BY JOHN WHITTIER.

Out from Jerusalem The King rode with his great War chiefs and lords of state. And Sheba's Queen with them. Proud in the Syrian sun.

In gold and purple sheen The dusky Ethiop Queen Smiled on King Solomon. Wisest of men, he knew

The languages of all

The creatures, great or small, That trod the earth or flew. Across an ant-hill led The King's path, and he heard Its small folk, and their word

He thus interpreted: "Here comes the King men greet As wise and good and just, To crush us in the dust,

Under his heedless feet. The great King howed his head, And saw the wide surprise Of the Queen of Sheba's eyes, As he told her what they said.

"O King !" she whispered sweet, "Too happy fate have they Who perish in thy way Beneath thy gracious feet!"

"Nay," Solomon replied, "The wise and strong should seek The welfare of the weak." And turned his horse aside.

His train, with quick alarm, Curved with their leader round The ant hill's peopled mound, And left it free from harm. The jewled head bent low "O King!" she said. " henceforth

And wisdom well I know. "Happy must be the state Whose ruler heedeth more The murmur of the poor Than flatteries of the great.

Select Story,

MY CREOLE COUSIN

am a stranger in England. In every other country in the world I call lone!iness and touch-me-if-you-dareishness of my fathers, in which I had the honor to make my first appearance some twelve months ago.

I have often noticed that it is an article of religion with colonists to instil, double grained, into their chi dren the principles and prejudices of the mother country Aware that the fosterhood of nationa to moul the character of their offspring into due pragmaticality, they exaggerate a little on certain points to leave room for evaporation. The great glory of my excellent parents was to enlarge upon the distinction of their mother country in the eyes of the universe as the Land of Liberty! British freedom was the favorite text of my father's domestic preachment: and almost as soon as I could squ.ll ! learned to expand my lungs in the burden of the song, that Britons never would be slaves. As if anydody dreamed of asking them!

The liberty of the subject, in short appeared to my boyish imagination as exclusively an English enjoyment as roast beef and plumbi pudding. The inhab itants of other European countries scemed to be walking about in handcuffs or strait waist-coats, unsuspicious of their enthral ment. The contented prosperity of Austria I regarded as litt e better than idiocy; Russia, trembling under the knot of autogracy, was a craven hound; Turkey, a corps from which in imperial vampire had sucked the blood; Spain plantation nigger arrayed in a suit of gady calico, begui.ing its sense of abatement by dancing to a tom-tom France, the sprucely liveried and educated slave, who has (like those of New York learned to wait at table and play on the fiddle. But, from Spitzbergen to Cape Matapan, not a living body in Europe that could call its soul its own, saving always the favored inhabitants of the glorious British Empire. With this sentiment pervading my whole being, I behaved with suitable 'arrogance toward the offsets of less favored prodigies. In the land of liberty people nations. Long before I had tails to my jackets I knew the full value of being an frock-coats and plaid trousers. Englishman, and brought forward the boast whenever I fancied myself put opera," said I, "suppose we take our upon, as a policeman brandishe; his life chance of finding Lady R. at home this preserver.

My delight, therefore, may certainly be conjectured when I set foot last year mad to go to her house without an invitaupon the godlike land that has the gift | tion. of enfrandhising all who approach its favored shore.

Hurrah for the land of liberty! cried the sailors the moment we saw the Need lcs, and as heartily did I join in their cheering, as though I had been languish. ing all my life under the tyranny of a it but to go home to bedpasha. I fancied that now, for the first time since I was born, I was going to en much he had startled and vexed me, joy the free use of my limbs and facul that my worthy relative called on me a ties, and on landing began instantly to few mornings afterwards with the news extend them, with a vain consciousness that Lady R. was desirous ta make my of delight that proved highly entertain acquaintances, and that he had procured ing to some little boys who were iding me a ticket for Almack's that very evenon the quay. They uttered, indeed, a ing from one of the patronesses with variety of odd sounds, which I mistook whom he was intimate to facilitate the for Hebrew, knowing that Jews abound introduction, because, having called at in the mother country, but which I have her house without finding her, "it would since learned to constitute the cockney look odd" if I went again.

Next morning the kinsman who breakfasted with me undertook to introduce me to the metropolis and install me in black but your neckeloth, and you will do lodgings. My baggage being still at the custom-house, I had to apologize to Mr. W. for any informality in my toilet But when we were about to sally forth ! saw him look aghast, and after much hemming and having he informed me that it was out of the question to make my appearence in a traveling cap.

"My hat-box is with the rest of my baggage," said I, "and being a total Watches, Watches, Rich Jewellry stranger here no one will notice me."

But even at the hatter's I found I had a lesson of exigencies of a hotter climate, I chose a lat Saint Mary's Ferry. A large honority broad-brimmed beaver, which my companion asserted to be as much out of the question as the cap.

"You would be taken for a Quaker! None but a very o'd man could venture in such a hat in England.

Mistaking reverse of wrong for right I now selected a very narrow brim, and again stood corrected. At length the exact longitude and latitude admissible under the tyranies of fashion being adjusted, I cocked my paragon of a hat over one eye in triumph, and was leaving the shop, when my cousin entreated me in a fervent and kinsmanly tone to set it straight. I should be taken for a very ordinary source of colonial conso'ation. As I might not take my ease (in tne shape of my cigar) in mine inn, I might at least take it in the street. But on producing my cigar-case W. again interfered.

"You are now," said he, "in Pall would be considered most ungentlemanly."

All that remained for me was to pocket the affront and the cigar case!

A moment afterwards, as I endeavored to detain him that I might admire a display or forced fruit in a shop window, such as I had never expected to see under the skies of the land of liberty, he begged me to pass on. We should be taken for snobs if we stared into the shop windows As a balm to my galled sides I proposed calling upon a mutual relative residing at the West End, to whom I was deairous of being presented. "It is only twelve o'c'ock!" p'eaded my cousin.

"And will not the family be up that hour ?"

"Up? Oh. yes. They are early risers. But it is too soon for a morning visit. It is not the custom in London to go out till after two o'clock, and visitors are consequently not expected earlier." "But if every one goes out at the ame time you have no hope of ever finding your friend at home."

"Very true. But you must take your chance. Be ieve me, it would be thought monstrous to pay a morning visit to Lady R. at this time of day." My attention was drawn from the lecmyself an Inglishman; being born ture by the sight of a most beautiful of British parents, in a British colony, woman, who passed in a carriage. And speaking no other language (a strong I supsose my enthusiasm was somewhat evidence of English extraction, and ejaculated; for Mr. W. implored me to The Science of Life; possessing the usual reserve, awkwardness moderate my transports. the bowels surely and without pain. Although gentle in their operation, they are still the most thorough and tic medicine that can be employed: cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health. AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every-body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing from the elements of weakness. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take; while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
