—Miss Addie B. Jump will give an entertainment in the New Hall, Hillsboro, on Monday evening, Sept. 3rd. Don't fail to come and see the CHRONOTAXINOLETIX the greatest invention of the age, creation's eighth wonder, the great time and death annihilator. Also the beautiful flower drill given by sixteen young girls, and last but not least, the Star drill by twelve little girls. There will also be two readings by Miss Addie Jump. For further particulars see posters.

—On last Saturday forenoon Deacon Dawson Seceves, of Edgett's Landing, one of the oldest inhabitants of Hillsboro, passed away very suddenly at the advanced age of eighty-five years. Mr. Seceves up to the day of his death was in good health and those passing on the day before, saw him sitting at his door, and passed the usual salutations with him. When a young man he united with the 1st Hillsborough Baptist church. At the time of the organization of the Valley church, he was chosen as one of the deacons, which office he filled with ability and christian faithfulness. Owing to advanced age and weakness, in later years he could not attend church as formerly. Meetings were held at his house which he enjoyed very much. He lived a consistent christian life and died happy, realizing that he was going home to God. Seven children survive him.

Pleasant Vale.

Mrs. Melburn Colpitts, of Campbell, Mass. is visiting relatives at the Vale.

Miss Etta Gifford is home from Boston spending her vacation with her mother and mother.

Mrs. T. A. Colpitts, formerly of this place, now from Boston, paid a flying visit to the Vale last week.

Misses Ullala and Eva Colpitts, of this village, have been to Salisbury visiting their sister Mrs. Hanford R. Collier.

Prof. J. Herschell Smith and wife are traveling through this section of the county, giving their amusing entertainments. The prof. speaks in glowing terms of the magnificent reception and liberal patronage he receives from all classes.

To Mr. Robert Steeves, one of our neighbors, a serious accident happened last week. While fixing a scythe he accidentally fell on it inflicting a terrible gash right under his knee cap. It is feared he may lose his leg, if not his life. Dr. D. D. McDonald, of Petitediac, is attending him.

Plotters Publicly Whipped. TANGIER, Aug. 25.—Haj Amami, ex-Grand Vizier, Mohammed Soreir, ex-minister of war, and two court officials were flogged last Saturday in the street of Mequines because they plotted to kill the Sultan. Every prisoner was stripped naked and laid on a donkey back to receive his punishment. All were thrust into dungeons at Majador the next day. There is much surprise because the plotters were not executed. The Sultan's mother who is said to be the virtual sovereign is supposed to have interceded for them.

Hopewell Cape.

Miss Jennie Milton is visiting Mrs. Capt. Burns.

Miss Lizzie Bishop of Dorchester is visiting friends here.

Mr. Abram Bray has returned from St. John.

The flag on the end of the government pier no longer waves; and the hardy and industrious fishermen may now pursue their avocation in their usual legal manner, without fear of molestation by the legal authorities.

Rev. Mr. Hughes preached in the Baptist church here on Sunday morning, and on Sunday evening preached the funeral sermon of the late Mr. McLane of Albert. The funeral took place in the afternoon at the Hopewell Cemetery, Hopewell Hill.

Rev. Mr. Frame, Presbyterian, preached in the hall Sunday evening, announced that Rev. James Ross would preach in the Presbyterian church at Riverside, in a week from that day and dispense the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Mr. Thomas Ross, our popular mail contractor has purchased a new and commodious wagon for the better accommodation of his patrons on the stage line between the Cape and Hillsboro. The service is now highly spoken of and Mr. Ross' efforts to give satisfaction are appreciated.

Parish Court Commissioner Wright, has issued a summons. In the case of Thomas Ross vs. John F. McLatchey, and a very interesting trial may be expected. It is all about an old horse which each claims to own, and neither will allow the other's claim. Each party will probably spend the price of the nag and the lawyers will scoop. Steadman for plaintiff, Dickson for defendant.

