

LOCAL NEWS.

Jottings on Events as they Happen about Town.

The Ebb and Flow of Civic and Suburban Life.

A Pretty Calendar.
Mr. W. H. Caren has the Globe's thanks for a very pretty calendar.

We are Really Sorry.
"Progress," St. John's enterprising weekly Journal issued the following bulletin this week: "Buck dies Thursday, 'Progress' Saturday" etc, etc, etc.

Quite Nobby.
We congratulate Sargent Phillips and the other men of the police force on their "nobby" appearance in their new winter clothes. They really become them admirably.

Aldermanic.
It is announced that nearly every Ward in the city will have a contest in the coming Aldermanic elections. It would be just as well in one or two Wards to say the least.

Cathedral Walk.
A neat plank walk has been laid through the Cathedral grounds for the winter, which will prove a great convenience to the large congregation who attend that beautiful edifice.

Three New Voters.
Three more voters have lately arrived in town, (all government supporters,) and we heartily congratulate the gentlemen, viz: W. R. Racey Jr., John Pitblasto Jr., and T. G. Loggie Jr.

Wonderful Weather.
What a wonderful open fall. Just think of it this is December 3rd, three weeks from Christmas and the river open with the air almost as warm as April. How long is this thing going to last?

Bargains in Jackets.
There is a fine opportunity offered now at Edgewood's to secure one of his new fall jackets, as he is clearing them out during the holidays at 20 per cent. less than the price. He is also offering great bargains in new dress goods reduced to clear.

The C. P. R. Curve.
Work on the approach to the railway bridge is progressing well under contractor Ruel, and he expects to have it completed in the course of a week or ten days. This will be a great convenience as the C. P. R. trains will thereby run directly into the city.

Catarth in the Head.
Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood-purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarth. It gives an appetite and builds up the whole system.

The Place to Go.
Mr. Joseph Walker, the young, enterprising and popular westend tailor, wishes to inform his patrons and the public generally that he has now the best assorted stock of cloths for fall and winter wear to be found in the city. If you need anything in his line give him a call, leave your order, and you may rest assured you will get the very best there is to be had at the lowest price.

IMPERIAL HALL.
The Oldest Tailoring Establishment in the City.
The tailoring establishment of Mr. Thomas Stanger, and known as the Imperial Hall, is the oldest and one of the most reliable in the city. The store is located on Queen street, nearly opposite the Post Office, and is well stocked with both foreign and domestic cloths of the best quality, including all the latest patterns. Mr. Stanger has a large custom trade, and employs a great many hands. He has gained a reputation for turning out only first-class work; the style and fit of the garment being faultless. He carries a large stock of trunks, valises, satchels, hats, caps and underclothing, also a complete line of gents furnishings at the lowest prices.

OAK HALL.
The Largest and Handsomest Establishment in the City.
The enterprising proprietors of Oak Hall, the largest and handsomest store in the city, are offering great inducements for the holiday trade. All of the immense stock carried by this firm will be sold at prices that cannot be equalled in the city; and cannot be beaten in the province. They carry an immense, and well assorted stock of Boys suits, overcoats and reefer, etc., also men and youths' suits, overcoats and ulsters, in great variety; all in the latest styles. What would be nicer than a Persian Lamb, Beaver or Nutria cap, for a Xmas present? Or a handsome silk handkerchief, a stylish muffler, a nice pair of gloves or something equally useful article from the well stocked furnishing department at Oak Hall Clothing House. Clothing, hats, caps, trunks, valises etc., at the very lowest cash prices. Give them a call and save money.

For Over Fifty Years.
Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night by broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind-Colic, softens the Gums and reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. BUCK HANGS

The End of the Murderer of Policeman Steadman.

He Dies Game—"Let her go" Being His Last Words.

The last scene in the tragedy, in which the first scene was enacted in Moncton, and resulted in the death of a Moncton policeman took place on Thursday of this week at Dorchester jail where "Buck" alias Robert Olsen, was hanged for the murder of Steadman, and the body has since been interred in the Catholic cemetery at that place. The crime being still fresh in the minds of the people there is no need of repeating the story. The murderer and his pal "Jim" were tramps and got the credit of committing many robberies in this province. Both men were desperate, and always ready to use the revolvers they carried, if they thought they were likely to get cornered, as was the case in Moncton, when "Buck" and "Jim" making a dash for liberty from a house raided by the police, "Buck" shot and killed the officer who attempted to capture him. He was tried for wilful murder, and paid the penalty of his crime on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, "Jim" his pal, being sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary.

The official executioner from Toronto arrived at Dorchester on Wednesday, and made all preparations for the final act. A very touching letter was written to "Buck" from "Jim," in which he bids him farewell. The following is a copy, the letter being read to the prisoner by Father Cormier.

DORCHESTER PENITENTIARY, }
November 30.

