The Lumbermen's Convention.

The sawdust question was discussed and the following motion carried: "That in view of the great importance of the lumber interest of the maritime provinces, this meeting respectfully petition the dominion parliament, asking such remedial legislation as would empower the minister of marine and fisheries to exempt from the operation of the recent act of parliament mills, which it can be shown do not seemingly affect the fisheries, or private interests, or impede navigation."

It was also moved and carried, "That a committee be appointed to wait on the proper authorities, and direct their attention to the present high tariff on lumber on the I. C. R., and ask for such modification as would be equitable."

The Lumberman's Association of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia was formed, and the following were appointed executive officers for New Brunswick: James Robinson, D. J. McLaughlin, Wm. Murray, Geo. J. Vaughan and Geo. Woodman.

Capt. T. D. Veith, of the department of marine and fisheries, was present and expressed the opinion that the government would deal fairly with the lumbermen in the sawdust matter.

DEATH OF JUDGE PETERS.

One of St. John's Oldest and Best Citizens Passes Quietly to Rest.

Hon. B. Lester Peters, judge of the county court, died at an early hour Sunday morning at his residence on Pitt street. He was stricken with paralysis about six weeks ago, since which time no hopes had been entertained for his recovery. It was heard of with regret by all classes of citizens, for Mr. Peters was a son of whom St. John was justly proud. Mr. Peters was a man of striking physique and was one of the best known men in town.

The deceased was born in this city in 1827 and was educated in the grammar school here. He was a son of the late B. Lester Peters, who was also a lawyer. The elder Peters was a magistrate and held court in St. John for the trial of civil and criminal cases. His son on his admission to the bar in 1850 became clerk with his father. Later on he was made clerk of the police court, the late John Johnston being the magistrate. He resigned this office and went into a professional co-partnership with the late Judge Wetmore. He was next appointed common clerk of the city of St. John, a position which he held for nearly a quarter of a century. When T. T. Gilbert died some years ago Mr. Peters succeeded to the police magistracy, retaining the office of common clerk too. At the time of the union of St. John and Portland in 1889 these offices were divided, Mr. Peters being continued as clerk of the city and Hon. R. T. Ritchie being made police magistrate. Two years later, on the death of Judge Wetmore, Mr. Peters was called to the bench. As common clerk Mr. Peters was a painstaking official. The gentlemen who sat in the council during the many years he was its clerk have only the kindest recollections of him. As police magistrate and judge of the county court he proved a man of good judgment. No complaints were ever heard concerning his decisions.

When a young man Mr. Peters took an active part in the volunteer fire department. He was a member of old No. 5 company, whose station was on Germain street, near Horsfield.

He was prominent too in military affairs. Previous to confederation he had command of a battery of artillery, which was known as Peters' battery. It was admitted to the corps in the province, and on one occasion won the Prince of Wales cup at Fredericton. After the union of the provinces his corps ceased to exist. He was then given the rank of brevet lieutenant colonel.

He commanded the first team sent to Wimbledon by Canada. This was in 1871.

Mr. Peters was a very prominent figure in Freemasonry. He became a member of Albion lodge No. 1, nearly forty years ago. He was also a Royal Arch Mason and had received the degrees of the Royal and Select Masters, the Royal Order of Scotland and the Ancient and Accepted Rite. He was grand master of the grand lodge of New Brunswick from the time of its organization in 1867 till 1870, when he declined to run again. It was by his wise legislation that the grand lodge obtained such a firm and undivided footing in the province.

He was a member of St. George's society.

Mr. Peters had three sisters and three brothers living, viz., Mrs. Hartt and two unmarried sisters, who reside here, and A. W. Peters of New York (who was a candidate for a civic office in the recent election in New York), A. Wellesley Peters of this city, and Thos. Peters' living in Australia.

The funeral takes place on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.—Sun.

The Earthquakes in Italy.

