

Locals.

—Miss Addie Jump is to give a recital at Alma this week.

—There is to be a concert in the Valley Baptist Church to-night.

—The Barkentine Enterprise, set sail Monday evening, across the pond.

—The farmers here are now nearly all through haying. They report the crops the best for years.

—The United States tariff question has been settled. Coal and sugar having been placed on the free list.

—Owing to Dr. Somers attending the Dentist Association that meets in St. John, this week, he had to omit his usual visit here.

—The schools have again opened after a six weeks vacation. The teachers and pupils are looking none the worse of it.

—ORGANS REPAIRED.—Persons having organs that need cleaning or repairing will profit by applying to B. Beaumont, Albert, who attends to this kind of work at low rates.

—If you are desirous of purchasing a nice clock for your home, will pay you to read K. Beazons's ad. in this issue. If you cannot call write him for prices and terms.

—The recital at Demoiselle Creek was carried off with great success. The readings given by Miss Jump were excellent and the solos given by Mr. Milton were also good.

—During the month of July, August and September, Saturday excursion tickets will be issued on the Salisbury & Harvey Railway, good to return the following Monday. A. Sherwood, Manager.

—FOR SALE.—The household furniture of Dr. J. T. Lewis, consisting of parlor suits, bedroom sets, chairs, tables, stoves, etc. For further information apply at his residence, Surrey.

—We want the public to know that A. A. Smith has started a carriage and undertaking business at Hopewell Cape, where all work in both lines will be done promptly, and in order. Painting and repairing a specialty.

—Miss Addie B. Jump, wishes to acknowledge the kindness of Mrs. Wm. D. Bennett of Hopewell Cape, Miss Mina Read and other ladies who so tastefully decorated the hall for her last Wednesday evening, also to thank Mrs. Bennett for the use of her organ.

—The Young Peoples Christian Endeavor Society, are to hold their annual picnic, at Point de Chene, on Tuesday next; trains will leave Hillsboro' at 7 o'clock standard. This being a good chance to see that part of the country, everybody should seize the opportunity.

—There might have been a more serious accident than it seems a funny last Sunday evening, when one of the lamps in the Baptist Church got heated and nearly exploded; but through the great presence of mind of one of the members it was captured in time and shown the open air.

—Professor Brown the Famous Canadian Phenologist, will give a free lecture in the New Hall here to-morrow night, he will examine heads on the platform blindfolded and give marriage adaptations of those examined. Speaking of Prof. Brown the Moncton Transcript says: Prof. Brown, the famous Canadian Phenologist, lectured in the W. C. T. U. hall last night to a large and appreciative audience, who besides becoming decidedly interested in the subject of the discourse enjoyed immensely the wit and humor which characterized the lecture throughout. In accordance with the advertisement the professor examined two individuals, both of whom admitted their character as having been read, and paid flattering comments as to the professors' ability. One went so far as to say that if he had the advice given him sooner he would have been money in pocket. There will be a silver collection taken to help to defray expenses, all are cordially invited.

Personal.

—Miss Ella Steeves is visiting in Moncton.

—Miss May Steeves has returned home from Lynn.

—Mr. Albert Gross paid us a flying visit Sunday.

—Miss Annie King visited her sister here last week.

—Mr. O. Erb and Mr. Geo. Purvis spent Sunday with us.

—Mrs. Triton of Salisbury, is visiting Mrs. Watson Steeves.

—Mr. Fred Thomson and C. Allison Peck spent Sunday at the Hill.

—Miss Lottie Walters, of Port Townsend, Washington, has returned to her home.

—Miss Florence Osborn and Mr. McAttee have returned to their home in Kingston New York.

—Miss Ocie Crosby has returned home from Eastport where she was attending her sister's wedding.

—Miss Annie Rose returned to her home in Moncton, after spending a few weeks visiting friends and relatives here.

—Alma.

—School reopen on Monday after vacation. The attendance is large for the beginning of a term.

—Rev. A. E. Page of Kingsclaire, N.B. came here last Thursday and remained until Monday. He was warmly welcomed by his many friends in this place.

