

WHERE ARE YOU GOING, YOUNG MAN

Where are you going so fast, young man? Where are you going so fast? With the cup in your hand, and a flush on your brow?

Where are you going so fast young man? Where are you going so fast? In the flash of that wine there is only a bait; A curse lies beneath that you'll find when too late;

There's a reckoning day to come young man, A reckoning day to come— A life yet to live, and a death yet to die; A sad parting tear, and a sad parting sigh;

YOUNG MEN AND TOBACCO.

The use of tobacco puts a serious obstacle in the way of the success of a young man. There is no employment in which it recommends him; but many employments in connection with which it is a formidable or a fatal difficulty.

Rarely, indeed, would any man, himself addicted to a temperate use of tobacco, recommend the habit as a wise and grateful one to a young man in whom he was interested.

The expense of this habit is an important and uncompensated burden on any young man. A wise economy is a universal condition of success.

The funds which a young man addicted to the use of tobacco devotes to this end, are quite sufficient, if he is without wealth, to reduce seriously his chances of success in business.

WHY A PROHIBITIONIST?

The Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Boston, gives his reasons for being a Prohibitionist, in the following language: I am a Prohibitionist because I see the homes and hearts of our country menaced by the most tyrannical foe that ever threatened the liberty and perpetuity of a nation.

WILL OUR PARTY GROW CORRUPT

Many voters who admit that the Prohibition party is now the only clean party in the Union, say that this is because the party is young but that as soon as it begins to win victories, the self-seekers from the old parties will flock into it and it will grow as corrupt as either of them.

This is a mistake, and for four reasons. The first reason is that the corrupt politician is, in four cases out of five, one whose personal drinking habits would be likely to keep him out of our party altogether, and, if he did come in, would necessarily keep him out of places of leadership.

The second reason is, that in nine cases out of ten it is the saloon that gives to the corrupt politician his opportunity of gaining power and "influence." This is indisputable, and doesn't need proof.

The third reason is that when a party is fighting for a principle, the standard bearers, the men who lead will inevitably be the men who are best able to advocate that principle and to represent it.

The fourth reason is that a party that contends for a great issue offers attractions to clean men, especially young men, to take an active participation.

Some day, when our issue has triumphed, not merely on the statute books, but on the street corners and along the river-fronts as well; when the saloon has not enough vitality left to present an issue in politics (Heaven speed the day! What a new berth it will give our nation), and when the Prohibition party's only issue is to get in and get the others out—then the corruption will begin, and then the time for the party to die will have come, and for another new and clean party to take the new issues of the day, and carry them on to triumph.

But that's some time in the future. The saloon isn't going to go without a long and protracted struggle.—The Voice.

Two-thirds of the crimes which come before the courts of law of this country are occasioned chiefly by intemperance.—Lord Chief Justice Baron Kelly, of England.

If you love the mission work, help to dethrone the demon of intemperance, our reproach before heathens, the blight of our infant churches.—[Rev. E. R. W. Krause, South Sea Islands.

It is a common saying among the rum men that prohibition is a failure in Maine. It is worthy of note that those who wish to sell rum there have a pretty hard time and have to resort to strange ways.

"On Thursday of last week the sheriffs visited a house where they suspected beer to be sold. They heard a shuffling and scurrying upstairs. On going up they saw a very sick woman in bed. Very sick, another woman present said she was. 'Couldn't live twenty-four hours, the doctor said.' 'Oh!' the woman groaned, 'I'm very bad! Oh! what dreadful pain I'm in.'"

"The sheriffs saw that she was in her working-dress, lying on a mattress put upon some chairs, imperfectly covered with a coarse rug, leaving shoes and lower part of dress exposed. The sheriff said, 'I think you can stand it if I lift up this corner of the mattress.' 'No! no! I'm kilt entirely if you touch that!' The officer raised it and uncovered a barrel of beer. 'O you thavin', murtherin' villain! I'll have the damages of yer for murtherin a poor dying woman, who hasn't hardly the brith of life in her body!'"

IT IS DREADFUL!

"I have sometimes thought what I should do if Fred took to drinking," said a notable housekeeper to a friend. "It is so dreadful. What if it should come into my dish!"

At the same time she was mixing in liquor with Fred's dainty dishes. And one day, when he missed the old wine flavor in the pudding sauce on the table, he petulantly tipped his chair back and refused to eat any of the food. The dreadful shadow came ultimately and the friend spoken of above, thought of the hand of the motner that stirred the wine into the son's food had mixed the fatal glass for him. She helped form his taste for liquor.

We hope to live to see the day when the sentiment, growing throughout the country, in behalf of workingmen shall be condensed into two thunderbolts the first of which shall dash the saloon into oblivion, and the second of which shall smite those nests of gamblers—the stock, produce and other exchanges, as conducted today.

Let there be an entire abstinence from intoxicating drinks throughout this country during the period of a single generation, and a mob would be as impossible as combustion without oxygen.
