The Catholic picnic was a grand success financially, but a great deal of the pleasure of the day was spoiled on account of so much roysidism.

Stevens & McPherson, tailors, of this village are doing a grand business, and must give satisfaction, for they are running out $250 worth of work weekly.

John Fillmore, an aged resident, passed peacefully away on Saturday night. The funeral took place from his late residence on Monday and his remains were taken to Waterside for interment. Mr. Fillmore was highly respected as an honest, upright christian.

Your correspondent noticed a letter in the Star, from James Carnwath, in which he tried to correct a misstatement, which appeared in the Albert notes, concerning the Orange walk at Riverside. Take his own words and he says they were offered the Albert grounds free, but must pay five dollars for the use of swings. That is all the Albert notes said, and in regard to making money, the people of Riverside and other places publish what is cleared at picnics and concerts, but it has never been published what they cleared on the glorious twelfth.

Santo Caseria, the assassin of President Carrot, of France, was found guilty sentenced to death on Friday last. As the sentence was pronounced he tottered, and with a weak voice said: "Vive social revolution." Then in the same voice he shouted: "Courage, comrades, vive anarchie!"

James Gillis, aged ten years, of New Glasgow, N. S., jumped on a passing team last Tuesday night. When crossing a railway track the horse became balky. A train was approaching and the driver jumped off and escaped, but the wagon and horse were smashed up and the boy Gillis mangled beyond recognition.

London is visited by a smallpox epidemic. The daily average is thirty-five new cases, mostly from the poor district in St. John's Wood. The artillery in barracks there has been hastily sent into the country, and the sanitary organization is hard at work disinfecting houses and clothing, while the patients are all removed into two hospital ships moored out in the Thames.

The Hon. Nicholas Fitzgerald, delegate from Victoria to the Ottawa conference, has arrived in London on his way home. In an interview Fitzgerald expressed the opinion that the Intercolonial Conference had accomplished great work. Even if its recommendations are not immediately carried out they will bear fruit in the future.

Canada's rapid development, her strong national sentiment and beneficent of federation under the Dominion, he thinks, have done much to engender in Canadians a feeling of pride in their country and faith in its future as a nation.

A Rio Janeiro special says: A plot to abduct or assassinate Dr. Prudente Jose de Moraes, the President of Brazil, has been discovered. The object of the conspiracy was to prevent his entering upon the duties of President of the Republic of Brazil, to which he was elected by an overwhelming majority in the closing days of the Mello's rebellion. There is dissatisfaction throughout the country, particularly in this city and state. The police are making arbitrary arrests, and an uprising is imminent. If revolution comes, it will be more formidable than the last.

A San Francisco special says there are internal divisions in the south of China, writes a Shanghai correspondent under date of June 29th, which are regarded as infinitely more menacing to the empire than a war with Japan would be. Placards of most seditious and savage nature are circulated by secret societies in Kwangtung and Kwangsi. The rebels have already found their way into Shanghai. They call upon the people to take advantage of the opportunity to rise against the Tartar dynasty and restore the kings. The authorities are very much frightened though they endeavour to conceal the truth.

St. John.

AUGUST 3.—There lies in the accident ward of the General Hospital a young man well known in Point Wolfe and through the press over most of the County of Albert. An Englishman by birth who served in the British army at Cartoom, and un-er the walls of Alexandria, to say nothing of Tel-el-keher escaping without a scratch, yet in crossing the harbor in the ferryboat, or rather in landing, hurt his leg below the knee on the 5th of July last. His general health is good and he is making as rapid progress towards recovery as one could wish and expect from the nature of his case. At his bedside today could be found several Albert County friends, whose calls he appreciates for they cheer him greatly. He reports that the doctors, nurses and visitors makes the hospital so homelike, that for those who must suffer and need treatment it is a privilege to be able to go there.

Rev. W. E. Johnson M. A., took part in the prayer meeting the Portland Methodist Church, on Wednesday evening last, led by its late Pastor Rev. W. Tippet.

It is almost impossible to pass up King street any day without running into some Albert County people. Though the lumber mills are not all working, most will start for a time this fall, yet St. John is not as one would expect in view of the depression elsewhere. A young Englishman named Lilly on Union street has started an industry. It seems strange none have tried before, viz: the making of Pork-Pies, selling at five cents each and upwards. The grocers keep them for sale and find many customers.

The Baptists of Portland, North End, are about to erect a fine new church, the plans for which are now ready.

The Methodists of Fairville have had a little set back by the stopping short of the contractor and probably another one will be called in to complete the work. The courage of the new pastor does not fail.

The hay crop around the outside of the city is wonderful. New corn and vegetables of all varieties as well as fruits are abundant and reasonable in price. Pressed hay has been selling at fourteen dollars per ton and oats at fifty-two cents up to a week ago. These are coming down as the new crop promises well.

Queen v. Murray.

