CORRESPONDENCE.

Upper Woodstock.

APRIL 8.—H. M. Patterson, who has been very ill for several weeks, is able to be out. There is a great deal of sickness in this place. Mrs. Ralph Ketchum is quite ill. Mr. Jackson's and Mr. Wright's children are sick.

Arthur Seely's family have removed from this village and will be missed very much.

James Evans has removed to his new quarters, and we have one of the neatest post offices in the county.

James Andrews has removed to W.R. Wright's house.

Mr. Bell is still hustling in the potato business. Harris Everitt and Woodford Ketchum are shipping large quantities of hay from their siding here.

Fred. Nevers has about finished a neat building on his front for his meat business and a dwelling on the second floor.

The many friends of Mrs. Wm. McIntosh are glad to see her back again.

The boys at the factory are making a number of changes in their factory, fitting it better for their carriage work. They have a nice lot of first-class work in carriages of different kinds, and some 45 waggon to repair and paint.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grant spent a few days with her parents last week.

Mrs. Albert Brewer has returned after quite a visit to Andover.

There is to be an Orange lodge organized at Jacksonville in a short time.

The Apprentice Boys have just got two dozen of the best fies, imported through M. Brewer, and we may expect to hear them on parade before long.

Hartland.

APRIL 8.—Miss Emma McAdam entertained a small party to oysters Saturday evening.

Mr. Hovey, of Grafton, spent Sunday in Hartland, with Mrs. Kerr.

W. D. Keith, who has been with Mr. Carr for several years, has resigned his position as book-keeper.

Little Mattie Shaw is dangerously ill.

Business is quiet. The roads are very bad, and crossing the river on the ice is almost a thing of the past. A few have already given their horses a cold bath.

Under the supervision of Geo. Cox, Mr. Peeples is having his house hurried to completion.

Shaw & Boyer are having the upper part of their boot and shoe shop made into a dwelling.

Chas. Taylor has begun digging his cellar for the brick building.

Mr. Campbell's new picture house is almost completed, and a number of boys and girls are just waiting to exchange pictures.

Frank Hagerman has taken charge of A. H. Sawyer's grist mill.

Mr. Sawyer's saw mill is nearly ready for work, though the smoke stack fell at the first attempt to raise it, the second time it went up first class, but very little damage was done by its falling.

Centreville.

APRIL 8.—The snow is mostly off in the village and the streets are very muddy.

There is lots of snow on the country roads yet. Building operations have already commenced.

Barry Estabrooks is having a large woodshed built.

The Baptists expect to put up a new parsonage. Rev. Mr. Cahill has been holding special services with gratifying results. The reverend gentleman draws large congregations.

Mr. Campbell, one of our blacksmiths, is laid up. His recovery is not looked for, as the doctors pronounce his disease cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Downey, who has been working for Chas. Wilkinson all winter, has rented O. Miller's shop and started for himself.

J. G. Simonson has put a new rotary in his mill and is sawing lumber at a great rate. He expects to have a planer and matcher working shortly.

Our milliners are getting ready for their spring opening.

Chas. Wilkinson, who has been working in Woodstock for the last two months is home again working in his own shop.

Dr. Brown expects to have his pacer trained after the season is over. It is reported that he will then match him against Brown Stout for any amount. He is quite a goer.

The stores are filled up with spring stock. More variety seemingly than ever before. This certainly is a go-ahead place.

Terms of Union.

Speaking of the conference now on at Ottawa between the delegates from Newfoundland and Canada re confederation, the Mail and Empire correspondent says:

It is understood that the basis of the negotiations will be the informal offer made to Newfoundland by Canada through Sir Charles Tupper in 1888. At that time Sir Charles, while finance minister, made a passing visit to the island colony. Sir Henry Blake, the present governor of Jamaica, was then the governor of Newfoundland. At his solicitation Sir Charles Tupper stated the terms Canada would be willing to offer, and it is generally believed that the informal proposal was made not only with the consent of Sir John Macdonald, whose colleague Sir Charles Tupper was, but with the sanction of the Imperial government.

These terms were as follows:—

1. Eighty cents per head of the population up to 400,000.

2. Canada to give $150,000 per annum in bounties to fishermen, this to be largely increased until it would reach every owner of a boat.

3. Canada to take over the debt of the colony in proportion to the debt of the dominion, and to allow the local legislature five per cent. on the excess, if any.

4. The Dominion to pay the expenses of the Governor and Government house.

5. The Dominion to pay for a battery of artillery which would be raised in Newfoundland.

6. The Dominion to pay for railroads and other public works, leaving nothing to be provided by the colony except roads, bridges, and education.

7. The Dominion to pay $150,000 or more if necessary for the Crown lands of the colony.

8. The Dominion to efficiently protect the fisheries and arrange for restocking the artificial propagation.

These were the proposals of 1888, but since they were offered new conditions have arisen. They will doubtless have to be supplemented, but will serve as the basis upon which negotiations will begin. Indeed Sir John Thompson stated at the Halifax conference that Canada was prepared to discuss union on the lines of the above proposals. Other matters will have to be dealt with now. The most pressing of these will be a temporary arrangement for meeting the present difficulties of the colony. Besides this there will be a request that the railroad under construction be completed, that increased English mail facilities be provided, and that a ferry be maintained between the Island and Cape Breton.

Three Days Sail.

OTTAWA, April 9.—One of the stipulations which the Newfoundland delegates will insist on should the union take place will be a fast steamer service between the nearest Canadian point and the west shore of the island, there to connect with a railway now under construction across the island. In this connection Sanford Fleming, the well known engineer, says the Intercolonial railway would be utilized as a link in the great passenger and mail route between America and Europe. By this means the Atlantic from land to land could be crossed in three days.

Chasing the Rainbow.

That is what "man" bargain hunters do, it is distance that lends enchantment to the view of much so called "cheap" Hardware.

Ours, on the contrary, improves on close inspection, you can then see it has a basis of solid merit, who dare say that better Hardware can be bought.

As to Prices, we defy competition, admire opposition, and under no condition will we budge from our position.

Our remarkable mark downs in Hardware are making every patron's tongue talk for us, we are not saying one thing and doing another, but running our words in parallel tracks with our acts.

We invite inspection from all.
