Corbett After Britt.

Young Corbett is keeping the wires hot between New York and San Francisco, to arrange a match between himself and Jimmy Britt. Billy Roache, formerly of New York, but now a resident of San Francisco, is acting as Corbett's representative there. Several messages received from Roache in reply to those from Corbett are not at all encouraging. The shutting down of boxing in San Francisco has put a damper on the negotiations. Los Angeles is the most available place where the men could fight, but Britt is not inclined to battle there, at least for the present. He says the encounter would draw twice as much if it were held in San Francisco. Then again Britt has promised to face Joe Gans. He issued a challenge recently to meet the negro and the latter accepted, agreeing to make the lightweight scale, 133 pounds. Corbett, however, is not losing hope and will continue to press Britt for a scrap.

Jack Hicks, one of England's best known veteran fighters, died in London the other day.

Kid Carter Knocked Out.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Jack Williams of this city, last night, knocked out Kid Carter in the third round of what was scheduled as a six round bout at the Manhattan Athletic Club. Williams had Carter on the defensive from the start to the knockout. Carter was in poor condition and was unusually slow.

Jack O'Brien Wins.

Milwaukee, Oct. 8.—"Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien was awarded the decision over Tommy Burns, (Noah Brusse) of Chicago, in a six round bout before the Badger Athletic club last night. The fighting was somewhat lame, O'Brien having the better of his man in every round with the exception of the fourth, in which honors were about even.

Sussex Races.

Sussex, Oct. 8.—A large crowd was present at the race track yesterday afternoon to witness the green race best two in three heats. The following seven horses entered:
Aunt Tennis, Dr. McAllister, Edgardo, Jr., Wm. Heffer, Darkey, Wm. McLeod, J., Sandy, Charles Brennan, Nellie, Wm. Holman, Black Beauty, E. Chambers, Skobaloff, Sam Parker.
The race was won by Darkey, best time 2:51. Between the first and second heats the prize horses cattle paraded the track making a fine tournament, some fine cattle was shown. Jessé Presscott has bought Don Estelle, 2:21 1-2, from his owner, Y. J. Furbush of West Newton, Mass. It is understood that the price given was a good one.
Lexington, Ky., Oct. 8.—Chief interest today centred in the Johnson stake, established in 1887, worth $2,000, for 2.24 tratters. It was won in three straight heats by Lisonjero the ruling favorite.

Miss Harvey is Champion.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Miss Harvey of Hamilton, Ont., defeated Miss McAnulty, of Montreal, yesterday, 3 up and 2 to play, thus winning the Championship for the Dominion for ladies.

Innovation in Hockey.

The Manitoba amateur hockey league was formed Wednesday night by the amalgamation of the Western Canada league and the Manitoba and North-West associations. Five clubs were admitted to the senior series, namely, Victoria Rowing Club, Brandon, Hat Portage, Portage la Prairie. The double referee system was adopted. One referee is to watch offside, the other, judge of play, is to watch rough work. Both will be on skates. This is an important innovation in hockey.

Mr. Sprague Won.

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 8.—Clarence Sprague was the winner of the Dalling Cup in the recent Golf contest, this is his second year of championship.

Football.

Capt. Fairweather, of the All-St. John team, has word from the U. N. B. and Acadia teams that each is desirous of playing here. It is likely that the team from the U. N. B. will play here on the 22nd inst., and Acadia on the following Friday. Mt. Allison and St. Joseph's college have been written to concerning games.

Applause Killed Him.

New York, Oct. 8.—Several thousand people cheered a fine play made Thursday afternoon by John Garcia, the catcher of the Cuban Giants baseball team, during a game played in Jamaica against the Woodhull team. A moment later he fell and willing hands raised him from the ground and carried him to a nearby hospital where he died from heart failure induced by the excitement attending his play. Garcia was twenty-eight years old, and lived at No. 874 Atlantic Avenue.
The game was played at King's Park, and was exciting from its start until it was stopped by Garcia's death. The last half of the second inning was on, and a critical moment was at hand. Neither side had scored, a Woodhull man was on third base and a strong batter was at the plate.
He struck at the first ball thrown, just touching it, and causing it to fly back, and over Garcia's head. The catcher jumped and, by reaching far up, caught the ball in one hand. The batter was out.
The crowd at once was turned pandemonium loose. Garcia's companions shouted congratulations to him, and even the members of the opposing team applauded.
At that moment Garcia was seen to stagger, and after a momentary effort to remain standing he fell forward to the ground. When his companions reached him he was unable to recognize them, and did not respond to their efforts to revive him.

At Beersville, said Mr. Brown, the Provincial and New York Company have been drilling for oil with good prospects.
He also said that the coal found there is of excellent quality and commands a high price.

Mr. Brown leaves for home by this evening's train.

CHANGE COMES WITH CULTURE.

Holidays are a Development of the Higher Civilization.

