

REV. MR. LLOYD'S COLONY HAS BEEN GREAT SUCCESS.

Archdeacon MacKay Met Former Rothesay Man at Saskatoon—The Archdeacon Tells of the Days Before There Was Even a Farm Where Minneapolis Now Stands.

The people of St. John remember very well the British colony which landed at this port two winters ago, en route to the northwest, and with whom went the Rev. Mr. Lloyd, formerly of Rothesay. Times' readers will therefore be interested in the following statement made to the Winnipeg Free Press last week by Archdeacon Mackay of Prince Albert, who was in the city en route to England. He said:

"We saw the Rev. Mr. Lloyd, of Lloydminster, at Saskatoon. He had come so far with his daughter on the way to Haverall college, but could not spare the time to come down to the city. The colony has been a great and unqualified success. The country which they have secured is one of the greatest fertility and the progress made is very satisfactory. A part of the seed wheat which was delivered in the colony last spring was of poor quality and was unfortunately also delivered late. No one was apparently to blame for the late delivery of the grain, which might be occasioned by a circumstance quite unforeseen. The failure of a freighter would delay an entire shipment. The good wheat which reached the colony early matured before the frost, and was secured in excellent condition. The railway will be built right through the district, affording transportation for all products. The town of Lloydminster is very prosperous, with large stores and a most successful and enterprising class of citizens. The grading on the railway has been done on both sides of the river up to the river bank. The place of crossing has not yet been determined, and the citizens of Battleford are still anxiously awaiting the outcome. The proposed crossing is eight miles above the town."

Archdeacon MacKay, who has been for the long period of forty-one years a missionary to the Indians in the Prince Albert country, arrived in Winnipeg last week, accompanied by Miss MacKay. He is on his way to England, where he will assist in seeing through the Press the translation of the Old Testament into Cree. During the visit which he made to England last year he did similar work on the New Testament, which is now being done in the tongue of the Cree. "When we came first to the west in 1860," said the archdeacon to the Free Press, "the railway ended at La Crosse, Wisconsin, and on the site of the present city of Minneapolis there was not even a farm. It was the unadulterated wilderness, untouched by human hands. There was a little village of St. Anthony, from which we took our departure for the West. We came up by stage and steamer, as was the custom in those days, no one dreaming that the railway could ever be built up north of St. Paul. It is now built all through the Indian country at Prince Albert, but if anyone had suggested in 1860 that the time would come when a railway would be built even to Winnipeg, he would have been considered a madman."

JOHN FRANCIS GILDER REMEMBERS JENNY LIND.

The Composer Talks with the Times About Famous World Artists He Has Known—A Friend of Gottschalk.

John Francis Gilder, the composer, was born in Philadelphia, but has lived for a long time in New York. He also lived for a number of years in Boston.

Among his early experiences he mentions having heard Jenny Lind at a concert in Castle Garden, New York, in 1851; and his recollection of her voice and execution is more vivid than of other great singers he has since heard.

Jenny Lind's first concert in New York drew a twenty thousand dollar house, and her share of the receipts amounted to ten thousand dollars; every cent of which she devoted to public charities.

Mr. Gilder attended a number of Thalberg's concerts in New York, at one of which he had the privilege of hearing this great pianist play a duet with Gottschalk.

Mr. Gilder has performed at concerts in conjunction with many of the greatest artists that ever lived. He was associated with Madam Anna Bishop, one of the world's most renowned sopranos. Madam Bishop was born in 1810; and made concert tours all over the world. Mr. Gilder performed at a concert in conjunction with this great singer at Music Hall, Boston, when she was seventy-one years of age. He was pianist of her concert company on her farewell tour across the continent of America; which was remarkably successful. The tour ended in San Francisco, where he remained and gave forty-two concerts, including a series of popular concerts once a week for thirty-seven weeks. At his thirty-first concert, King Kalanika of the Sandwich Islands was present.

Mr. Gilder remembers, when very young, having shaken hands with Henry Clay, Kossuth, and later on with General Grant, General Sheridan, Rubenstein, and the celebrated pianist Gottschalk. He became a personal friend of the latter, and absorbed great inspiration from having repeatedly heard his superb performances, and has since made a specialty of his compositions. Gottschalk always spoke of Mr. Gilder's style of rendering his compositions in the most complimentary language.

Mr. Gilder also performed at Madam Paropa Rosa's concerts; and relates the following incident which occurred during her visit to Philadelphia—One night, during the production of "Martha," the celebrated prima donna was presented with a magnificent bouquet. She knew that her accompanist was very fond of flowers, and turning to him she said: "Mr. Gilder, I know what you are thinking about."

"You do? Tell me what it is?"

"You want one of these rose buds."

"You are right, madam," said the pianist, "I do want one of those rose buds."

Madam Paropa Rosa selected the choicest bud and placed it in Mr. Gilder's hand with the words: "Allow me to present you with the last rose of summer."

Mr. Gilder values the gift very highly and has it pressed between the leaves of his Bible.

He will probably remain but a few days in St. John, as he has offers for recitals in Boston and New York. He is the only pianist introducing the famous disc records of the world's greatest singers. He accompanies the machine with marvelous accuracy, which adds much to the effect. Among his records are reproductions from the Pope's chair, and from Madam Susanne Adams, and other noted artists.

Mr. Gilder plays the piano entirely from the fingers, never using the wrist. His touch is much more brilliant and powerful today than in earlier years.

WILL NOT ADMIT WORLD IS ROUND.

