THE NEPTUNES WILL HAVE BOXING CLASSES.

An Interesting Feature of Local Sport—
The Great Six-Day Race—Batting
Averages—World's Curling Bonspiel
—Turf Notes.

BOXING CLASSES.

The Neptune Rowing Club have practically concluded arrangements to have training in the art of boxing added to their list of winter attractions. It is expected that Jack Power will be the instructor, and that there will be classes two evenings each week.

A member of the club said to the Times that there was great interest in this feature, because many who have no pugilistic ambition would be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity for healthy exercise afforded by these classes. Indeed, the new departure will be the means of adding to the membership of the club.

CYCLING.

Six Day Race.

New York, Dec. 6.—Worn by the exertion of many hour's hard riding, none of the riders in the six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden seemed anxious to get a killing pace and this placed the riders far behind the record established in previous contests. The exciting sprints which marked the earlier stages of the race were almost entirely lacking during the night and early hours to-day.

During the night there was only one spill, Floyd Krebs was thrown by his tire coming off. Keegan of the Boston team, was again in the lead during most of the night. He gave pace almost all the time he was on the track and seemed to be indefatigable, in spite of injuries received yesterday morning, which put him out of the race for a time. At eight o'clock the thirteen leading teams each had 618 miles, and seven laps to their credit. The four other teams in the race were only one lap behind them. The record made in previous contests at the end of the sixty-second hour, is 635 miles, 4 laps.

THE RING.

A Knockout Fight.

Cambridge Mass., Dec. 5.—"Kid" Pantz of Boston knocked out George Phelan of Portland, Maine, in the fourth round of what was scheduled to be a 10 round boxing bout at the Cambridge Athletic Association to-night. In the first and second rounds the men appeared to be evenly matched, but during the third and fourth rounds the Boston boxer forced the fighting. In the middle of the fourth round Pantz landed a swift left hand blow on Phelan's head and the man from Portland went down for the count.

Police Stopped Fight.

Portland, Me. Dec. 5.—The fight tonight between Bartley Connolly of this city and Max Cote of Biddeford culminated in the second round, when exceptions on the part of Cote's friends were taken to an alleged foul blow. A mix up ensued and the police put an end to the exhibition.

CURLING.

International Contest.

One of the most important events in the history of the roaring game is to take place in Switzerland in February next. It is an international curling contest open to the world and will be held under the auspices of the Adelboden Curling club of Adelboden, Canton Berne, Switzerland. An invitation to participate in the contest has been sent to Canadian and American clubs as well as to curlers throughout the British Isles and Europe.

A handsome silver challenge cup has been offered for competition as well as suitable medals for the numbers of the winning rinks. The cup will of course become the property of the club represented by the winning rink, but the medals will be retained by the individual players. The cup practically carries with it the curling championship of the world, and the event should arouse keen interest among the Canadian clubs.

THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Buys Into a Coal Syndicate—Sharp Criticism of American Methods.

In the Prussian Diet last week two days were devoted to an animated debate on the bill appropriating $17,500,000 to take over shares of the Hibernia Coal Company, which the Dresden Bank bought on behalf of the Prussian Government. The bill passed its first reading and was referred to a committee. Herr Moeller, minister of commerce and industry, was subjected to a sharp attack by Von Eynern, one of the National Liberal leaders, who is a member of the Hibernia Coal Company's directorate, for the secretive way in which the purchase of the stock was conducted.

Minister Moeller explains that when the great movement for the consolidation of the iron companies of West Germany was begun he pointed out to Freiherr von Rheinbaben, minister of state and of finance, must act immediately if it ever intended to secure a coal property entitling it to a seat in the coal syndicate, where it could watch developments on behalf of the public interest. The two ministers decided to give a commission to the Dresden Bank to buy the Hibernia Company shares. The ministers deprecated the idea that he was hostile to great consolidations of capital. On the contrary he said, the changed conditions of the age made great organizations necessary. It was only necessary to find the right form of organization and the men to be placed at their head, who would remember that they must act in the public interest, and not in the exclusive interest of capital.

The minister then dipped into the trust question as it exists in the United States and warned Germany against copying the American system. "For several years," he said, "we in Europe were under the spell of those powerful American organizations. We believed the Americans had discovered the philosopher's stone. After time had elapsed and we observed what had become of those trusts, we were in a position to regard them more calmly. We Germans were most dazed by the greatness of the Steel Trust. What shape did matters take with that concern? In order to effect an organization it was compelled to resort to crazy over-capitalization." Minister Moeller, continuing, said the iron works had been capitalized to double, to threefold and finally to tenfold their actual value and that the company is no longer master of the competitive situation in its own country. Its management of prices caused new works to be established, which were better equipped than the older ones and were producing greater amounts by cheaper methods. The Steel Trust, he added, controls at present only 45 per cent of the country's production against 70 or 80 per cent at the start. "Against such
