ANOTHER BIG ONE IS ASHORE.

John E. Moore Has Word that Schooner Annie M. Allan is Wrecked.

Word was received this morning by John E. Moore, that the American schooner Annie M. Allan, Captain Reicker, had dragged ashore at Gloucester, during Thursday night's storm and is a total loss.

The Allan was on the voyage from Hillsboro N. B. to Newark, New Jersey, with a cargo of plaster rock. No further particulars were received and it is presumed that the crew were saved. The Annie M. Allan was a very large schooner and registered 125 tons. For some years she sailed out of this port.

During Thursday a fifty mile gale blew all day. The wreck of the John C. Smith on Chatham beach broke up during the gale and portions of the hull and cargo of laths came ashore. The schooner Ada G. Shortland, bound from Augusta, Me. to New York, spilled her deck load of laths all the way from Chatham to Cross Rip lightship. The schooner reached Vineyard Haven apparently full of water. The tide made deep breeches into Cape Cod, and washed away a life saver's watch house on Monomoy beach. Beaches in Plymouth bay were also badly washed and several shanties wrecked. In the northern portion of New England the rain turned to snow and sleet, winter conditions prevailing as far south as Nashua.

WARM WELCOME FOR EVA BOOTH.

Salvationists in Force at Depot to Greet Beloved Commander--She is Pleased to Be Here, but Sorry it Means Farewell.

This is a gala day among the Salvationists in this and the surrounding places, the occasion being the arrival of Commissioner Eva Booth, the fourth daughter of General Booth, the founder of the army. Commissioner Booth's coming is characterized by joy mingled with sadness; joy to see her once again and hear her kind words of counsel, and sadness to know that it is her farewell visit as she is soon to sever her connection with the Canadian forces after nearly nine years of energetic and active work which bore great fruit in the advancement and progress of the religious doctrines which they teach.

Commissioner Booth is no stranger to St. John. She has been here on two previous occasions and like everywhere else that she has visited throughout Canada, she has won a warm place in the hearts of not only her followers but the public generally who never fail to appreciate unostentatiousness, piety and fervor of which this lady is the exponent. A grand welcome.

Consequently when she arrived on the C. P. R. express this morning, there was a very large crowd present at the I. C. R. station. The approach of the train was heralded by the Glace Bay C. B. S. Army brass band which played a selection. As the train slowed up the first to alight was Col. Sharp in charge of the forces in the Eastern province. He had met the party at McAdam. He was followed by Staff Capt. Page, private secretary to the commissioner, Lieut. Col. Pugmire and Col. Jacobs.

The appearance of the Commissioner was the signal for enthusiastic cheering and the promiscuous fluttering of kerchiefs. The Commissioner returned the sign of welcome by waving her handkerchief and bowing to the crowd. Accompanied by Col. Sharp, she was escorted through the station to a cab in waiting and driven to the White House on Pitt St., where she will be the guest of Col. Sharp during her stay here.

Commissioner Booth's friends were greatly pleased to see her looking so well. She is enjoying the best of health, notwithstanding the arduous daily duties of her life, and the great trial through which she recently went. Since coming to Canada, Miss Booth has been constantly at work, not only officially, but in doing charitable and religious work among the unfortunates in the cities and towns which she has visited. With her, said a salvationist this morning, goes light and hope and any place that she has visited, no matter how degraded its people has felt, a certain power for good.

Miss Booth is easy of approach, a pleasing conversationalist and always ready with a good word of cheer.

Pleased to Be Here.

She has been associated with the forces of Canada for such a long time, and has made so many staunch friends among her subordinate officers.

FAMILY OF SEVEN CAN FEED WELL ON THIRTY-FIVE CENTS.

Of Course This Won't Buy Terrapin or Cover the Wine But it Will Provide a Wholesome Meal---Mrs. Hall Talks on Household Economy.

"Much of the misery and distress with which the Associated Charities have to deal is due to bad management rather than lack of funds. Many families on my visiting list are really suffering for want of food, simply because they do not know how or what to buy."

The above statement was made to the Times today by Mrs. Hall, secretary of the Associated Charities in the course of a conversation on the association's work and the prospects of its help being often asked for, this winter, by St. John's poor.

Continuing she said: "A plentiful meal of good, nourishing food for a family of seven may be had for less than thirty-five cents," and in support of this she gave the following menu:

- "A shin of beef, or some meat 08
- "Clippings 08
- "A loaf of bread, (two days) 04
- "A pint of milk 03
- "Mixed vegetables 03
- "Tea 02
- "Sugar 05
- "Butter" 06

"I have seen this tried time and again," said she "and I am sure there is practically no need of starving."

As to the prospects for this winter's work she said:

DEATHS OF THE WEEK.

There were fourteen deaths in the city, during the week from the following causes: Pneumonia, 2; and one each from old age, drowning, asthma, consumption, typhoid fever, marasmus, diphtheria, endocarditis, cholera infantum, cancer of stomach, chronic alcoholism and heart disease.

and the rank and file of the army, that she says it is with regret that she finds that she has to sever her connection with the colony. The commissioner is very much pleased to again have the opportunity of visiting St. John, where she says a grand work has been accomplished by the army.

In Col. Sharp, Major Phillips and the other officers, the army here have a most competent staff. The army in this city had its ups and downs for many years, but now it is on a good, sound basis, doing effective work, and gradually extending its branches. The coming of Commissioner Booth will prove an additional stimulus.

Miss Booth since assuming charge in Canada has seen the ranks grow large in all parts, has increased the army's property by hundreds of thousands of dollars, has opened up the work in the Yukon, among the Indians along the Skeena river, in Alaska and elsewhere; has established a social farm near Toronto, enlarged greatly the rescue work among the fallen, and seen homes for the unfortunate rise here and there throughout the dominion. Even now a $20,000 rescue home and maternity hospital is being erected in Winnipeg. She has opened up immigration business and a servant girls' employment branch, spread the prison work, in fact along all lines she has ably led the army along in its work of good.

Winter Overcoats.

THE 20th CENTURY SORT.

If you were to ask us why our garments were entitled to the special consideration of men in general, we would say on account of their fit, style and service. Every garment is cut and fashioned individually. Every yard of fabric has been thoroughly shrunk before its employment. Every phase of making has been at the hands of tailor-men who, by their ability and experience, have stamped themselves as masters of their craft.

Probably we sell more fine clothing for men than any other store in town--clothing of aristocratic style; out of the common sort; exclusive. That's a knowable fact. Every season's turn brings back men who have learned how superior Our Clothing is to ordinary ready-made and custom tailoring; how close it comes to the product of the best tailors--at a much lower price.

We want you to buy your Winter Overcoat here, and after a winter's wear, see how well it wears and keeps its shape.

We think if you once come here we can keep your trade.

See our specials at $10.00, $12.00, $13.50, $15.00 and $16.00.
