PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The Democrats of New York will make every possible effort to carry that State for Cleveland. There need be no doubt on this point, but who can tell how 1,500,000 men will vote three months hence? Political history proves the uncertainty of estimates. Cleveland's plurality in 1888 was a scant thousand, Harrison's plurality four years ago was only 13,000. The change of the smallest imaginable percentage of a vote so large may turn the scale.

A recent issue of the New York World says:

Democracy is national. It symbolizes opposition to monopoly and the money power. Its success means restoration of power to the people—not to the people of New York alone, but to the people of the entire Union of States.

Why then should effort be confined to a single State when the great West has already demonstrated its eagerness to shake off the shackles of plutocracy?

Concentrated attack is wise when concentration is necessary. It is not necessary now. And it is not wise.

The Democratic party is big enough and strong enough to make a general assault. In some respects it is better equipped to strike the enemy in the rear than on the old battle-ground, where the corrupt use of money proved to be decisive four years ago. Thousands of recruits in the West need only to be enrolled. But education and organization cannot be effected without moral support and material aid.

The Democrats of the West need and deserve the help of the Democrats of the East. For that reason and to make success certain, whatever may be the result in New York, The World starts today a Western Democratic Campaign Fund for strictly legitimate use with one subscription of $10,000 and two $1,000 each. It has the co-operation of three strong Democratic journals—the Boston Globe, Philadelphia Record and St. Louis Post Dispatch—and hopes to interest many more.

Thorough performance of this educational work will require a large sum of money, but it can be raised if all who desire the success of government by the people, tariff reform and the Democratic candidates will lend their aid.

Will you help? If you can afford to contribute $10,000, do so. If not, send a thousand, a hundred, a single dollar, or even less. But prove to the people of the West that they have your sympathy at least in their manly endeavor to emancipate the country from Republican misrule, and thereby inspire hope, incite energy and accomplish a national triumph.

THE BORDEN MYSTERY.

Popular opinion in Fall River, New York, the scene of the great Borden mystery, has begun to question its own first conclusions regarding Lizzie Borden's guilt. It has now nothing in the way of definite knowledge to rest upon, but neither had it anything when it accepted the woman's arrest as equivalent to conviction.

To the public nothing is known against Lizzie Borden except that she was in the house when the murder was committed. But people have now had time to reflect that the same is true of the servant, whose testimony seems to be the chief reliance of the prosecution. She also was in the house at the time, and the fact may perhaps have a bearing upon the trustworthiness of her testimony.

The only other grounds of suspicion against Lizzie Borden, so far as the public know, arise from the fact that there has been more or less conflicting testimony relating to family relations, some of it suggesting that there were bickerings now and then.

But reflection should suggest that this condition of affairs, even if clearly established, is not without many precedents, and that it by no means creates a presumption of murderous impulse, still less of a cruelly murderous act, on the part of a daughter towards her father.

In brief, the public knows absolutely nothing to justify the belief that this woman murdered her father. What better proof than any yet presented by the prosecution officers may be forthcoming we must wait to see. In the meantime, the only just or right attitude for the public to assume is one of complete suspension of judgment. Upon that the doing of justice itself may ultimately depend.

Perhaps if Lizzie Borden would rave round and tear her hair a little the authorities would let her go.

A self-possessed young woman is such a rarity that folks naturally conclude that there is something the matter with her. A girly girl of the fluffy angel variety would not even have been suspected.

MR. SKINNER RESIGNS.

The report is going the rounds the last few days that Mr. C. N. Skinner, M. P., has sent forward his resignation as a member of Her Majesty's Parliament. This will create a vacancy in the city of St. John, and rumor has it that Solicitor General Pugsley will be the choice of the party to take Mr. Skinner's place, and the vacancy caused by Mr. Pugsley's resignation from the Local Government has been offered to a strong supporter of the opposition—and who the same rumor says—will, in all probability, accept. This is rather hard to credit, however, and we will not believe it unless it really comes to pass. At all events there has been some great twisting and turning during the last week in the political camp in St. John. It is also authoritatively stated that the opposition have formed an invincible ticket in Westmorland and when the local elections are brought on, (which will be in the very near future), the opposition will be found ready and waiting. The names of the four mentioned who will compose the Westmorland ticket would be sure to be elected.

THE CHOLERA.

The arrival of more cholera-infected steamers and the discovery of five cases of this dread disease in the city of New York renders it more imperative than ever that the most effective quarantine possible shall be maintained in every place where the steamers arrive.

On this depends the protection of every city in the United States and Canada.

In the presence of this menacing danger it is no time to debate technical questions of power or raise issues as to conflicting authority. The great end in view, the highest duty imposed, is to keep out the cholera, to guard every community against its invasion.

It is a most fortunate thing that this dreadful disease has shown itself at this season of the year, when, with the cold winter coming on, it cannot get a foothold and there is no reason why, with proper precautions and determination on the part of the authorities, the trouble should not be completely stamped out ere the winter has fairly begun.

A SUNDAY PAPER.

The first issue of the first Sunday paper published in Montreal, viz: The Sunday Morning News reached us this week. The News is printed on good white paper, its typographical appearance is excellent, and the appearance is excellent, and the fact that it will be alone on Sunday mornings (it being the only paper published on that day) we should think its prospects would be as bright as any paper that has ever started out, or ever will start. We welcome the Sunday Morning News on our exchange list.

"Oh, misery!" cried the editor. "What's the matter now?" "I just threw a poet out of the window; and his wife, who was waiting for him below, has presented one of our insurance companies at the cashier's desk. He had hit on him! Another hundred pounds gone when five shillings would have bought not only his poem, but his everlasting gratitude.

