine have ever taken. They make one so strong and so full of energy. I, for one, shall ever take any others when I feel in need f a strengthener." Such is the recommenintion of this well-known athlete, and such will be the experience of everyone who tries his wonderful remedy. If your druggist annot supply you, write to us, enclosing orice, 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for $2.50. Address The Dr. Petty Medicine Co.. Ottawa, Canada.
