A GREAT HISTORICAL WORK.

The Pictorial History of the World, embracing full and authentic accounts of every nation of ancient and modern times, and including a History of the rise and fall of the Greek and Roman Empires, the growth of the nations of Modern Europe, the Middle Ages, the Crusades, the Feudel System, the Reformation, the discovery and settlement of the New World, etc. etc., by James D. McCabe.

There has long been a great and universally-felt want of a Hrstory of the World suitable for general use. This want is now being supplied by The National Publeshing Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Dayton, Ohio, who have issued a handsome volume, entitled "The Pictorial History of the World," by James D. McCabe, a well-known historical writer. This work will, undoubtedly, take rank as a Standard History. It is the most valuable book that has been published in this country for many years. It contains a separate and admirably written history of every nation of ancient and modern times, and is full of valuable information concerning them, presented in popular style, and in a manner that will enable the reader to refer instantly to any subjedt upon which information is desired. The book is a complete treasury of history, and there is not a question that can be asked concerning any historical subject, but an answer to it can be found in this work. The author does not content himself with a mere dry statement of facts, but schetches the life and manners of the varrsous nations of which he treats, in life-like colors, and psesents to the reader the causes which led to the prosperity and decay of the great powers of tce world. He shows us the various great men—the warriors, statesmen, poets, sages, and orators—of ancient and modorn times, and makes them familiar to the reader; he explains the secret motives of their actions, and points out the lessons which their lives teach. A valuable feature of the book is a full History of the late War between Russia and Turkey.

This is the only complete History of the World in print, and it should be read by every intelligent person. We are constantly called upon to discuss the great questions of history, and the wars and quarrels of the nations of the old world require us to be continually refreshing our historical knowledge. This work offers the best means of oddaining the information the people need. It is compact, easy of reference, and strictly accurate, and presents to the reader a mass of information respecting ancient, mediæval and modern history not to be found in any other book.

The mechanical execution of the book deserves the highest praise. It contains 1260 large double-column pages, printed in the clearest and most beautiful style on paper of the very best quality. The book is embelished with over 650 fine engravings, illustrating the events recorded in the narrative, embracing battles and oeher historical scenes; portraits of the great men of ancient and modern times; and views of the principal cities of the world. These engravsngs are genuine works of art, and were made at acost of over $25,000. The great number and high character of these engravings make this the most valuable art publication of the century. We cannot too highly praise the numerous and beautiful portraits of historical personages with which it abounds.

The price is so low that every one can afford to purchase a copy. It is sold by subscription only, and Mr. Alex. McLaughlan of this city, who is the authorised agent for this section, is now canvassing for it.

TO THE

OF THE
COUNTY OF YORK.

GENTLEMEN:—
THE time is fast approaching when you will be called upon to exercise your franchise in the selection of four wise and discreet persons to represent you in the Legislature of this Province. After mature deliberation I have decided to enter the contest single handed, and place my services at your disposal. My political opinions are well known to all, and my interests are identical with yours. I am at present carrying on a large Boot and Shoe business, which will, during the next three months engage the most of my attention. I, therefore regret that I cannot visit you personally at your houses, and explain my principles more fully to you. In all probability the most of you will visit our city before the election takes place, and I therefore extend to you a hearty invitation to visit me at my store on Queen street, where you will find me selling goods at such prices as would justify the law officer in coming to the conclusion that I was engaged in wholesale bribery and corruption. I again wish to express my regrets at not being able to meet you at your homes, but in the meantime I will do as much, shaking hands, &c., as I can, and hope that if I cannot induce you to vote for me, I can at all events convince you that you will save money by buying your Boots, Shoes and Clothing, &c., from me.
While I remain,
Your obedient servant,
DANIEL LUCY.