—The barque Albert, Capt. Pitman, arrived here on Friday last, and is now at the wharf taking in the load of deals which Nelson Smith of Covedale bought of Messrs Dowling and Fletcher.

—Mrs. Williams and children of Portland, Me., who have been visiting relatives and friends the last few weeks, returned to their home last Friday. Artimus Keirstead Mrs. Williams' youngest brother also returned with her, he has secured a position in a bookstore there.

—Pleasant Vale.

—Mr. T. E. Colpitts and daughter left last week for their home in Alma.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. Colpitts have gone to Moncton and Welford to visit friends.

—The farmers are all done haying in this village and report the crop the best for years.

—Mrs. Thomas Colpitts has returned home from her visit to Boundary Creek and Covedale.

—Master Clyde Colpitts, of Everett, Mass., son of S. B. W. Colpitts, formerly of this place is visiting friends and relatives here.

—Miss Eva E. Welling our popular school teacher, arrived on Saturday last to take charge of the school for the next season.

Waterside.

Daniel Anderson is quite ill at present.

Mrs. LeBaron Richardson is very low with consumption.

The Dove, a small schooner from St. John has been here for some days.

The schooners, Swallow, Lillie G., and Ohio have all left the past week with wood for Rockland.

Last Sabbath the Rev. C. I. McLain preached here in the morning and Rev. J. H. Hughes in the evening.

Miss Carrie Anderson will soon leave for Fredricton to attend the Normal school. We wish her success.

The Rainbow, Daniel Anderson's new boat returned from a short fishing cruise, and reports the herring plenty and of a good quality but line fish scarce.

Cap. A. C. Anderson is home on a visit for a few days. His vessel the Emily C. White is at Sand River, N.S., loading ship timber for Harrington, Maine.

We learn from the inspector of fisheries that the mill owners are allowed to let the sawdust go in the streams for the rest of the season but are all to be prepared for next season.

The crops are looking well down here although the weather has been dry and the insect is on some fields of corn. C. W. Anderson, Esq., has a fine field of oats and barley fronting on the road. Mr. Anderson has given his attention to his farm for a few years and will soon have one of the finest farms in the county; it being also beautiful for situation.

There are five Baptist churches in this end of the county without any settled pastors. The 2nd Harvey and Alma should be grouped together. They are ready to take hold of the work if some of God's servants would come this way with a mild to work.

Rev. S. C. Moore has been supplying for the summer but intends making a visit soon to the church at the New Jerusalem, Q. C., where he spent a few weeks last winter and baptized several persons.

Hopewell Cape.

Picnic parties frequently go to the "Rocks" to enjoy the scenery and a day's outing.

The Harry W. Lewis, Capt. John Hunter, came into port from New York and left for Downey's Cove on Sunday, to load spilling for N. Y. again.

Capt. Joseph Cook has bought and is removing the house of Capt. Thos. N. Pye. Capt. Cook proposes putting up the old house on his premises for a tenement and Capt. Pye to build a neat cottage on the site of the old one.

Miss Addie Jump's recital here was well attended and highly appreciated. It was all good and the only regret was that it was too short. Ice cream and cake were provided after the recital by those interested in the school and a nice sum realized for school purposes.

Mr. Nelson W. Brown, A. B., has returned from his vacation and resumed the duties of principal teacher here; Miss Lynds, assistant. The hay-fields of S. Hampton appear to have an invigorating effect equal to that of the most celebrated watering place, and to give a muscle sufficient to last a teacher through a whole term.

Quite an excitement was caused on Monday by the reception of invitations by a number here to attend the reception to their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen. It is not likely that many will go, as there seems a dearth of swallow tailed coats, and not sufficient time given to make them.

Law Reform.

The newspapers in the upper provinces are taking a turn at the question of law reform, and are being followed by those of the lower provinces. It seems to be a subject that can stand to be dug up and turned over few years. There is no doubt but in our own province the right person could find a great deal to do in the field of law reform which would conduce to the general benefit of the people. The facility with which property can be made to evade the payment of the debt of its owner, and the trouble and expense consequent upon an investigation of the matter is something that requires the attention of our legislators. Again we want the practice of the various courts assimilated and the powers and jurisdiction of all made alike as nearly as possible. The Probate Court wants complete reorganizing so that people would be afraid to die for fear their estate would get into it. The Supreme court of Canada is the rich man's hope when he gets into a contest with a poor man. He knows that there he cannot follow him. We want a court of appeal under our own province composed of say, three judges, and no further appeal! We propose of some further day to put forward some ideas in regard to these matters.

