STAY EAST, YOUNG MAN.

The enchantment which was lent by distance to the view of the Western States, and Western Canada, has been dispelled of late, and wise men are beginning to realize that there are opportunities for the energetic youth of our country in what have been termed the "old provinces."

Fashion will always have its followers—many of these, blind followers—and only a few years past it was quite the fashion for young men to go west, even although they were making comfortable livings in the east. It was such a very fine thing for their friends at home to boast of them, that they were getting twenty dollars a week in some western city, while in New Brunswick they had to work for half that sum per week. But it was very seldom added that for the same kind of board they would get here for three or four dollars a week, they were paying seven or eight in their new fields, and proportionally for articles of use and necessity. The great majority of people love to "talk big" and are inclined to be ashamed to acknowledge the possession of small incomes. They don't so much mind economising, but they are averse to their neighbours knowing that they are not rolling in wealth.

The young man who goes west because he wishes to enlarge his views, and perhaps prefers western life is quite within his right. But the young man who goes west because he can't make any money east, generally ends by becoming poorer the farther west he goes. The maritime provinces are not half settled, and the chances for business are not half taken advantage of. Men of business and experience are beginning not only to see this, but to proclaim it publicly.

When Mr. Blair was in Woodstock he talked in this key, and in an address made by the mayor of Halifax at the recent conference of the provincial boards of trade, that gentleman strongly urged the young men of the maritime provinces to remain at home and assist in the development of the resources of their own native land.

It may be generally taken for a pretty sure thing that the young man who goes west and is eminently successful in business, would not be a failure if he had stayed at home. To be sure a man is not likely to become a millionaire in New Brunswick, but the youth whose ambition it is to become a millionaire has a pretty low ideal and certainly does not appreciate the proper uses of life. The less millionaires a country has the better. We have few in this province, and we have also few paupers.

Migration from the country to the city is going on now, and will continue to go on more or less, for all time. But the relative advantages for the education and happiness of the young, which the city possessed over the country, some years ago are rapidly lessening. Education is free and means of its diffusion widespread. Newspapers, magazines and books are cheap and reach all points, while the pernicious influences of city life find a poor field for growth in pure country air.

It has come to be recognized that farming as a business can be made to pay. Farmers who are out at the elbows, would probably be out at the elbows at any other business. Take this county! The farmer who keeps his eye open for favorable markets and makes a study of his business is doing well. The farmer who won't keep up to the times is falling behind. The unsuccessful farmer proclaims it abroad that there is no money in the business, while as a matter of fact, his failure is the result of inability for his work.

The young man who is hesitating between two choices, to go west or stay east, had better stay east, unless he has money enough to go west on an experimental tour, in order that he may appreciate the advantages of the east.

MARITIME UNITY.

A resolution was passed at the conference of the Boards of Trade in St. John last week, in favor of forming a Maritime Board of Trade. It seems a move in the right direction. The Governor of New Brunswick, who was present during the conference, said that boards of trade were as yet in their infancy. The impression also among hard headed business men who were present, appeared to be about the same as expressed by the governor.

The formation of a Maritime Board of Trade is more of an accomplishment than the formation of a provincial board would have been. The interests of the Maritime Provinces are, to a great degree, identical. There is no clashing between New Brunswick and Nova Scotia; no complaint that one is the market for the other, without any compensating advantages, as is often complained of the upper provinces by our people in these lower domains. The feeling is growing rapidly that by acting more unitedly than in the past, the Maritime Provinces can advance their prosperity. Nothing will do this more than the meeting of enterprising business men from various parts, who will discuss matters from a business point of view, and make recommendations which must have weight alike in local and federal government circles. No doubt, in time, such a meeting will have advice to give to the governments as to a reduction in the cost of legislation which is a most excessive burden on our people these days.

Outlook Unpromising.

A prominent Augusta lumberman, who is actively engaged in the lumber business, takes a very dubious view of the future of the industry. He estimates that not over half the usual amount of lumber will be cut in the woods this season—less than 75,000,000 feet—and less than for 20 years. He says that many of the mills on the Kennebec will have logs enough left over after the season's sawing to last them from three to five months next year, the surplus being due to the poor demand the past season. He declares that in anticipation of the new tariff numerous small mills sprung up in Nova Scotia and other points in the Provinces. Many of these were built on borrowed money, and they manufactured lumber which they shipped to New York with the expectation that the duty would be off in July. Their notes became due and they sold their lumber for what the dealers would give them, the consequence being that the New York yards stocked up at low prices. This low priced lumber they will have next spring and it will interfere naturally with the sale of the Maine product.

Thus, the gentleman thinks, there will be another dull market. Referring to the cut on Kennebec waters, he says the small operators will not be able to get backers, owing to the depressed condition of the business, while those who own timber lands will not feel like dipping in heavily, with the uncertainty of getting a fair price for their stumpage.—Star-Herald.

AN ARREST
IN LIFE'S JOURNEY.Had Taken the Wrong Road.Endured Many Trials and Sufferings.Heard of the Glad News of Paine's Celery Compound.Mr. Church Says: "It Snatched Me
From the Grave."

The Cured Man's Honest Testimony.

He Urges All Sufferers to use the Medicine that Gave Him New Life.

An important arrest in life's journey! A man saved who had travelled far on the road that leads to the silent, dark grave! His trials and sufferings were heavy and severe; he had made many efforts to rid himself of the shackles and chains that bound him, but for long months his endeavors were futile.

