He states that during the freshet three of his pigs saved their lives, each in a different manner but all displaying considerable intelligence. One floated on a cake of ice for half a mile and then took to the woods; another managed to "cuff a log" till rescued; and the third endeavored to climb a ladder and got into the hay loft. We are endeavoring to get a picture of them for our readers benefit.

Public Temperance Meeting.

On Tuesday evening last a temperance meeting was held in the Oddfellow's hall, Mr. W. F. Yonston occupying the chair. After prayer had been offered by the Rev. Mr. Carr and the hymn "Rescue the Perishing" had been sung, the chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting. Representatives from different points of the county were present and the organization of a prohibition campaign association would be taken up. Several temperance addresses, however, would first be delivered.

Rev. Geo. Fisher, of Dalhousie, was the first speaker. He first dealt with the reasonableness of the request for prohibition. It could reasonably be asked for on the ground of economy. Millions of dollars were spent in the liquor traffic and if it were prohibited and abolished the money thus spent would be devoted to other industries that would prove a blessing to the country instead of a curse, and develop other branches of trade more beneficial to the welfare of the country. A great deal of the money that now goes to the rumrunner would be spent in providing the necessary comforts of life for many a home that is now destitute and poverty stricken. Prohibition may be reasonably asked for on the ground of morality. Intemperance was not only a vice in itself but it led to all the other great crimes. The best way to prohibit crime would be to make it as easy as possible to do right and as difficult as possible to do wrong. Prohibition would be a means to that end.

It had been said by some that the government would not give us prohibition unless a majority of all the electors enrolled were polled or a majority in every province, but he did not think such was the case. A majority of the votes cast declared in favor of a protective tariff in 1873 and it was given a majority of the votes cast expressed the desire for a change of government at the last general elections and consequently there was a change. If there is a majority of votes in favor of prohibition the government would surely give us prohibition, if they did not then so much the worse for the government.

It had also been said that a prohibitory law could not be enforced, but it could be enforced just as readily as any of the other laws on our statute books. No law is unbroken, but the offender is punished.

Another objection had been raised that there would be a loss of revenue. Granted that there would be a loss of revenue we would be very unwise to sacrifice the lives and religion for dollars. Sir Leonard Tilley, when Minister of Finance, said that if a prohibitory law were enacted he would provide for the loss of revenue, and there were men to-day who could and would do the same thing. Prohibition must come some time; why not now?

In conclusion Mr. Fisher said that the Scott Act should be adopted in this county, instead of the shameful system of licenses. It might be some time yet before we would have prohibition, even if the temperance people carry the coming plebiscite, and in the meantime it might not be amiss to adopt the Scott Act.

A solo and chorus "Some Glad Day" was then rendered.

Rev. Mr. Thomson was the next speaker. He wished to give five reasons why we should oppose the existence of the saloon. The first reason is that the scripture says we are the keepers of our brethren. If a stumbling-block were in the way of any of our brothers or a deadly serpent were in his path we would be compelled to help him out of harm's way. Let us then do our duty and remove the stumbling-block and kill the serpent of intemperance that so endangers the life of our brother.

The evil effect of intemperance on the morality of the community was another reason why we should oppose the saloon.

A boy once caught a butterfly and closed his hand over it and the life was dimmed. Intemperance dimmed the life of the individual and lessened his capabilities for reaching up to nobler and holier things.

The saloon is inimical to church life. Funds are diverted and money that rightly belongs to the church is spent in strong drink. Then, saddest of all, sometimes the very pillars of the church fall victims to the habit.

The saloon is also a financial loss to the community. Suppose 200 men spent $10 each in a year for liquor, it means a loss of $2000. They lose 3 day's work a year at $150 a day each $900 gone! Then the arrest and trial of the ebriates was an additional expense that must be borne by the community, to say nothing about the expense of Inspector, Liquor License Commissioners, etc. Altogether there was a loss of about $6000 a year.

The saloon is a menace to the safety of the sons and daughters of the community. The speaker here very pointedly asked: Whose paradise is the serpent creeping in? He impressed upon his hearers the fact that we were bound together and should work together for the protection of the sons and daughters. Tramp! tramp! tramp! the boys are marching! Where? Into the door of the saloon?—nail entry?—ay! ay! ay! Let us pave the way for their entrance into the educational institutions, and cultivate within them a desire for holy things.

A solo and quartette was then very effectively sung.

Rev. Mr. Crawford was the next speaker. He urged upon his hearers the necessity for immediate and decisive action. If an enemy's ship were coming up the river to take the town, we would bestir ourselves to defend it. The powerful enemy of intemperance was in our midst and we should arm ourselves for the fight. Campbellton was the source of supply of liquor for outside districts and if we could see the misery and havoc wrought in this way, we would be compelled to take prompt action. The speaker very strongly urged his hearers to ask divine help in the conflict, saying it was a right cause and God would never allow the wrong to conquer.

The chairman here stated that the committee who called the meeting to-day cordially invited all present to remain for a short time after this meeting was closed to organize an alliance for the purpose of carrying on the campaign.

The meeting closed with God Save the Queen. Nearly all the audience remained to the after meeting, and the matter of organization was dealt with. Rev. Mr. Fisher was appointed Secretary for the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Carr read a circular from the Secretary of the Provincial Prohibition Plebiscite Campaign Committee, urging the necessity of organization.

It was moved and seconded that the local association be called the Restigouche County Prohibition Plebiscite Campaign Committee.

The following officers were then elected:—

Presidents—A. G. Adams. Vice-Presidents—W. F. Yonston, W. Appleton, Campbellton; Wm. Currie, Eol River Crossing; W. R. McMillan, Jacquet River; Walter Gillis, Flat Lands; Ralph Dawson, Dawsonville; John Dickie, Point La Nim; J. H. Galbraith, Charlo; Geo. Haddow, Dalhousie.

Secretary—E. W. Lewis, Campbellton. Treasurer—D. J. Bruce, Campbellton.

The clergymen of the county and the presiding officers of the W. C. T. U. were elected Vice-Presidents.

It was moved and seconded that the presiding officers and secretaries of the religious and temperance societies of the county be members of the committee, and the committee be empowered to add to their number. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.
