

ITALY ANGRY.

Troops Protect Austrian Embassy in Rome.

A PROTEST.

The Innsbruck Affair Leads to a Great Patriotic Demonstration in the Eternal City.

Rome, Nov. 19.—An impressive meeting to protect against the Innsbruck affair was held last evening at the Quirino theatre.

Among the notable people on the stage were Bjornstjerne Bjornson and his wife, whose appearance was greeted with tremendous applause.

The theatre could accommodate only a small part of the crowd that sought admittance, and the police were unable to keep in order the thousands that besieged the entrance.

The troops were called into service, and after considerable difficulty succeeded in clearing the streets in the vicinity of the theatre, after which cordons were established at the streets leading to the theatre.

The meeting was opened by Professor Sighel, president of the club of former residents of Trieste and Trieste now living in Rome.

All the speakers called upon the people of Rome to make a solemn and dignified protest, worthy of a civilized people jealous of their rights against the killing and maltreatment of fellow Italians whose only offence was that they stood for their race in history, nationality and culture.

After the meeting the crowd, as if in obedience to a command, made a rush for the Austrian Embassy and consulate, situated in the Piazza Colonna, in the centre of Rome, to make a demonstration there.

In anticipation of last evening's meeting the flags throughout the city today were hoisted at half mast.

ROUGH HOUSE IN HUNGARY.

Members of Parliament Throw Seats and Ink Pots at Each Other.

Budapest, Hungary, Nov. 18.—The lower house of the Hungarian parliament today passed Premier Tisza's motion altering for a year the standing order of the house so as to allow afternoon sittings from 4 to 9 in addition to the ordinary morning sessions, with the object of overcoming obstruction and expediting public business.

The session lasted until 10 o'clock at night with evidences of rising temper. Then Premier Tisza, in a speech dealing with obstruction, declared there was no choice between abandoning the Nation to its fate or putting an end to this comedy.

President of the Chamber De Perzel, in the midst of increasing disorder, then tried to put to a vote the motion dealing with obstruction, but was met with howls of derision and screams of passionate protestation.

Deputy Rakosi handed the president a paper demanding that the sitting be closed, and on the refusal of the president to accept the paper, Rakosi presented him with a pair of scissors.

Many members scurried to President De Perzel's assistance. Seats, books and inkpots were hurled at Perzel and insulting epithets were freely employed. The opposing parties were hardly prevented from indulging in fistuffs.

Finally the president read the royal rescript proroguing the house and the sitting closed with scenes of the wildest excitement.