While on the great highway of disease and suffering Mr. John A. Church, of Coldbrook, N. S., heard the glad news of victories won over disease by Paine's Celery Compound; his heart bounded with joy and fresh hope, and he lost no time in testing the virtues of nature's great healer.

The first bottle produced a mighty change, and warranted Mr. Church in continuing the medicine. After using nine bottles of the great Compound, a thorough cure was effected, and a new lease of life was obtained.

Before hearing of Paine's Celery Compound Mr. Church was literally robbed of his money as he bought medicines of all kinds that proved useless and worthless. His experience is of great value to every sick and suffering man and woman in Canada. He writes thus:—

"It is with pleasure that I give testimony in favor of your Paine's Celery Compound. In the spring of 1892, I had an attack of La Grippe which put me into such a condition that I could not sleep or eat. I was completely run down, had extreme nervous prostration, and laid for days in a half stupefied state.

"After spending all my money for medicine which did little good, I gave up to die, when one day a paper on Paine's Celery Compound was brought to me. I at once procured the medicine, and derived great relief from the first bottle. I slept better, ate better, and digestion improved. After using nine bottles I feel like a new man. I can truly say that Paine's Celery Compound snatched me from the grave, and gave me new lease of life.

I earnestly urge all sufferers to use Paine's Celery Compound, feeling sure it will cure them. Do not spend your money for medicines that cannot cure you."

THE CONFERENCE AGREES.

one member from each board of trade affiliated with the body.

"5th—Meetings of the board shall be held semi-annually in the month of—at such place as may be selected by the board at its meetings.

The committee also recommended that the first meeting be called by the president of the Halifax Board of trade at such time and place as he finds will be likely to best accommodate the various boards.

The following resolutions were also adopted:

Whereas, The present peddlers act of this province is inadequate to regulate the sale of wares by peddlers or hawkers.

Be it therefore resolved, That this conference shall influence local legislation to so amend the act whereby county municipalities shall be empowered to deal with peddlers or hawkers by causing each peddler or hawker before entering on business to register his name with the secretary-treasurer of the county in which said peddler or hawker proposes to do business and that the said secretary-treasurer be empowered to issue licenses duly numbered and collect from each non-resident peddler or hawker of the county the sum of $40 and for each resident peddler or hawker the sum of $10 as a yearly license tax, and

Further Resolved, That every licensed peddler or hawker under this law shall, when receiving his license, be provided by the secretary-treasurer with a badge, on which shall be displayed the number of his license, and he shall wear the same in a conspicuous place upon his hat, or on the outside of his outer garment, at all times when prosecuting his business as such peddler or hawker; and he shall not cry out his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the municipality.

S. Schofield, seconded by Mayor Robertson, submitted the following resolution:

Whereas it is manifestly the duty, as well as the interest of each section of the dominion to assist in promoting the welfare and prosperity of the country, and

Whereas, It would be advantageous to the dominion generally that its import and export trades should be conducted over Canadian railways and through Canadian seaports; therefore

Resolved, That the managers of the Grand Trunk, I. C. R. and C. P. R. railways as well as the various boards of trade throughout the dominion be requested to promote the foregoing idea so far as practicable especially by utilizing the maritime province seaports during the winter season when the St. Lawrence is closed to navigation; and therefore

Resolved—That the dominion government also be requested to co-operate in every possible way, more particularly when arranging future steamship subsidy contracts, which should always stipulate for the use of Canadian ports only, and thus carry out the policy of Canada for the Canadians.

This resolution was carried.

Whereas, The long credit system at present in vogue in this country is a serious drawback to healthy business; therefore

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting it would be greatly in the interests of the country at large if credit were curtailed and goods sold of shorter time by both wholesaler and retailer.

That in the interests of legitimate trade it is desirable that we have an insolvent act for the equitable distribution of insolvent estates. The question of selling merchandise by retail by wholesale merchants was disposed of by the following:

Whereas, The practice of selling merchandise at retail by the wholesale trade is detrimental to the material interests of both the wholesale and retail trade of the province, tending to increase the cost of selling and commercial risk of the former, while compelling the latter to seek business advantages outside this province, which might naturally be expected from the wholesale firms, if a different system of trading be established; and

Whereas, The practice of selling goods to private persons by wholesale firms has been going on for a long time, be it therefore

Resolved, That this conference disapproves of this matter of doing business and recommend that any wholesale firm in Canada who shall hereafter do a retail trade as above described, in the province of New Brunswick shall be reported to the different boards of trade of the province by the aggrieved merchant to be dealt with at their next meeting.

The question of adopting standard time was brought up, and discussed; but it was finally decided to let the matter rest for the present.

A luncheon was tendered the visiting delegates, and toasts were proposed and speeches made.

The entire proceedings were most satisfactory.

Gored to Death.

A very sad accident occurred near Houlton Saturday morning last. John Tierney, who lived on a farm a few miles out of town went into his field to drive out some lambs when he was attacked by a three years old Jersey bull owned by himself and which was considered perfectly kind. A few minutes after Mr. Tierney went into the field his wife sent her son out to help his father. When the boy reached the field he saw that the bull had his father down and was savagely goring him. His cries for help brought some men to the rescue who were working near. They drove off the bull and carried Mr. Tierney to the house. Dr. Nevers was called and found the man badly gored about the lower intestines and in the region of the heart. He lived until Monday morning when death ended his sufferings.