Rome, Nov. 22.—News from the districts shaken by the recent earthquakes comes in slowly. Every despatch shows the devastation was far greater than early reports indicated. Thirty-eight communes suffered severely. San Precipio Oppido, Manerbio, Scilla and Palmer, all in Reggio die Calabria, with a total population of some 28,000, are little more than heaps of ruins. Many destitute families from the ruined towns are pillaging damaged shops and houses. Troops have been posted throughout the unfortunate districts to protect property. The total damage is estimated at nearly 7,000,000 lire. Collection of taxes has been suspended in most districts of Reggio die Calabria. The volcano on Stromboli Island is in full eruption; Etna and Neveus are also active. In Linguaglossa, near Etna, a school house was shaken to the ground. Its sixty occupants were rescued alive, although many were injured severely.

MRS. KEEFE AND HER SON IN-SANE.

They Held the Fort All Night at Their House in Hyde Park—Captured Only After Struggles—Woman Nearly Brains a Policeman.

HYDE PARK, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Rhoda Keefe and her son James F., have been pronounced insane by the board of examining physicians, and will be sent to the Taunton asylum as soon as the papers are signed by Judge White.

This is the pair who shot at Judge Terry in his office last night, struck him on the head with a monkey wrench; shot at Assessor Sanford and wounded acting chief of police Andy Rooney on the head also with a monkey wrench.

They then fled to their home, barricaded the doors and windows, and defied the efforts of the police to remove them. They held the fort, and at midnight when Chief McKay returned from New York, he ordered the house picketed and went home till daybreak.

He felt that they were maniacs, and they had proved themselves dangerous ones, so he, regarding the safety of his men, would not assail the house in the night. At daybreak Chief McKay and Patrolmen "Matt" McPherson and "Al" Schwab burst open the door of the kitchen.

The first two, added by other policemen, captured the son, and Schwab went after the mother.

He found her on the stairs armed with a heavy butcher's cleaver. She struck at him making an ugly gash in his head, narrowly missing splitting his head open.

He quickly disarmed her, and she was taken to the lock up, where she and her son gave a hearing to those who wished to talk to them.

A minute's conversation served to show that they were both violently insane, and what is very peculiar, both on the same subject, religion and secret societies.

In due time they were examined with the above result.

The wounded men are around their duties this evening, all right, except for sore and bandaged heads, and are thankful that they got off as easily as they did.

Are the Stars Inhabited?

The people of Hillsboro' were favored by Prof. Cox, of Halifax, with a rare treat in the New Hall, on last Saturday and Monday evening.

Dr. Lewis occupied the chair and briefly introduced the lecturer and the subject. The lecture on Astronomy, which was magnificently illustrated by the latest and best telescopic photographs, as well as by rackwork effects, was a most interesting and instructive entertainment, and cannot fail to be of lasting benefit to all who saw and heard it. "More can be learned from it than from years of study from books." The whole solar system in motion, the tides, seasons, eclipses, comets, meteoric showers, etc., were most clearly and vividly brought out "true to nature's self," and were highly appreciated by the audience.

In the second part, at close of astronomy lecture, a large number of very fine changing comic views were shown, which were very much enjoyed by the large number of school children and others present. The scenes representing the "Storm at Sea" and "Ship on Fire" were truly grand, and the added accompaniment of that fine tenor song "The White Squall," finely rendered by the professor, was enthusiastically encored. The panoramas "The Seasons" and "Down the Thames," given at the conclusion of the last evening's entertainment were very fine. Altogether it can be said that Prof. Cox's lectures and entertainments from "Punch's Welcome" to the "Good Night Scene," in which the old lady expresses her most earnest and grateful reliance on PRUSSIAN OIL are a grand success.

Obituary.

On the 21st inst., Jacob A. Steeves died at his residence in his 83rd year. Mr. Steeves was one of the oldest men of our community, and within a year of his death was an exceedingly active man. For the last year he was confined most of the time to his home but for only about two weeks to his bed. Mr. Steeves was a member of the First Hillsborough Baptist Church. Excepting the last year or two of his life he was always present to at least one service on the Sabbath. He was exceedingly kind and hospitable. In his younger days he was a very industrious man. He had a large family and for them he carefully toiled, giving them every advantage within his power. He was honest and neighborly. In his home he was kind and considerate. He leaves behind him a wife, one daughter, Mrs. George Duffy, and six sons, Wesley, Captain Henry, Gilbert, Isaiah, Beasley and Walter.