Moncton's Water.

Mr. A. E. Macintyre is busily engaged in doing the "microscopic, bacteriological and chemical examination" of the Moncton water in the interests of the company and will prepare their case so far as the character of the water is concerned. These analyses are merely to supplement the analysis made during the last year of the Moncton supply. Mr. Macintyre refused the retainer of the city of Moncton in the same matter. The case referred to is the arbitration between the Moncton Gas Light and Water company and the town council, and the amount involved is in the vicinity of half a million dollars.

Cuba's Riches.

Cuba is a rich country. On this island there are 30,000 sugar and tobacco plantations and fruit and vegetable farms, the total value of which is $325,000,000. Cuba's yearly exports amount to $90,000,000, while the imports are only $43,750,000. Of the latter $12,250,000 is from this country. Nearly $50,000,000 goes annually to the support of Spain.

He Wasn't a Bushman.

A young barrister, who has his office in St. John, got mad the other day—real fighting mad, and, what makes the matter worse, he had no one but himself to blame. It was this way: A month or two ago a man living in Kings county called at the lawyer's office and asked him to write to the postal department at Ottawa and make formal application for a daily mail service in such and such places in said county. The lawyer drew up the document on legal cap and had it ready when the man called a day or two later. But through some misunderstanding the application was not worded exactly correct, and consequently had to be rewritten. When the man from the country made his second call he asked for the bill. The man of letters politely informed him that the work he had done was worth at least $8. The farmer was standing near a table at the time, and when he received this information he nearly fell over. He looked at the lawyer with open mouth for just two minutes, then he pinched himself to make sure the whole thing was not some hideous dream; but it wasn't! It was a solemn reality. "But," the lawyer continued after a moment, "I shall charge you only $3 for that job."

This last remark quite resuscitated the man and he got on his dignity. He stood up there as bold as a lion and told the lawyer $1 was more than such a job was worth; that any school master in the country could write as good; that he wouldn't pay any $3; that he (the lawyer) needn't take him for a bushman, for he wasn't one; that when he or his friends had any more work to do they should take it to a decent man and one who knew something—and a whole lot more like this. Well, this burst of eloquent indignation frightened the lawyer. He has not been in business long, and he finally told the man he had only been joking with him and that he never intended to charge him a cent. The countryman jumped over two chairs to grasp the lawyer's hand and to thank him for his kindness. He told him he raised large quantities of strawberries and when they became ripe he would bring him some down.

The legal gentleman never saw the berries, nor did he again see his man until one day last week. Then he asked him why he had not brought him the berries as he had promised. The man smiled serenely and said he had forgot all about it. "But why didn't you come up and see me?" he enquired. "Why, if you had I would have given you all the berries you could eat, but they are all gone now."

The lawyer was right on for fight, but he saw a policeman coming down the street just then and he went off and kicked himself all the way around two blocks.

Struggle for Life with a Shark.

A young man battling for life with a monster shark! Such combats are often read in dime novels, but seldom witnessed. Nevertheless, this was the experience of Milton Shane at Pablo, August 2nd, and he bears now twenty-six separate wounds of more or less seriousness as the result of the sea monster's ferocity.

Young Shane, who is a resident of Pablo, was, according to his daily custom, swimming around outside of the surf. He was about 900 yards from the beach, and was floating on his back, when suddenly he was attacked by a shark.

Owing to the difficulty which a shark has in seizing upon a movable body, the young man, by clear headedness and bravery, was able in some degree to evade the monster's attacks, but not altogether, as at every dash of the fish part of the young swimmer's flesh was torn away.

But it was a struggle for very life, and finally the young reached shallow water, and then the beach, almost exhausted from exertion and loss of blood.

