DOHERTY ORGAN,

As the following testimonial will show. Messrs. Thompson & Co.

Gentlemen:—After a thorough examination of several organs manufactured by Messrs. Doherty & Co., for which you are the General Agent, I have much pleasure in stating that the result has been most satisfactory. The tone is good and the touch faultless, and I have no hesitation in saying that they have deserving of the high reputation they have already attained.

PRACTICAL PEOPLE.

Of course the eminently practical man cannot understand a joke; he expects people to say what they mean always, and gravely tries to disprove statements which every one else laughs at as humorous examples of the impossible. He says that Mark Twain's books are not true, and that he can't make head nor tail of Gilbert and Sullivan's operas. He will deny the inspiration of the Scriptures, because they say, 'Cast thy bread upon the waters and thou shalt find it after many days. Tain't so, says the practical man, I tried it and found out. I threw a losf of bread into the river when I was a boy, and have never seen hide nor hair of it since. I tell you the chances are twelve billion, nine hundred and forty-four million, three hundred and twenty-seven thousand, nine hundred and thirteen to one, that if you throw bread into the water you will ev find it again. He thinks Emerson mu have been crazy when he spoke of hitc ing a wagon to a star. The absurdity the idea! You can't hitch your wagon t a star! A primrose by the river's brim Direct from London per Steamship yellow primrose is to him and is nothing more. He has no imagination. He res as easily in the bosom of society as cinder in a man's eye. He's a sliver in the bare toe of humanity. As a social eleme he is a Hyde without a Jekyll. All m hate him as they do the gates of deat We wonder if his wife really adores his We wonder if his mother really loves hit

THINK OF OTHERS.

Many good people who inveigh again the world are, in an unconscious wa quite as culpable as their neighbors. Il truth is that people in general are wrapped up in themselves that they not even think of the inconvenience annoyance they may be causing to othe by their thougtless rudeness. The tru Geo. Hatt & Sons gentlemen and ladies are those who have acquired the unconscious habit of orefer acquired the unconscious habit of prefet ring, in the thousand little things tha make up social life, others to themselves Let this principle be applied to a few very common offences against good manners Some people habitually go to church late or leave a concert room before the programme is completed, and while some one is actually playing and singing. They discompose not only the minister or the artists, but every one in their immediate neighborhood. Why do they do this? It is simply an exhibition of unconscious selfishness. They do not think it worth while to hurry themselves in order to reach church a few minutes earlier, and in order to save themselves a little incon venience in leaving with the rest of the audience they depart a few minutes soon-This is all that enters their heads; > polliterances of such country as this Think-think what you do when you go in debt; you give to another power over your liberty. If you cannot pay at the time you will be ashamed to see your creditor; you will be in fear when you speak to him, you will make poor, pitiful, sneaking excuses, and by degrees come to lose your veracity, and sink into base, downright lying; for the second vice is lying, the first is running into debt, as Poor Richard says; and again to the same purpose, Lying rides upon Debt's back.

Ladies' Column.

THE ARMOR OF SWEET DIGNITY

Let at least the passerby read in your face your desire to be courteous. If you cannot remember him, at least give him a pleasant bow if he bows to you. Such salutatious hurt nobody, not even a lady, who, if alone, must be circumspect. In the polite bow of a lady, full gravity and good will, masked with dignity and respect, the man of irregular life finds as profound a check to insult as in the haughty disdain of one who perhaps overestimates his admiration.

There is no armor like a sweet dignity. It seems to be one of the best qualities of woman, and it teaches her intuitively how to bow, how to smile, how to receive her friends and how to dismiss a bore. Women whose manners are too familiar never have much power. People do not care for that which they gain easily, and yet