David Grant, barrister, of Moncton, obtained a habeas corpus order in the case of the Queen vs. John D. Melvin, returnable before Mr. Justice Hanington in the council chamber at Moncton on Tuesday the 28th inst. Goalkeeper Porter has returned a copy of the warrant and the circumstances of the detention in obedience to the order. The clerk of the peace will probably appear for the crown and Justices Bray and McLatchey.

In the Probate Court on Tuesday a hearing on citation to sell land in the estate of Josiah and Daniel Tingley was had. Preliminary objections to petition having been made by Messrs. Teed and Peck on behalf of certain creditors and others, the matter was dismissed. The lawyers were all happy; all got the costs of the day out of the estate, and another hearing will take place in the near future with more costs out of the estates. Dickson for Exor. and Admr. respectively.

On Friday and Saturday last Scott Act cases, were before Justices Pipes and Jones at Albert. On Friday Mrs. Enos Downing was fined $50 and costs. The case went by default, no one appearing to defend. On Saturday Chas. N. O'Regan was charged and at the conclusion of the evidence for the prosecution a settlement was made by which Mr. O'Regan was to pay $30 and go out of the business. Mr. Grant, defended and Mr. Trueman prosecuted. A vigorous campaign against the liquor dealers in the lower part of the county has been opened.

Personal.

Miss A. Goldart is visiting Mrs. M. Somers, Moncton.

Dr. R. C. Weldon, M. P., and wife were in town on Thursday.

R. Rowe, superintendent for the Maritime Provinces, of the Great West Life Insurance Co., of Winnipeg, and J. E. B. McCready, of the Sun Life Insurance Co., are in town.

Death of Coroner McLane.

"Mr. McLane is dead" were the words that fell on our ears as the shades of evening were gathering over the town of Albert last Friday. The said news quickly spread and a gloom seemed to settle on the community. Although it was announced at noon that he was dying, many friends, still hoped that his strong robust constitution would yet overcome the disease, but their hopes were fruitless, and at the early age of 52 he passed to rest after a short illness.

Charles A. McLane was born in Auslow, N. S., on the 31st of August 1842, where he learned the blacksmith trade with his father. In 1862 he came to Albert (then Hopewell Corner) a youth of 20 and after working some time with Henry Colpitts at the same trade, bought out the business on his own account, which for many years he successfully carried on until after being injured he sold out. Shortly after he joined his son A. H. under the firm name of A. H. McLane & Co., and carried on until his death an extensive general mercantile business. He was also a member of the firm of Tingley, McLane & Co., of the well known Albert Nurseries, and chief promoter and member of the Kingsley Boiler Works Co., of St. John, N. B. He was a staunch temperance man, ever ready with his voice and purse to advance the noble cause he loved so well. He was a man of strong convictions and good common sense, which with his bright, genial manner brought him to the front and for years he filled positions of trust having been a member of the school board and at his death a Coroner of the county, trustee of the Albert Baptist Church, trustee of Oulton Hall, treasurer of Hopewell Cemetery Co., and charter member of Hopewell Lodge I. O. G. T. He was also chairman of the Liberal Conservative Association and gave the party an effective support, not on account of membership, but because of his conviction that its policy was the best for the interests of his country. A natural leader, yet plain and unassuming, essentially a man of the people with whom he kept in touch and in whose welfare he ever took a deep interest. As Rev. B. N. Hughes in his funeral sermon well said, "he was one of nature's noblemen." He married a daughter of the venerable deacon Agreen Tingley, who with one daughter, Miss Hallie, and two sons Aubrey H. and Rev. C. I. survive him, as well as his aged mother, two sisters Mrs. Kingsley of St. John, Mrs. Bergman of Boston and one brother Jared of North Reading, Mass.

In his happy home he dispensed a generous hospitality to the poor, unfortunate and suffering, as well as to his friends. He contributed largely to the erection and support of the Albert Baptist Church of which he was a member and regular attendant, and in the choir of which his fine tenor voice was always heard. Foremost in every good work Albert could ill spare such a man. On Sabbath afternoon every class and creed gathered to pay respect to his memory and the large number that followed his remains to their resting place in the New Hopewell Cemetery which he had done so much to organize showed the universal esteem in which he was held. A review of almost a quarter of a century of close personal friendship recalls to mind the many kind acts, the excellent traits of character, the generous, unselfish life he lived and prompted the writer to pen this tribute to his memory.