It was found, upon examination, that his thigh bore no less than twenty-six wounds made by the shark's teeth, which, owing to the peculiar formation, tore away the flesh at every incision.

Although it is generally known that large sharks are all along the Florida coast, it is not often that they cause any serious accidents, and this one was much nearer in shore than they are usually seen. Shane's wounds, though painful, are not considered dangerous.

Gas Explosion.

A gentleman passing along Foundry street Moncton, Monday morning noticed a very strong smell and decided to test the atmosphere for gas. Going to a catch basin he lighted a match and received something of a shock to his nervous system when he beheld the air blazing around him. Almost immediately there was a report and the covers of two man holes were blown off and a blue flame streamed from the sewer. The report was heard by people in that vicinity who rushed to the street to learn the cause. The man who made the test feels thankful that he is living and that that portion of the city is still a part of this mundane sphere. There appears to be something wrong with the gas pipes and the company's attention has been called to the matter.

Fired on Americans.

BUFFALO, August 7.—Three fishermen of this city were fired upon by Canadian Government officers, on board the cruiser Dolphin last Sunday, while fishing inside of Rose's Reef. The men were in a row boat and were pursued by the cruiser, the captain of which commanded them to stop, but they kept pulling for the shore, until the bullets whizzing about their ears from Winchester, made them stop. The captain searched the boat, but finding no nets he steamed away.

"How long do mosquitoes live?" asks a correspondent. That depends a good deal on the kind of a fellow they light on.

A Panic Narrowly Averted.

A young man who is a member of a down town church choir in Moncton, is being complimented upon the great presence of mind shown during the service last Sunday morning, whereby a panic among the lady members of the choir was averted. During the service, while the young man in question was deeply interested in the sermon, he suddenly became aware of something crawling up his leg. He made a hasty examination and to his horror and utter amazement, what he thought was imagination was nothing less than a real live and kicking mouse, which chose rather to travel on the inside of the pants leg than on the outside. With as little show of nervousness as possible the chorister seized the pants leg and intercepted the monster's progress in the upward direction. Having taken in the situation he began to reason as to the best way to get out of the difficulty. He was well aware that to breathe the name of mouse to any of the choir might result in a panic which would probably extend to the congregation and lead to a stampede from the building. With blanched cheeks the young man kept his eyes on the minister, who continued his discourse, quite unconscious of the inextinguishable catastrophe. The troublesome little animal at last began to evince impatience, and the now thoroughly frightened singer resolved to make a bold stroke for liberty. He gave a little kick, at the same time intimating to mouse by a gentle touch on the head, that the time for his departure had arrived. The effort proved satisfactory. The animal dropped on the floor and scampered off to its hiding place, much to its own delight, to say nothing of the relief afforded the tenor singer.—Times.

Russian Royal Wedding.

St. PETERSBURG, August 7.—The marriage of the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch and the Grand Duchess Xenia, daughter of the Czar, was celebrated yesterday at the Imperial Palace at Peterhof, in the presence of the Imperial family, the Queen of Greece, Prince Christian of Denmark, the Princess of Wales and her daughters, the Princesses Victoria and Maud, and numerous other members of the royal families and distinguished personages.

Grand Duchess Xenia is the eldest daughter of the Czar and was born on March 25, 1872. Of the five children she is the third. Grand Duke Nicholas, the heir-apparent, and Grand Duke George being her elders. The two younger children are Grand Duke Michael and Grand Duchess Olga.

A salute of twenty-one guns announced the formation of the bridal party, which was headed by the Czar and Zarina. All the gentlemen of the party were in full uniform or in court costume, while the ladies wore the Russian national dress. The bride wore over her bridal dress a scarlet mantle lined with ermine. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg met the procession at the door of the chapel. The Czar led the couple to the altar. The Metropolitan, assisted by the court clergy officiated at the ceremony. A salute of a hundred guns announced the conclusion of the marriage.

A grand banquet in honor of the newly wedded pair was held at the Palace at six o'clock in the evening and was followed at nine o'clock by a concert in the Hall of Peter the Great, and a display of fireworks in the grounds of the Palace. The couple then departed for the Chateau Kopscha, near Krasnopol-Selo. They will return here on the 9th inst. The city was en fête last night. Crowds filled the streets and there was a general illumination.