Men and women in civilization retain many of the primitive instincts of animals, children and savages, and these get on quite well with what they are accustomed to day after day, and never worry because they cannot do something tomorrow which did not occupy them yesterday, says the London Saturday Review. Without going further back than a century our forefathers got on very well with the minimum of change in their habits; they did not often take holidays for a change, they lived and died at a good old age without having worried themselves in seeking changes of scene. Old people's chances of life are increased by steady living in the same manner and change would be the most likely thing to kill them. Women, in spite of their being the mutable sex, whose lives have a greater actual value than men's, desire and take change less than men do.
In short, the lower you go in the scale of general intelligence, culture and refinement, the less desire of change is found. Imperturbable sameness and no change is their ideal of pleasure and gives them most satisfaction. This is the explanation of their restricted range of eating and drinking. What are delicacies to people of the more cultured class are disgusting to them and if they are offered to them, are refused with the most perfect fastidiousness ever to be met with in matters of the table. Indeed a complete change of diet would be completely abhorrent to anybody and this is equally true of the change of occupation which we call holiday making.

A POLITE REQUEST.

The Japanese proprietor of a tea shop in the east end of London has been much annoyed by the incessant howling of his neighbor's dog under his window while he was trying to sleep. There came a night when his patience gave way. He raised the window, stuck his head out, and called to his neighbor in terms that indicated that his English environment was gradually undermining his native politeness.
"Mist' Jones," he said, "will you do the kindness for request the honorable dog that he stop his honorable bark? If you don't by gosh, I knock his head off!"—London Tit-Bits.

The new altar to be installed in the chapel of St. Vincent's convent, will probably be completed the latter part of next week. After it is erected the decorators will have considerable work to put on it, so that it is not likely the dedication ceremonies will be held within two weeks.

Miss Mabel Starkey daughter of Ernest D. Starkey, of No. 8, Paradise Row, was sixteen years of age Thursday and on that evening friends assembled at her home and gave her a handsome gold bracelet.

Wednesday evening a very pretty wedding took place at Welsford, in St. James' Church, when Howard A. Davis, of New Brunswick, and Miss Laura Davidson, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. B. Belliss. The bride wore a navy blue travelling suit with velvet trimmings and a velvet hat with ostrich plumes. After the ceremony the young couple left by the C. P. R. for Woodstock. They will reside at Lingwood.

The missionary meeting last evening, in the Reformed Baptist Church, was well attended. Rev. Miles Tracton introduced Miss Mary Morgan who is to sail for South Africa in a few weeks, to join H. C. Saunders and Mrs. Saunders, Reformed Baptist Missionaries, at Baul near Petersburg. Miss Morgan belongs to Melville York County and has never been engaged in missionary work. She gave a very interesting address on missions and the need of missionaries.

Joe Dalzell, the veteran sportsman, returned last night, from Ennisfield. He went there last Tuesday with E. W. Davis, of New Brunswick. They took perfect fastidiousness ever to be met with in matters of the table. Indeed a complete change of diet would be completely abhorrent to anybody and this is equally true of the change of occupation which we call holiday making.

Joe says the close season for partridge has done much good and that they are now very plentiful. He thinks however, that the close season on all birds should be extended to Oct. 1.

The women's foreign missionary society, of St. Stephen's church, held a meeting last evening. Papers were read by Mrs. William Kerr, and Mrs. Jas. Armstrong. An address on missions was given by Mrs. Blackwood of Halifax.

STRONG PLEA FOR RIFLE SHOOTING.

Every Young Man Should be Trained to Shoot Effectively.

Hundreds of millions are being spent each year in the acquisition of ships, armament and the training of the men afloat, also for providing the most up to date equipment for our land forces. The one vital measure of defense that is being ignored here, as it has been in other countries, is the training of our future armies in the use of the rifle, says Shooting and Fishing. The men who are today in our regular army and National Guard organizations are not those who are likely to make up the vast majority of the troops to be put in the field in time of war. Fully 80 per cent. of a volunteer army (and an American army of any size must be a volunteer army), will be made up of men drawn from civil life or taken out of schools and colleges, and yet absolutely nothing is being done to-day to teach such men how to effectively use the piece they will have to use in time of war.
Of our Regular Army only 36,000 men carry rifles to-day and are trained in their use. Any additional men enlisted, in time of war must of necessity, under present conditions, be entirely without training with the piece with which they will be armed.
Turning to our National Guard: While it is true that they can be ordered into service for nine months, as their continued use could not be counted upon, we should be obliged immediately to start the organization of such a volunteer force, as might, under the circumstances, be thought to be necessary. Therefore, as above stated, we must depend upon raw recruits to the extent of upward of 80 per cent., and as volunteers in our armies heretofore have averaged less than twenty-three years of age, it is plain that young men and boys must be taught to shoot when it is possible if we are to have an efficient defensive force.
What is being done today to remedy this most serious defect? Practically nothing. The army officers detailed at the various schools and colleges have taken little or no interest in the rifle practice, in most instances, and where they have sought to better the conditions they have met with either faint help or positive opposition, because rifle