Albert.

Albert Lodge F. & A. M., with their guests and Riverside band sailed Tuesday, a. m., in the schr. Lata Price, on a picnic to Joggins Mines and other points in N. S. As it was calm a steamer from Shulee towed the Lata and Susie Prescott down the river. The Susie is bound for Boston with boards for C. & I. Prescott. The steamer with the two schooners in tow presented a fine sight going down the river, the band playing popular airs.

Albert has sustained a great loss in the death of Mr. Charles A. McLane one of her most prominent citizens which occurred last Friday evening. The funeral on Sunday, p. m., was one of the largest ever seen in the County, 115 carriages being in the procession. The pall bearers were Collector Brewster and Capt. Connan, of Harvey; Messrs. John Peck and Guilford Peck, of Hopewell, and W. Alder Trueman and J. S. Atkinson, of Albert. Among the beautiful floral offerings was an anchor from Hopewell Lodge, I. O. G. T., of which he was a charter member. The services at the house were conducted by Revs. B. N. Hughes and W. E. Johnston, A. B., and at the Cemetery by Rev. B. N. Hughes. Mr. A. Lawson of P. W. F. Brewster's undertaking establishment was undertaker and Mr. Brewster director of the funeral. The efficient and careful manner in which every detail was carried out, notwithstanding the immense throng in attendance, reflects credit on the establishment.

Hopewell Hill.

Aug. 27.—Miss Shaw of California is visiting Mrs. John Peck.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peck have gone to the States on a pleasure trip.

While John Richardson was mowing, his horses took fright and he was thrown off of the machine, and was quite badly injured.

The remains of the late Charles McLane were laid to rest in the new "Hill" cemetery. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him and general sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. The funeral was very largely attended.

Mrs. Thomas Moore who was visiting at Mrs. Alex. Rogers, returned to Moncton, Saturday.

Tae Rev. E. Chapman of Alma, preached in the Methodist church Sunday evening to a large congregation.

Mr. F. C. Jones was in the village today.

Josiah Tingley Estate.

On Thursday, the 23rd instant, the several citations in the estates of Josiah and Daniel Tingley, deceased, were returned and Judge Trueman held court of Probate here.

Mr. J. H. Dickson is proctor in both estates, and Mr. M. G. Teed and C. A. Peck Q. C. appeared for an heir creditors, and the widow of Josiah Tingley, respectively.

The applications to sell the real estate were in both instances dismissed, objections being taken to the applications on the grounds that the values of the different lots of land etc., were not given separately.

In the will of Josiah Tingley a cow was given to a daughter, but it is claimed that after she took the cow away her brother went to her place of residence re-took the cow and has profited by her use without right, and he still retains and uses the said cow without compensation to the person to whom she was willed. Of course each party claims to stand on their legal rights, but it is said proceedings will be taken to recover the cow and also the value of her during the summer.

Daniel Tingley, a son of Josiah died intestate some two years prior to the decease of his father. The widow and creditors of Josiah Tingley claim that the father was the rightful heir of the son, who died unmarried, and that the real estate of the son at his death became the property of the father and is therefore liable for the right of dower of the widow and for the debts of Josiah Tingley.

Mr. Peck urged that the letters testamentary granted to David A. Tingley, a brother of Daniel Tingley should be revoked, as the said David Tingley in applying for said administration as a creditor of Daniel Tingley testified that his brother owed him $200.00, but did not state the nature of the debt whether a bond, promissory note nor did he give any items of account. The judge held that while the letters were revocable the time for him to act in the matter was at the former citation. This point will be appealed to higher authority.

Mr. Teed contended that the costs of the day should be taxed against George Milburn, the executor of the will of Josiah Tingley, but as he did not press the point, costs were taxed against the estate.

The Fastest Boat Afloat.

That the limit of speed at which a small craft can be driven through the water has not yet been reached is shown in a recent performance of the Thornycroft torpedo gunboat Daring. That vessel has set the pace at 29 1/2 knots, and marine engineers are now confident that even this clipping gait will be exceeded by some later vessel of the Daring's type.