NOTES AND NOTIONS.

Running Comments on Passing Events.

Sundry Ebullitions in Prose and Rhyme.

How the Domestic, Social and Literary World is Wagging.

The cleverest bit of deceptive painting is the double door leading to the music room at Chatsworth. A fiddle is painted so well that in the subdued light of the half-closed door it has the effect of the instrument itself hanging on a peg, and many comical mistakes have been made by visitors, to the amusement of the late Duke of Devonshire and the others in the secret.

Remarkable Surgical Operations.

One of the many results of the rapid strides which science has made of late years is the remarkable skill which medical men have brought to bear upon difficult and dangerous operations. Time was when it was considered improper to attempt operations upon the human body, but in the march of civilization surgeons have become possessed of valuable knowledge which enables them to perform remarkable feats, by which scores of lives are saved.

At the annual meeting of the Welsh branch of the British Medical Association, held at Rnabon last year, the writer heard Dr. Damar Harrison, of Liverpool, give an account of an operation he had performed upon a boy, which he claimed to be entirely unique.

A boy at St. Helen's had the misfortune to cut his wrist with plate-glass, which caused complete paralysis of sensation in the hand. The lad's wrist was laid open, and it was found that a portion of the nerve, about two inches in length, was entirely destroyed.

A young cat was obtained and placed under chloroform, and immediately after death the surgeon cut a nerve out of its hind leg. The nerve was put in a cloth soaked in warm carbolic lotion, and afterwards connected with what remained of the boy's nerve. The result was that in a short time complete sensation returned. This case has caused considerable interest in medical circles.

In some respects a still more remarkable operation was performed a short time ago upon a boy named Greiner, who accidentally, whilst holding it between his teeth, swallowed a fish-hook. He tried to release it by pulling at the line to which it was attached, but it had become firmly lodged in the lower and back part of his throat. A medical man was called in, and he succeeded, after some difficulty and great ingenuity, in resecting the hook from its bed of flesh.

A pistol bullet of suitable dimensions was procured, and when a hole had been pierced through the middle of it, it was placed upon the line and allowed to slide down to the hook. The weight of the bullet, assisted by gentle pressure downwards with a pair of curved forceps, dislodged the hook, which, sticking in the lead and being protected by it, was safely removed.

A novel operation was performed in the Royal Infirmary at Edinburgh. A farmer was suffering from a diseased leg-bone induced by an accident. Acting upon medical advice he went to the Infirmary, where a surgeon removed the diseased bone and substituted an ox's rib. The limb is now said to be as healthy and as strong as ever, the operation having been entirely successful.

6TH HALF-YEARLY COMPETITION.

The Most Interesting Contest Ever Offered by the Canadian Agriculturist.

One Thousand Dollars in Cash, a pair of handsome Saddle Poles, Carriage and Harness, and over two thousand other valuable prizes for the Agriculturist's brightest readers! Who will have them? According to the usual custom for some years past the publishers of THE AGRICULTURIST now offer their Sixth Half-yearly Literary Competition. This grand competition will, no doubt, be the most gigantic and successful one ever presented to the people of the United States and Canada.

One Thousand Dollars in cash will be paid to the person sending in the largest list of English words constructed from letters in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist."

Five Hundred Dollars in cash will be given to the second largest list.

A Handsome Pair of Saddle Poles, Carriage and Harness, will be given for the third largest list.

Over one thousand additional prizes awarded in order of merit: One Grand Piano; $300 organ; $400 piano; Dinner Sets; Ladies' Gold Watches; Silk Dress Patterns; Portiere Curtains; Silver Tea Services; Tennyson's Poems, bound in cloth; Dickens' 12 volumes, bound in cloth, etc.

As there are more than 1,000 prizes, any one who takes the trouble to prepare an ordinary good list will not fail to receive a valuable prize. This is the biggest thing in the competition line that we have ever placed before the public, and who do not take part will miss an opportunity of a life time.

Rules.—1. A letter cannot be used oftener than it appears in the words "The Canadian Agriculturist." For instance the word "egg" could not be used, as there is but one "g" in the three words. 2. Words having more than one meaning but spelled the same can be used but once. 3. Names of places and persons barred. 4. Errors will not invalidate a list—the wrong words will simply not be counted.

Each list must contain one dollar to pay for six month's subscription to "The Agriculturist." If two or more tie, the largest list which bears the earliest postmark will take the first prize, and the others will receive prizes in order of merit. United States money and stamps taken at par.

The object in offering these magnificent prizes is to introduce our popular magazine into new homes, in every part of the American continent.

Every competitor enclosing 30 cents in Lamps extra, will receive free, by mail, post-paid, one to "The Canadian Agriculturist" Elegant Souvenir Spoons of Agadir.

Prizes awarded to persons residing in the United States will be shipped from our New York office free of duty. All money letters should be registered.

Our Former Competition.—We have given away $25,000 in prizes during the last two years, and have thousands of letters from prize-winners in every state in the union and every part of Canada and Newfoundland. Lord Kilcourse A. D. C., to the Governor General of Canada, writes: "I shall recommend my friends to enter your competitions." M. M. Branden, Vancouver, B. C., "received $1,000 in gold" and he holds his receipt for same. A few of the prize winners: Miss J. Robinson, Toronto, $1,500; J. J. Branden, Fenelon Falls, Ont., $1,500; David Harrison, Syracuse, N. Y., $535; H. Beavis, St. Louis, Mo., $300; Jas.
