NEW YORK, Nov. 3 .- There was a notable subsidence of speculative interest in the stock market to-day. There was evidence in the large operations of a few firms which are credited with doing the busines for some of the powerful interests, that those interests are still taking a speculative part in the transactions. But their operations were confined to fewer stocks, and on a smaller scale than for some time past. The halt in the activity of the market is generally attributed to a purpose to await the passing of the election. Such strength as there was to to-day's market was largely confined to the iron and steel industry. The United States steel stocks were the most active of the group, but some of the partly dormant stocks made r gains, Tennessee Coal rising much better gains, Tennessee Coal rising more than 3 and Sloss-Sheffield steel 5 points. The Pennsylvania group of railroad stocks showed sympathy with the strength, as is usually the case, owing to the large proportion of their traffic which is made up of iron and steel products. Another rise in copper did not avail to hold Amalgamated copper, which reacted on profit taking, and on denials of the alleged control of the Heinze properties in its interests. Aside from the strong points mentioned, the market was reactionary, cline was not extreme, and ran to a polin only the handful of leading

THIRD ARMY JAPANESE HEAD- started at five in the evening of the QUARTERS, Nov. 3.—The Japanese casualties from the 19th to the 24th were 14,000. The centre division slops lost 6,000 and a single regiment lost 2,500. Only six officers and 200 men of the furious bombardment with which the Japanese infantry could not advance any further, and were compelled to spend this regiment were left after the fight. During the operations from August the first Russian trench line. During 25th to September 18th the Russians sortied and attacked the working parties almost every night, while guns bombarded by day. As the Japanese trench line neared the entanglements on the line neared the entanglements on the local party of sappers cleared away the Russian wire entanglements. The Japanese bombardment began at dawn on the 20th, and all the morning the slope of the fortified hill and ridge footbills the entanglements on the lines.

foothills the sorties became more frequent and determined. Quarter was bursting of shells. The artillery duel continued until 5.30 in the evening, antagonism was displayed, and even when the first Japanese regiment, carrystretcher bearers were killed. The cause of this was that the Russians alleged that their forts were bombarded while a messenger under a white flag was delivering the Emperor's message on August 16th. The fighting was augmented, and later all flags were unrecognized.

The pioneers suffered heavy casualties in cutting entanglements. After the failure of the regulation devices for removing wires, the pioneers were sent to attach ropes to posts to which entanglements were attached, and troops in the awful shrapnel fire from the chair hill, trenches pulled upon the ropes, dragging posts and wires away. This worked satisfactorily until the Russians began the use of bracing wires. Then the pioneers advanced and fell as though killed close to the entanglements, and remained motionless as though killed, until unobserved they could work along on their backs to the wires, which they cut with long shears. As a result of these expedients, the Russians made certain that all were dead who fell near the entanglements. The latest expedient was a steel shield covering the face and body, suspended from the shoulders of the pioneers, from behind which the cutters were used. Dynamite bombs were used by the Russians against the Japanese trenches and advance works. For assaulting forts, where it was impossible to throw bombs, wooden mortars were made, bound with bamboo. These were carried by the soldiers, and with them bombs were thrown from fifty to one hurdred yards. These were the most effective of the many devices | ment used by the Japanese. The Russians apparently have an inexhaustive supply of heavy ammunition. Hundreds of 10 and 12-inch shells were hurled at the Japanese batteries when hey were located, with serious effect The heaviest Japanese guns were 4.7 naval, and 6-inch naval guns. At the end of August some heavier howitzers arrived and were mounted on concrete. They were found to be wonderfully ef-

In the evening of the 19th a regiment attacked the half-moon forts in the ggs-firm, state Penna, and nearby, Shuishui valley from the parallels, fifty yards distant. These forts were strong, connected advance works, constructed in the from of a hollow square, open in the rear and extending across the apex of the valley from the foot of Rihlung mountain to the foot of the Antze forts. At each corner of the square was a 90foot half moon fort, with bomb-proof connecting trenches on three sides. the southern front the half moon forts and trenches were protected by a moat similar to the one in front of the Rihlung mountain redoubt. The first assault of the Japanese was made before wlark, but it was repulsed. Twice again during the night the Japanese made un-successful assaults on these fortifications. Early in the morning of the 20th the whole force was concentrated in a furious assault on the west half-moon fort. The moat was crossed with scalclosed steady at 2 @ 21/4 p c, last loan at ing ladders, and dynamite and hand 21/4 p c; prime mercantile paper 4 @ 41/2 grenades were used to destroy the Russian trenches and bomb-proofs. fighting, which lasted twenty minutes, was carried on at the point of the bayonet. Finally the Russians were driven through the connecting trenches, and the other half-moon forts were captured after slight resistance. The Japanese casualties were four hundred. The Russians left but few dead in their posi-tions. All the guns were captured, but have been destroyed or their breech in deep water. other prominent members of the party. LAURIER'S GREAT VICTORY.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—The country is with Laurier and his government ha achieved a great triumph. At this hour, 1.30 c'clock, it is impossible to tell just how the two parties will stand in the next house, but enough is known to make it clear that the government will have a majority in the next parliament fully as large as in the last. The predictions made in these despatches during the progress of the campaign, have been amply verified, particularly with regard to the great provinces of Ontario and Quebec. In the former the government has made some important gains and in Quebec it has held its own, showing that the people of these two provinces judged public questions on their merits and gave credit where it is due. Informa tion from the far west is still mea but it looks as if the government have a fair proportion of the votes. matter of much comment here is splendid triumph scored by Hon. W. Fielding in securing a solid phalanx fro Nova Scotia. The defeat of the oppose tion leader and of Mr. Bell in Pictor and Mr. Gourley in Colchester is a particularly noteworthy event and th wonderful success he has scored will giv Mr. Fielding great power and prestige In securing a majority of the members from New Brunswick, the Hon. H. R Emmerson has done better than we thought possible in view of the Blair reignation and the effort that was made stampede St. John against the G Pacific scheme. A particularly cheerng feature of the campaign is the fact that with the exception of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, all the cabinet ministers ave been retained in power. Liberals here are rejoicing over the splendid re-sult and they look forward with confidence to days of greater development that will follow the building of the new Grand Trunk Pacific. Detailed figures of the returns are not now available be cause they are incomplete, but enough is known to verify the belief that a better and brighter day is open for the

THE RIVER STEAMERS.

In a few days the river boats will be be forced to cease running. The usual time for the stopping of the traffic is between the 20th and 25th of this month, and there is no reason for supposing that this year will be any exception to the rule. Already on several mornings the ice along the river has been of considerable thickness, but this is not taken as any indication that the season will close any earlier than usual This summer has been a successful one for the river steamers. The passenger traffic has at least been up to the average of previous years, and there are some of the steamer men who say that than usual. Of course practically all the passenger traffic has now ceased. al though there are still a few travellers every day. Freight traffic has been make up the greater part of the cargoes of the several steamers. The fleet of river steamers has undergone several changes during the past few years, and next season will see still further changes. The new steamer Pohanoket, which has been purchased recently in Phila-delphia by the Star line, will probably reach the city next week, and will be placed on the route at the beginning of next season. According to the present plans of the owners of the Clifton, that steamer will be replaced next year by a new boat to be built at Hampton.