Ohio Colony Seek New Homes Rather Than Believe Geographical Truths.

Hiram, Ohio, Oct. 9.—The wealthy Amish colony here will sell their valuable farms and move away because of the outcome of a trial of one of their number, arraigned for his refusal to send his children to the public schools. ... The Amish people will not admit that the earth is round and for that reason object to their children studying geography as it is taught in the public schools. They have established schools of their own in which reading, arithmetic and writing only are taught.

The colony own the finest farms in the state, live simply and, in accordance with their belief in non-resistance, are paying their fines in the cases which were brought against them.

The Prosecuting Attorney called in the elders and explained to them that they must send their children to the credited schools, and they replied that they would move away rather than have trouble.

York Theatre.

A great show is at this popular play house this week, and a good business is predicted. Adgie, and her celebrated Lion act heads the list. The darning of this artist is marvelous, and she offers to take any one into the Den with her, that would care to make the venture.

Orville and Frank the celebrated acrobatic artists, are headliners on any bill. Their dexterous manipulations are truly astounding. O'Brien and West, the happy Irish jesters, are a pair of the sort, that never fails to put you in the best of humor and their act is a laughing hit.

Stirk and Lou Dan, are ahead of any artists in their line, their act consists of cycle barrel jumping and acrobatic feats, and was a feature at Brockton Mass. Fair last week. Conlon and Hastings are clear cut comedy dispensers, and will please everybody. Mae Russell monologist, is delightful in her line. Castellat and Hall, who were one of the best bits last week, will present a new comedy sketch, entitled The Arrival of the Milk Train.

This is a bill that should draw the people.

A matinee will be given every afternoon except Monday. While this is a big show, the management has decided to keep the prices as heretofore.

Morning News in Brief.

Many nations were represented at the Seaman's Mission services in the old Chipman house last night. In the audience, were English, Italian, and Norwegians, and they were addressed in each language. S. A. Gorbell occupied the chair, and Rev. Charles Comben conducted the first part of the services. The singing was led by E. Morton Smith, and during the evening, he, J. N. Rogers, and Mr. Player sang solos. Brotto Alessandri, captain of the Italian ship Stardegener, addressed his country men, and Captain Olsner, of the Norwegian bark Mion, gave a five minute talk to his compatriots.

Harry McClaskey, sang, yesterday as the principal tenor soloist at Victor Herbert's sacred concert, New York. These concerts are of the highest class, and the engagement of Mr. McClaskey for so important a position is a proof of the high place he has taken among musical artists of America.

Conductor Peter Lefebure has had his stock of personal jewellery augmented by a handsome pair of diamonds and gold cuff links. The links were presented to Mr. Lefebure by the St. John guests at the Pugsley banquet as an appreciation of the fatherly care he showed on the journey to and from Caledonia Springs on his train.

Harry McFarlane shot a large bear at Millstream, which dressed 107 pounds. The carcass was sold to O'Neil Bros., of the Market. Mr. McFarlane will leave the skin tanned, and keep it as a trophy. The paws were sold to a Chinese merchant, who regards them as a great delicacy.

Lloyd Estey, one of the Trinity quarter back, in the game of football, Saturday between the Neptunes and Trinity teams, had the misfortune to break his leg in a mix-up. He was taken to his home in the ambulance.

KING PETER ANNOINTED.

Servian Monarch Received "the Seal of the Holy Ghost" With Due Ceremonial Yesterday.

Zicha, Servia, Oct. 10.—The anointing of King Peter, was performed here with great ceremony, yesterday morning. At 9 o'clock, amid the pealing of bells, the king, in full robes, proceeded to church, where the Metropolitan innocent, attended by an array of bishops and clergy, celebrated high mass. The king, being then formally invited to anointment, by the bishops, laid aside his crown, regalia and sword and proceeded to the ikonostas, where he took up his position on a gold embroidered carpet, and where the metropolitan, taking an ampulla containing the holy Chrism in one hand and the anointing rod in the other, touched his Majesty with the rod on the forehead, nostrils, mouth, chest and palms of the hands, making each time the sign of the cross and saying: "The seal of the grace of the Holy Ghost."

The king was then conducted to the altar and partook of the communion afterwards returning to the throne where he resumed his royal robes.

The metropolitan then invoked God's blessing and the ceremony terminated with the singing of an an-

Acadia college reopened Wednesday last. Sixty new students have already been registered. The freshman class is unusually large, and quite a number have entered as special students. This with the still greater increase at Acadia Seminary and Horton Academy marks this year as the most successful in the history of the Wolfville institutions. The formal opening was held at College hall, on Friday evening, and was attended by the students of all three institutions, as well as a large number of the townfolk. The evening was occupied with a lecture by Rev. A. W. Sawyer D. D., LL. D., formerly president of the college, now professor of psychology and meta-physics, followed by important remarks and announcements by President Trotter.

But for the timely assistance of the police, John Murphy, who, on Saturday night fell from Magee's wharf, would probably have lost his life. The wharf has been undergoing repairs, and Murphy wandered there about midnight. He missed his footing and fell fifteen feet into the water. Sergeant Campbell, and Officer Thorne heard his cries, and rescued him from his perilous position.

John Reynolds, who was on the special police staff, here, during the exhibition, was robbed while in Halifax last week and returned to this city Saturday night. Reynolds was about to sail from Halifax, for his home in England. He was attacked on the street by two men who beat and robbed him. He notified the Halifax police, and was obliged to give up his trip to England.