The record just established by this marine Nautilus is unsurpassed by anything that is now afloat. It was nearly by steps progressively diminishing. The Havock, which was among the first vessels of this class, was expected to distinguish herself in the way of speed and she did. She came panting back from a race over the measured course, and bearing with her what was then the record, 26 knots per hour.

The Havock's triumph was short-lived. Before her builders, the Messrs. Yarrow, had time to forget the congratulations they received, the Ferret, built by Messrs. Laird, came along, and eclipsed the Havock's speed.

A short time afterwards the Hornet, a sister vessel to the Havock, carried the Yarrow flag to the fore again, with the record of 28 knots per hour. The Hornet sported her blue ribbon until the Daring rushed over the course at the rate of 29 1/2 knots per hour, when she had to surrender her hard-earned distinction of being the fastest craft of her kind.

Two Men Imprisoned in a Blazing Barn.

FOREST, Ont., Aug. 21.—One of the most horrible tragedies in the history of Lambton took place to-day on the farm of Wm. Hayward in Plymouth township, eight miles from Forest.

Threshing was in progress and shortly after starting the cylinder shaft broke and caused friction which set fire to the straw. In an instant the interior of the barn was a mass of flames. In the now above three men were at work, Neil McPherson, Stephen Searle, and Wm. Greer. Their escape was cut off by the flames which filled the main hole of the now. McPherson jumped through the fire and escaped alive, having his hair, whiskers and shirt burnt off. Neither Searle or Greer were ever seen alive again.

In a short time the barn was a smouldering ruin and soon after the charred trunks of the victims were dug out of the still blazing barn. Heads, arms and legs were completely burnt off, and the only means of identification was Greer's trace buckle. Searle leaves a wife and seven children and Greer a wife and three children. Both were highly respected farmers. The double funeral takes place to-morrow. Hayward's loss is over $1,000, on which there is $500 insurance. The sad affair has cast a gloom over the neighborhood.

What Mr. Cecil Rhodes is doing in South Africa—He is Dictator and May Become Monarch.

Cecil Rhodes, who had he lived a hundred years ago and talked as he has done to the Imperial government, would have had to take a taste of prison life, is slowly developing his own scheme of land tenure in South Africa, where, originally a filibuster and land grabber, he is founding a new colonial empire.

There are grave doubts whether some day he may not take it into his head to declare Matabeleland a republic or a detached monarchy, pay perhaps tribute to the British Crown as Burmah pays to China, or Corea pays to that empire, while claiming and exercising sovereignty. Rhodes, unlike many pioneers in Africa and America, is not an unlettered man actuated only by the spirit of aggressive adventure. He is as dilettante as Mr. Balfour. He is well versed in classics, and had an honorable university career. His visits to Africa were diamond-hunting, and he is as truly the diamond king of that region as Col. North is the nitrate king of Peru.

Mr. Rhodes, however, is more than a diamond hunter. He is, in ambition, now a statesman, having acquired wealth enough to satisfy aspiration in their detail. Soon after entering the Cape Parliament he became virtually its dictator, and four years ago was made Prime Minister. In this capacity he has devised some novel methods of government. Chief of these is his land scheme. He proposes to root his people to the soil in an unprecedented manner. Any head of the family may have eight acres at a little less than $4 per year rent to the government. There is a labor tax of $2.50 a year, or its equivalent in actual labor, namely, three months' service outside his own district. Suffrage is to be exercised by every male native who pays the labor tax. The proceeds of the labor tax are to be applied on schools. Failure to pay this tax will subject the delinquents to imprisonment, one of Mr. Rhodes's drastic methods of making everybody share taxes or suffer for failing to do so. Landholders are not to be allowed to sell liquor except under local option, any violation of this law to entail cancellation of title. Rebellion or stealing is also to work forfeiture. Government is to be administered by local councils of six members, one-half appointed by the crown, and one-half elective. An experiment of this mixed nature of paternalism and State Socialism may well be watched with interest by students of modern economics.
