

during the last few years, and will by reason of the existing and proposed railway extension necessarily be greatly augmented in the future...

REPLY OF MR. KYLE. Mr. Barron.—I was not a little surprised to see a letter in your issue signed "P. Nevins," in which an indirectly charged with causing the death of his son...

METHODIST CONVENTION. FREDERICK DISTRICT. A Convention of Ministers and Laymen connected with the Methodist District was held in the Methodist Church, Frederick, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 6th and 7th February.

work of saving souls depended upon ourselves, and when in the pulpit, preach as if all depended on Divine assistance. Then resolution was made to the various gifts and talents, and of all these, to be consecrated to God, to be used for the promotion of His glory.

PROVINCIAL FARMERS' LEAGUE. The annual meeting of the Prov. Farmers' League commenced at Hampton on Tuesday last. There was a unusually large number of delegates from the County Leagues present...

them what we wanted how were we to expect them to grant our requests? If we want statistics let us ask for them. Mr. O. E. Flewelling thought the present mode of obtaining statistics was wrong. He said he had received a short time ago a letter from Mr. Inghes, in which it was stated that his statistics were furnished by the Secretary of the Society...

The Legislature was opened with the usual formalities. The following was the SPEECH: "Mr. President, and Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council, "Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly, NEWS BY TELEGRAPH. The Dunken law in Lambton County has been passed in the Legislature. The case filed for the 15th inst. at Halifax has been postponed until the afternoon of the 15th March, on account of the Supreme Court being engaged in business of public importance which will require their attention until after that date.

Correspondence. For the Colonial Farmer. Mr. Editor.—When I began these letters I thought that they would be completed before the Legislature met. As the Legislature has not yet met, and I have no desire to come in contact with that gentleman, who wears a sword. Moreover, as I have no confidence in the Legislature, and as I have no confidence in the Legislature, and as I have no confidence in the Legislature...

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

On Monday morning, the 20th inst., the Rev. N. Parker, was assigned the duty of delivering a sermon on "The Office and Work of the Holy Spirit," at the evening Session, but being unable to attend the Convention, owing to general duties, the Rev. W. Weddall was requested to deliver an address on the subject at the time appointed. It was also decided that the evening service should be held each day, viz: From 9:30 a. m., to 12 noon; 2 to 5 p. m., and at 7 o'clock p. m.

The Rev. N. Parker, was assigned the duty of delivering a sermon on "The Office and Work of the Holy Spirit," at the evening Session, but being unable to attend the Convention, owing to general duties, the Rev. W. Weddall was requested to deliver an address on the subject at the time appointed. It was also decided that the evening service should be held each day, viz: From 9:30 a. m., to 12 noon; 2 to 5 p. m., and at 7 o'clock p. m.

After the election a vote of thanks was passed to each of the retiring Officers, which brought forth a series of appropriate and pleasing remarks from them. The League then adjourned until the following morning. WEDNESDAY'S SESSION. The League met this morning at 10:30; all the delegates present. Minutes of preceding meeting read and approved.

Mr. Sharp of Westmoreland, offered the following Resolution: "Resolved, That we do not believe that the interests of the Province are increased by the farmers in this Province to be in possession of the land for the purpose of growing crops, the Province that may be reliable, therefore resolved, That this Provincial League support the County Leagues to report the prospect of the crops in the several parishes of the Province to the Secretary of the Provincial League."

The Municipal Corporations already established in some of the Counties having been found to work satisfactorily, and largely to enjoy the benefits of the Municipal Councils, I would ask you to consider whether the system might not with advantage be extended to other Counties of the Province. "Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly, "I have given notice that the Accounts of the Receipts and the Expenditure of the Province for the year ending on the 31st of December, 1875, will be laid before you on the 27th inst. I trust that you will find that the Estimates of Expenditure for the current year have been prepared with as strict regard to economy as is consistent with the requirements of the Public Service."

The business portion of Stantons, Vt., was held Friday. The amount of a lecture by Ann Eliza Young, wife of Brigham, had the effect to draw to the Opera House last evening an audience of very generous proportions, about equally made up of ladies and gentlemen. Mrs. Young made a very favorably impression upon her audience at the outset. Her personal appearance and easy manner carried the conviction that she is a lady of culture and refined tastes. She proceeded in a clear, musical voice to relate the history of her life, which has been a life of suffering and trial. For more than an hour her hearers manifested their interest by an absorbing attention to every uttered sentence, giving applause at short intervals. To nearly every one present the insight into the wife of Brigham and the terrible revelation of the abomination of the nineteenth century. While she read the letter written to her mother after she had severed her connection with Brigham and the church, many eyes were suffused with tears. Mrs. Ann Eliza Young will lecture in Fredericton, February 23rd.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

THE COLONIAL FARMER.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.

At the risk of being called upon to appear at the bar of the Legislature, I am compelled to speak of the other representatives from Northumberland. Mr. Tweedie is a young—a very young man—to represent a large constituency. He has no political experience, and he is a man of no ability. He came to the House on Kelly's ticket, and should have supported the Government, but did not. As a young man who hoped to make his mark in the Legislature, he has not done so.