In the death of Mr. Steeves we lose one of the links between the present and the past of this parish and the present generation. These men are deservedly held in high respect not only because they link us with those noble men who first settled in this beautiful village, but because very much of the comforts of life which we enjoy have come to us through their faithful and industrious lives. May we long cherish the memory of these men and women who have given us so rich an heritage as we now enjoy.

W. CAMP.

"What do you estimate is the amount that sportsmen bring into Maine in a year?" was asked of Game Commissioner Stanley at the conference of game commissioners in the State House at Boston. "About $3,000,000," was the rather prompt reply. The answer was given as the assured results of a careful computation, and deprived much of its force by coming from a man notoriously conservative in estimates of any kind.

Hawaiian Revolutionists.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Nov. 24.—The despatches from San Francisco, intimating a probable uprising of the Royalists in Hawaii to overthrow the present Government and place Queen Liliuokalani on the throne, receive confirmation in this city. It is known here that large quantities of firearms and ammunition were being shipped recently clandestinely to Hawaii on lumber vessels.

The vessels were instructed to run into some small port some distance from Honolulu, where, under cover of darkness, the packages were to be taken on shore by Royalist agents. The packages were marked general merchandise, and included a number of the finest rifles and ammunition sufficient to supply three full companies of men. Recent announcements that a Royalist emissary in Washington has been assured by the authorities that in case of further trouble United States marines would not be sent ashore to intimidate the natives, have made the latter bolder, and the old revolutionary fire has been fanned into flames by the agitators. Sea captains say there are many malcontents among the Japanese population, who would gladly take up arms against Dole's men in retaliation for the recent refusal of the white people to extend the right of suffrage to them. The situation is considered critical.

The steamship Messario from Glace Bay, Cape Breton, arrived at Portland recently with 180 tons of coal for the Maine Central. This is the first large cargo of foreign coal to arrive since the days before the McKinley bill. For the last eight or ten years there has been but a small quantity of Nova Scotia coal shipped to that port, though previous to that there was a good deal shipped. The Grand Trunk used to have 40,000 tons a year. Since the passage of the Wilson bill and the consequent reduction of the tariff on Cuba coal from 30 to 15 cents, the Nova Scotia coal has been coming in increasing quantities, and now this great steamer comes into the harbor with the great cargo of 1800 tons for the Maine Central, the first that corporation has had for a long time. All day Sunday, Scott Oliver and John Martin were outside in the Fannie G. waiting to pilot the steamer in. The cost of pilotage at the port is $2 a foot, and she draws 18 feet.—Waterville Mail.

A Peculiar Fatality.

A sad accident resulting in the death of a bright little boy, occurred at Damascus, between Hampton and Loch Lomond, on Tuesday last. A little lad, Owen Scovill, was playing with other boys in a barn. He covered himself in the hay on the barn floor and was looking up to the mow where his companion was. The boy on the mow let the pitchfork, which he held in his hand fall, and one time entered the eye of the little fellow on the floor. He died in a short time after the most intense suffering.—Gazette.

Lost His Wallet

Mr. Edward Crawford, of St. John, missed his pocket-book in Newcastle on Friday. It contains $45 and a mileage ticket. He had taken it from his inside vest pocket on the train, between Chatham Junction and Newcastle, to pay his fare. He supposes that he missed the pocket when he put the book back under his vest, and that it dropped out either on the train or after he reached Newcastle. Mr. Crawford has had bad luck in money matters on the Miramichi. His pocket was picked here a few years ago of a wallet containing $227 and some notes of hand. On that occasion he got the money back with the exception of $40 that the thief had spent.—Chatham World.
