CENTREVILLE'S MOCK PARLIAMENT IS A GREAT ATTRACTION.

Patrons of Industry at Debec and Northampton.—Benton Paralysis Case.—Narrow Escape of Wm. McIntosh of Bristol. General News From All Around.

Nov. 18.—H. B. White is on a business trip to Victoria County.

Miss Minnie White is quite ill. Dr. Brown in attendance.

Sperry Shea, Woodstock, was here last week in the interests of H. Paxton Baird.

Geo. L. Holyoke, editor of the Press was here on Thursday.

Deputy Sheriff Foster passed several days in Centreville last week.

Harry Grant, Woodstock, passed Thursday and Friday here.

Harper's Ferry Quartette gave an excellent concert in the Methodist church on Wednesday and Thursday evening before large audiences. The Company is well worthy of patronage.

The adoption of standard time is now being initiated in Centreville. The schools will adopt it next week.

A prominent young lady who since her arrival has taken the lead here in manners and style has adopted the wearing of a cardinal Tam O'Shanter cap. All the young ladies are expected to fall into line, and adopt the pretty style.

The first public session of the Mock Parliament was held in Scholey's Hall on Wednesday evening. The gallery was crowded with visitors, the fair sex predominating in numbers. The speaker, Hon. G. W. White took the chair at 8 o'clock. The Post Master General, Hon. S. A. McKenzie then introduced a bill providing for the reduction of the postage. The speech from the throne was read, and the Hon. H. W. Peppers moved the address in reply. He made an excellent speech, and gives promise of becoming an able debater. Hon. H. J. Clark seconded the address in a neat speech. The Premier moved that the address be adopted section by section. A dispute then arose between the premier and the leader of the opposition regarding some personal agreement, and the motion was withdrawn. Mr. J. J. Gallagher then moved an amendment to the address, and was still speaking when the debate was adjourned, at a late hour. E. L. West introduced a bill to prevent the wearing of male apparel by females. The object of the bill is to suppress the "bloomer" craze. J. J. Gallagher introduced a bill to amend the Criminal Code of 1892. The bill abolishes capital punishment for murder and other offences, and makes such crimes formerly punishable by death, punishable by imprisonment for life. The House was then adjourned. The visitors who comfortably filled the gallery were delighted with the first session, and the large hall already proved too small for their accommodation. Mr. Gallagher will resume the debate next Wednesday evening, and the "bloomer" bill will be taken up after the address is disposed of. The speaker will take the chair at 7.30 p. m. sharp, on the next succeeding Wednesday evening.

The interest in the struggle for the furs by the leaders of the two divisions of the R. T. M. T. still continues unabated. It is rumored that bribery and corruption have been used by one faction to swell the count. Geo. E. McIntosh's division made a spurt at the last night of meeting, and rendered the following program:—vocal solo, Mrs. Harry Clark; reading, Geo. J. Cronkite; recitation, Emma McDonald; reading, E. M. Hawkins; song, Mrs. Gatchell; song, Miss Bessie West; reading, Herbert Agnew; recitation, Gertrude Cronkite; reading, Clarence Simonson; recitation, Brom. Hawkins; reading, Mrs. E. L. West; declamation, Miss Nellie Cormier; vocal solo, Mrs. Geo. J. Cronkite; recitation, Mrs. Sewell; original poem, Miss Phoebe Ayer; recitation, Miss Maud McDonald; song, Chas. Olmstead; recitation, Miss Nellie Hawkins; original poem, H. J. Clark; recitation, Ida Perkins; instrumental music, Miss Alice Wilkinson; speech, E. L. West; speech, Geo. E. McIntosh; speech, C. M. Woodward; tableaux, Miss Lena Sherwood; Freeland McKenzie. The declamation Miss Nellie Cormier was one of the best since the contest began, and is worthy of special mention. The young lady possesses considerable histrionic ability, and her voice, modulated tone and graceful gestures were almost perfect. Her vivacious manner and the way in which she entered into the spirit of the piece seemed to surprise the audience, and she was the recipient of many compliments. Miss Boyer's original poem contained a number of local hits, and caused considerable merriment.

This being a very favourable fall for ploughing, most of the farmers have got pretty well along with their work.

Some of the young folk took advantage of the dark night and muddy roads Friday last, to take a drive to the residence of Mr. Thomas McIntyre of Richmond. However, after spending a very agreeable evening, they unanimously agreed that they were amply rewarded for their trouble.

The Patrons of Industry Lodge organized about three months ago in this place is in a flourishing condition, with about 20 members. I believe this to be an order worthy of the consideration of the farmers of this country and hope to see many similar lodges established in this country.

Benton.

Nov. 18.—The community was painfully shocked on Saturday last to hear that Mrs. Wm. Mulhern had again been attacked by paralysis. This lady has had one side of her body paralysed for the last year or more, and now the inflection has increased.

Peter Stuart has bought a farm in Benton ridge, where I am told he intends to settle next spring.

Next Friday evening at 8 o'clock Rev. Alf. Fitzpatrick of Kincardine, Victoria Co., will deliver a lecture (D. V.) in Sawyer's hall Benton, the reverend gentleman is an able lecturer, and a fine literary treat is expected. His subject will be Evolution of the earth, Man and Religion. Admission 10 cents.

The young King of Spain saw his first bull fight the other day. His mother, who has a horror of the brutal sport, postponed the event as long as possible; but even she was unable to over-ride the ancient court precedent that prescribes attendance on bull-fights as part of the education of a Christian monarch. The little chap viewed the sport without betraying any enthusiasm, and departed without rewarding the successful madador, in accordance with custom. And some Spaniards, therefore, fear that he may bring discredit on his order and race by taking a stand against the national sport when he grows to mat's estate.

"Why," shouted the impassioned British orator, "why is it that the wife of a farmer lacks the happy, contented look to be found upon the faces of the bareheaded peasant women of the continent?"

"Because," said the man near the door, "because the bareheaded peasant woman does not have to worry all the time about her hat being on straight."—London Household Words.

Who cries for most in truth may least require;

Who most demands risks gaining his desire;

Who most devours is oft the lonkest grown;

Who gives God all finds all at last his own!

End then the endless, graceless, fruitless strife—

Who findeth loseth, loseth findeth, life!