The House of the Future.

The ideal house of the future will be one that can be cleaned with a hose. This idea is not so unattainable as at first sight it may seem to be. The drawing-rooms and halls of the most luxurious houses are now paved in mosaic. The use of Verona and Numidian marbles and of California onyx is not uncommonly found in wainscoting. Every year brings to light new American marbles. These, such as the green of Tennessee and a sort of crushed strawberry of Texas, have fallen in happily with the newest fashions in color.

For people of less means there are the enamel bricks that have caught the iridescence of soap bubbles, and tiles that look like tortoise shell. Encouraging news comes from the makers of artificial marble, who expect shortly to offer every quality and every tint within the reach of most people. The best hopes are, however, with the stained glass men, who are experimenting in stained glass mosaics and vitrified floors that are to be both beautiful and cheap.

The truth is that this season there are too many occupants of every house. There are nations of croton bugs that have colonized in the wood wainscoting of city houses, and regiments of ambitious creatures who want to be on too intimate terms with man. Housekeepers say that scarcely within memory has the warfare they have had to wage been so deadly and so stubborn. The real aim of architecture to them seems to be the contriving of houses that will accommodate only mankind. The hospitality of the modern house increases its drudgery one-half. When the house can be cleaned with a hose, the privacy of the family will be re-established.

General News.

China has been prepared to celebrate the sixty-first anniversary of the birth of the Dowager Empress, but it is possible that the desire to jubilate may be dispelled by the recent loosening of the dogs of war. The celebration was to take the form of an exhibition of art and industry on a scale of unparalleled magnificence. The contemplated expenditure was $200,000,000, and festivities were being arranged in every city and town in the Empire.

The people of Brazil, Ind., are beginning to see the importance of a firm maintenance of law and order as they had not seen it before. They had a sheriff who appeared during the strike wearing the strikers' white ribbon, and in their turn put oil cans filled with emery on the locomotives—all of which was winked at by the citizens. Now the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company has ordered its shops at Brazil torn down and removed to Illinois, and these facts are cited to protesting citizens as the reason.

It appears that the new Connecticut hanging machine does not work by water power, after the Colorado plan, but it is more on the principle of the nickel-in-the-slot weighing machines recently familiar. The condemned man steps upon the platform and the machine does the rest. It is not even necessary for the sheriff to touch the button, though he may accelerate or retard the action of the machine by that means if he will. This official responsibility is reduced to a minimum and every culprit is made his own executioner. This is regarded as a great modern improvement, in Connecticut.

Champions of Absentmindedness.

They are telling a story of a Dutchman who presented himself at a registrar's office recently to obtain a license for his approaching marriage, and who, on being asked the name of the bride, was compelled to confess that it had quite escaped him, and he had to return home for the necessary information. It's a pretty good story of absence of mind, but there are others on record that are even better. There have been cases where persons have even forgotten their own names.

Lessing, the historian, was subject to the most wonderful fits of abstraction. One night, returning home late, he rang the front door bell, and when a servant called out from an upper window that the professor was not at home, he said, "All right, I'll come again," and walked away.

There was an English clergyman, the Rev. George Harvest, who was engaged to a daughter of the Bishop of London, but on the day of his wedding went fishing, and forgetful of the appointed hour did not appear for the nuptials. The lady broke off the match.

A Serious Fire.

HALIFAX, Aug. 12.—A cable from St. John's, N.B., to the Halifax Herald says: A twenty thousand dollar fire occurred at Piley's Island on Wednesday, causing the destruction of the whole premises of the Notre Dame Trading Co., a dwelling shop and two stores. The contents were uninsured. The conflagration was the work of an incendiary. One George Raines was suspected and arrested. He confessed the commission of the deed and assigned no reason. He had no grudge against the company. He declared one Snow instigated him. Snow was a debtor of the company. Raines broke a window in the store and threw a lighted match among the inflammable materials. The fire spread rapidly. The whole settlement was saved only by the greatest exertions.