DEAR FRIEND,—I am sincerely sorry you must die, old friend. It is some consolation to know that you have devoted the last days of life in preparing your mind to meet God. No one could sympathize more sincerely with you than I have. I would have done anything in my power to save your life, but I am as powerless to aid you as you are to help yourself. We both owe a debt of gratitude to your spiritual adviser for his efforts to save not only your life but your soul. It is never too late for God's forgiveness, Buck, if we ask His forgiveness with a repentant heart. Forget the world, fix your thoughts on eternity and ask God's forgiveness, for the sake of that Saviour who died for us all. A few years and we must all appear before our Maker to answer for all deeds. I wish I could shake your hands once more, but if I never do it will be a source of satisfaction the rest of my life to know you died like a good Christian. Once more I sincerely urge you to seek God's forgiveness. Good-bye, old friend; may we both one day meet our Saviour in Paradise, and be satisfied in His presence. May God bless and take you to Himself in the fervent prayer of your old friend, "Jim".

"Buck" broke completely down after the first few lines were read and cried like a child, muttering through his sobs: "Yes, that's Jim, Poor Jim."

The Scaffold.
The scaffold was pronounced by the hangman, Radcliffe, to work like a charm. Radcliffe states that he has hanged thirty-six persons in his lifetime. He used a Russian hemp rope on Thursday that did duty on several other occasions.

Mrs. Atkinson visited Buck Wednesday night and again Thursday morning in company with Miss McDougall. The condemned man ate a hearty breakfast and seemed to thoroughly enjoy the meal. His spiritual adviser was with him all the morning. At precisely 9.35 a. m., standard, the officials entered the cell and prepared the doomed man for the march to the gallows. He wore a white shirt, black trousers and had on a brown silk cap. The procession, headed by the sheriff, passed out of the jail, and walked through an enclosure to the shed, where "Buck" took his place under the beam, with hardly the quiver of a muscle, even when the rope was placed round his neck by Radcliffe. Father Cormier appeared much affected, and when shaking hands, he said good-bye with a voice trembling with emotion, and said, "my dear convert is going to God and I hope to meet him in heaven."

When the black cap was being drawn over the condemned man's head, in a voice perfectly clear, he said, "Good-bye to all," and turning to the hangman asked if all was ready and said "Let her go." The signal was given, the weight tripped, and in less than a second "Buck" was swinging in mid air. He shouted up about four feet, coming down sideways, the hangman straightening the body. In seven minutes from the time he was lifted all pulsation had ceased, the body being cut down in thirty-five minutes. The dead man's identity still remains a mystery, the pictures from the mother of the smith boys, who supposed the men to be her two sons, not resembling them in the least.

About fifty persons witnessed the hanging, among them being Detective Hanscom, of Boston, who declared "Buck's" name was Whalen, a noted thief of Chicago, and his pal "Jim's" name is Christie, also a noted criminal. He went to the penitentiary to see him.

"Handsome is that handsome does," and if Hood's Sarsaparilla doesn't do handsomely then nothing does. Have you tried it?

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

What the Gossips have to Remark about

The Trend of Matters Political Parliamentary or Otherwise.

Some Touch-and-go notices of all Mentionable Matters of Things.

It really looks as if the temperance and orange representative, who was elected with the assistance of opposition rum and money has put himself in a position that will probably have the effect of decreasing his income. The fact that he was the instigator of the Protestant cry in the elections here, has added nothing to his popularity, and it is hardly to be expected that the local government will continue to turn him in nearly $1,000 worth of work in a year as they have in the past. Further than this an appointment has taken place in the Dominion Cabinet that may also have the effect of transferring the "pap" given to Pitts to some other conservative office, namely: that of Sir John Thompson, a Roman Catholic, to the premiership of Canada. Of course Mr. Pitts would accept nothing from him, as he is not a representative of the order that he (Mr. Pitts) is ready to die for.

In the year 1893 there will be two eclipses, both of the sun, one a total eclipse on April 16, visible to South America, the larger part of Africa, Southern Europe, and intermediate Atlantic ocean; and an annular eclipse on October 9, visible to western halves of North and South America, the West Indies, the extreme north eastern trips of Asia, and eastern and pacific ocean.

The crops throughout the country this year have been very good, and with good travelling the holiday trade should exceed former years. The merchants are all ready and waiting with their Xmas novelties displayed, for the snow that will bring them their harvest. It is to be hoped it will soon come.

The weather still continues mild, with little prospect of a change at present. The Star Line steamers have been taken off their route, and this coupled with the fact of the country roads being in a bad state for travelling, makes business rather stagnant.

The "Farmer" says. "The advent of Premier Thompson has caused the Sun to furl its Orange flag. The bosses want to stand in with Sir John, and the Rev. Thompson will have to seek publication of his letters elsewhere."
We think the Rev. Thompson, alias the "agitator," has given up all hopes of satisfying his revengeful nature and will publish no more such irreverent letters.