The case of the Queen on the complaint of A. C. VanMeter of the firm of VanMeter, Butcher & Co., agricultural implements of Moncton, against Daniel N. Murray, charged with selling a pump to Joseph Bannister of Coverdale for $25 and not accounting for the proceeds, was concluded on Friday before Commissioner A. W. Leeman and resulted in the dismissal of the charge and the dismissal of the accused. It appeared that Murray had been a partner with VanMeter when the business was first started in the spring of 1893 and went out of the firm when Butcher came in about two months after the start. In consideration of his going out he was appointed their agent at $600 per year and $25 per month traveling expenses and one third of the apparent net profits after deducting 10 per cent on all existing debts due from the firm at the end of the year. Afterwards another agreement was entered into constituting Murray agent on other terms. It appeared that the custom was for Murray to repay himself his traveling expenses, salary etc., out of cash sales and sometimes take implements etc. in payment and that no account had ever been settled between the partners. The justice thought that in view of the course of dealings between the parties he could not satisfy himself in this particular case that there was a fraudulent intent in the sale and appropriation of the proceeds, as that was the custom throughout their dealings. W. B. Chandler appeared for the prosecution and David Grant for the accused. The proceedings were commenced before Stipendiary Wortman of Moncton and the greater part of the evidence taken before him, but it appeared that the offence, if any, took place in Albert county, the Stipendiary under the provision of the Criminal Code, sent the case to Albert county.

Women Rule in New Zealand. Woman continues to pursue her conquering way in New Zealand. All the ladies of that colony who have attained the age of twenty-one are legally qualified to vote at Parliamentary elections; a lady, Miss Yates, is the duly elected mayor of an important borough; another lady, Miss Lillian Elgar, has recently been elected a member of the governing body of the University of Auckland, and by the last mail we hear of the ladies securing three out of the seven seats for a school board. Furthermore, one of the three ladies has been chosen as president of the board for the ensuing year.

Harmony in Sight. WASHINGTON, August 2.—The Senate conferees are to-day very sanguine of a speedy settlement of a tariff snarl. The only disagreement of importance is the sugar schedule, and that appears to be in a fair way of settlement, by a change in the text of the schedule, which will, it is asserted, give the House an opportunity to claim a victory, but which will in reality retain the different duty on refined sugar.

Some Senators look for an agreement on the basis. The conferees at one o'clock had not adjourned, after being in session since ten this morning.

No Runaways in Russia. Horse runaways are unknown in Russia. No one drives in that country without having a thin cord with a running noose around the neck of the team. When the animals bolt, this cord is pulled, and the horse stops as soon as it feels the pressure on its windpipe.

A NEW CATTLE PEST.

The Horn Fly Makes its Appearance.

The horn-fly is dealt with at length in the Dominion Experimental Farm Report for 1893. The Directors say: "On page 144 of my last year's report I referred to a new cattle pest which had appeared in Canada for the first time in the summer of 1892. This was the cattle horn-fly, Homotobia serrata, of which an enlarged representation is given herewith. The perfect insect is shaped much like the common cattle-fly or the house-fly, but is smaller and slimmer, being only one-sixth of an inch in length, that is, one-third the size of those insects. The colour is dark gray with a yellowish sheen, and the body is covered with short black bristles. The head consists almost entirely of the dark red silver-edged eyes, but bears on its lower surface the black dagger-shaped tongue which is the cause of so much torture to cattle. When not in use this organ is carried projecting in front of the head. This pest will be at once distinguished from the ordinary cattle-fly by its smaller size, greater activity and a characteristic habit of gathering in clusters upon the horns of cattle, for which reason it is now generally known as the horn-fly. It is also for some unaccountable reason often referred to as the 'Texas fly.' This is only the second year since it first appeared in Canada, but it has increased and spread so quickly that it has produced great consternation among cattle owners. The frequent assertion that the flies or the maggots have caused the death of cattle by boring into the horns, head or body, is entirely inaccurate; the whole injury is due to the bites of the fly; however, the irritation from this cause is in many cases so great that animals fall off rapidly both in flesh and yield of milk.

The life history is briefly as follows:—The nature flies appear early in the springs and lay their eggs in the fresh droppings of cattle. These soon hatch and the maggots live in the dung while it is in a moist condition. They then turn to pupae in or beneath the dung, and the flies again appeared within two or three weeks from the time the eggs were laid. There can thus be several broods in a season.

The enormous increase and rapid spread of the insect throughout the provinces of Ontario and Quebec caused, naturally enough, as stated, great consternation among stock owners and dairymen. In many districts the loss was most serious, and I have been informed by cheese makers that during July in the several districts the amount of milk supplied by patrons was reduced at least to half the quantity it would have been but for these pests.

Remedies.—Almost any greasy substance rubbed on the animals will keep the flies away for several days. A number of experiments were tried in the field, with the result that train-oil alone, and train-oil or lard with a little sulphur, oil or tar or carbolic acid, added, will keep the flies away from farm to six days, while with a small portion of carbolic acid it will have a healing effect upon any sores which may have been formed. Axle-grease, tallow, and any such greasy substance can be used to advantage, but train-oil and fish-oil seem to be more lasting in their effects than any other experimented with.

The safest and most convenient way of using carbolic acid is in the shape of carbolic oil which can be prepared by dissolving one ounce of crystallized or liquid carbolic acid in 1 quart of oil. Train-oil, fish-oil, tanner's oil olive oil or any other fixed oil will answer; but not coal oil, as carbolic acid is not soluble in this liquid. The crude carbolic acid does not dissolve easily in fixed oils, and therefore must not be used. Instances have been reported to me of injury to animals, and the hands of operators, when the crude has been submitted for the purer form of carbolic acid.

An effective and undoubtedly the easiest remedy to apply, if a small spray pump be used, is the Kerosene emulsion; which consists of the following: Kerosene (coal oil), 2 quarts; rain water, 1 quart; common hard soap, 2 oz. Boil the soap in the water till all is dissolved; then while boiling hot, turn it into the coal oil, and churn it constantly and forcibly with a syringe or force pump for five minutes, when it will be of a smooth creamy nature. If the emulsion be perfect, it will adhere to the surface of glass without oiliness. As it cools it thickens into a jelly-like mass. This gives the stock emulsion, which must be diluted before using with nine times its measure (that is, twenty-seven quarts) of water. It will be found to mix much more easily if done at once, before it cools. The above proportions give three quarts of the stock emulsion, which with twenty-seven quarts of water added make up thirty quarts of the mixture ready for use. This may be applied to the animals by means of a sponge, brush, rag, or what will certainly be found most convenient where there are many animals to treat, by means of a force pump and spray nozzle. The emulsion thus made and sprayed over the cattle kills all the flies it reaches, and is repeated twice a week will almost entirely relieve cattle from annoyance. Another method of diluting the coal oil is to make the emulsion with milk instead of soap and water. Take sour milk, one part; coal oil, two parts. Mix the two thoroughly, as described above for the soap emulsion. Then dilute with water, so that one part in ten will be coal oil.

A good way to fight this pest will doubtless be to prevent it from breeding and increasing. As stated above, the maggots can live only in the moist droppings of cattle. Any means, therefore, which will insure the drying up of these before the maggots are laid, will destroy them. This can be done most easily by spreading the dung out in the pastures regularly and at short intervals. Twice a week would be sufficient, and it would be equally effective in wet weather when the substance would be washed away, as in hot weather when it would be dried up.

Where the flies gather in large numbers on the ceilings and walls of stables in cold weather, or when driven from the cattle by applications, they can be destroyed by spraying them with either Kerosene emulsion or a strong decoction of Pyrethrum Insect Powder. Dusting them with dry Pyrethrum powder by means of an "insect gun" would also be effective.

In studying the history of this insect since it appeared in North America, in 1887, I have noticed that at places where some years ago where it was very severe it is now much less troublesome. I was, therefore, led to hope that after a time, the considerable loss which Canadians are now suffering from the horn-fly, would be much less. Correspondence with entomologists confirmed this view.

Notorious Cook Gang. GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 1.—Another bank robbery with all the trimmings of a Dalton raid was enacted at Chandler yesterday. As a result one citizen, J. M. Mitchell, is dead and one of the outlaws who gave the name as Ernest Lucas is dying. Lucas is twenty-one years of age and said his comrades were the members of the notorious Cook gang that has recently given territory officials so much trouble.

Soon after one o'clock in the afternoon armed men rode into Chandler, dismounted back of the Lincoln county bank, and three rushed inside while two stood guard at the doors with Winchester. Two men covered the president, Harvey Lee, and his brother, the cashier, and demanded that they turn over the cash pretty quick, while the third, rushing into the private office, where the teller, Hoyt, was seriously sick, compelled him to walk to the safe and attempt to open it.

Though a Winchester was pointed in his face he could not stand long enough, but fell to the floor, and the robber kicked him and tried to shoot at him, but missed fire. The men on guard called out that it was time to go, and the three men grabbed between $200 and $300 lying on the counter and ran out to the horses. In the meantime the guard at the front door had shot and killed Mitchell, who attempted to give the alarm. The bandits scarcely passed out of the city when a posse were mounted and starting in pursuit. Twice were the horses shot from under the fleeing men but they compelled farmers coming to town to give up their mounts and went on. Finally a battle was fought for nearly fifteen minutes, when one of the robbers was shot through the hip and the others scattered and disappeared in the hills of the Creek country.

Historic Quebec. The charms of the quiet old city Quebec are vividly portrayed by pen and picture in a handsome little book just issued. There is an interesting description of the many romantic and historic spots in and around the ancient city, and the illustrations include Wolfe's monument and the Martello towers on the Plains of Abraham, the Chateau Frontenac, a magnificent new hotel on the famed Dufferin Terrace, the Falls of Montmorency and views of the queer narrow streets and old city gates. Typographically, the brochure is a work of art. It can be had free on application to C. P. R. agents, or to the manager of the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec.
