THE PATRONS IN POLITICS.

The Patrons of Industry who have made a deep impress in political affairs in Ontario, are now occupying new ground in the maritime provinces. They have an organization in this county which met in Hartland last week. In other counties of this, and the adjoining provinces they have made a start and we may expect to hear from them when the general election for the legislature comes off.

While there is a disposition to sneer at third parties, and to prophesy their early down fall, a little thought will lead us to the conclusion that third parties are exercising the control in the legislatures of many countries. In Great Britain the Unionists may be said to hold the balance of power, just as the Irish party, when united under Parnell did some years ago. In the United States the Mugwumps control the presidential elections. At first the term "Mugwump" was one of reproach; now a man of independent thought accepts it as a title of honor.

Politics are very dirty with us just now. A man sent to the penitentiary is likely to come out more honest than a man sent to our legislatures. In fact honesty in politics is looked on as a sign of a weak mind. The great thing is to get all the offices and all the emoluments you can lay your hands on. This kind of thing may go on for a while, but it means in the end that the people who continue at it will decline to the condition of willing slaves.

The United States is awaking to the danger but they have a big fight ahead of them before they can break down the entrenchments of years' standing.

We need to take warning while we may and if the Patrons of Industry prove themselves to be the party which will save the country from the lowest form of corruption, they will have deserved more from their country than both the old parties, which are more and more readily accepting the unrighteous motto "To the victors belong the spoils."

Some of the papers in the province are suggesting that the local legislature should be run on Dominion political lines. This looks very much as if the members of the Fredericton Assembly were becoming conscious of a fact of which intelligent people must have long been cognizant, viz.—that there is no question of policy dividing the government and opposition of this province. To separate into two distinct parties, on Dominion lines, might be a means of making up a prettier display to spectators during the session of the legislature, how will it advance the interests of the province?

The abundant wheat crop of Manitoba this year is a cause for thankfulness. It is plain that the prairie province is the place for the farmer. What is now needed is a population to settle the land. The natural increase must be aided by immigration and a government which can propound and foster a policy, which will bring the right kind of immigrants is now wanted. We want in Manitoba, and all Canada, the kind of men who will take up farms, not cheap trash, who must hang around a city like moths around a lamp.

It is a pity that Mr. W. M. Connell and Mr. F. H. Hale have decided to build on King street in wood, but the lateness of the season and the urgency of the building being completed at once, appears to necessitate this. The town council might well consider the question of establishing a brick limit wherein no new buildings could be erected in wood.

Holmes to Stand Trial.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—The county grand jury has indicted H. H. Holmes for the murder of Howard Pictzel. The indictment is in four counts, each of which closes with the allegation of murder in the first degree. In one Holmes is charged with killing the boy with chloroform before burning the body; in another with burning him to death in a stove, and in another with assaulting and murdering him with an instrument unknown; while the fourth charges the murder simply without specifying the manner in which it was committed. As soon as the indictment was returned the prosecutor took possession of it and it is understood that he will ask Governor Matthews for a requisition on the Pennsylvania authorities for Holmes. Coroner Caster will return a verdict of murder in the case of Howard Pictzel, and will charge Holmes with the crime. He says the evidence taken in this county is conclusive, though entirely circumstantial.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The grand jury today found a true bill for murder, against Herman Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, for the murder of Benj. F. Pictzel.

Is Jas. Corbett a Wreck?

Within the past two weeks the two greatest pugilists of the present era have visited the city. Fitzsimmons, who is looking for championship honors, was sized up at Han-lan's Point on Labor Day as a man in perfect physical form and likely to fight the battle of his life Oct. 31 at Dallas, Tex. And on Wednesday Champion Corbett appeared in baseball garb. His muscles were all under cover, and while his general appearance showed him to be of massive proportions, many were amazed at the fallow look in his face, and detected a falling away, in his size. Thus they will not wonder when they read this letter from Philadelphia:

"Friends of Pugilist James J. Corbett in this city are alarmed over a story circulated that the champion boxer is not in good health, and that there is danger of his not being in good condition when he faces Fitzsimmons next month. They know that the Australian will get himself into the best possible condition, and that Corbett will have to be at his best to hope to defeat him. A well-known athlete and boxer of this city, who saw Corbett stripped a few days ago, states that he does not look anything like a well man. This gentleman says that Corbett had fallen away a great deal about the shoulders and upper part of the body. The indications pointed to the champion having been a sufferer for some time and that he would become a victim of consumption."

The big fellow kept his arms in sleeves over the Don, and his actions on the field were remarkably slow when contrasted with his brother Joseph. Foul balls he let the urchins return, and his best gait was a gentle trot. Although invited to the private concert given by show exhibitors in St. George's Hall the same night, he did not accept, and hurried away right after the game. With Joe Corbett he registered at the Rossin House. They were dressed in their gray uniforms and drove together in a hack to and from the baseball game. Their stay in Toronto was thus only a few hours.

Last week Corbett announced that he would commence active training on Tuesday. This was one of a series of notices that were sent out, each one delaying the date upon which the champion would begin his work. The day came, but Jim did not show up at his quarters, and left for an ostensible week's jaunt through Canada.

Steve O'Donnell, who, with McVey and Delaney, was holding the fort at the training quarters is following the example of Corbett and doing no training. He says that he has been ready for some time, but had been waiting for Jim to commence. Mrs. Corbett did not expect her husband back from Toronto before the end of the week. She had heard him speak of another engagement for the following week, but could not say what it was.

No one takes any stock in the talk that the Governor of Texas will stop the fight. Those people down there are willing to bet big money that it will come off. Only recently word was sent to New York to cover the $5000 Al Smith offered to bet, but Smith withdrew the proposition.

Every pugilist of any note whatever calls on John F. Scholes on visiting Toronto with a single exception, and that is Corbett. Asked his opinion about the champion, Mr. Scholes said he always believed Corbett would never meet Fitzsimmons. He had learned on good authority that Corbett was ordered to leave off training as long as possible, owing to ill-health.

Is it possible that gentleman Jim is physically in a deplorable condition? And if so can he conceal it elsewhere as he succeeded in doing while in Toronto?—Toronto World.

Fagin's Kitchen.

This relic of what was formerly one of the most hideous and dangerous of London slums is situated at the bottom (No. 117) of Great Saffron Hill. It is part of a dirty and ruinous old tenement exactly coinciding with the infamous den to which the Artful Dodger led Oliver Twist as a new pal for a first visit from "Greenland." The den has several ominous-looking staircases leading into dark and ill-smelling passages, and plenty of cupboard room well available for thieves' booty. From the outhouses any of the light-fingered gentry could easily have dropped into the street, while the adjacent house, condemned by the London City Council, was easily accessible. The last-named tenement, formerly a haunt of vagrants, with all the conveniences of a thieves' kitchen, had associations of the worst kind, and has not a bit too soon come under the ban of the London parliament. Fagin was a real character, by name Isaac Touch, who, on being raided by the police, was found to possess a peck measure of watches. He had the name for being a confederate in worse crimes than training young thieves and buying stolen property. Kenny Meadows wrote of him:—

Thy face is rough with matted shag;
Foul is thy form, old shrivell'd wretch.
How cunningly you eye the swag,
Harden'd purveyor to Jack Ketch!

EDMANSON, BATES &amp; CO.

Gentlemen.—About three or four years ago I had an attack of Itching Piles. I tried two or three different remedies recommended by druggists as "the best and only cure," etc., etc., but got no relief. About the time I was beginning to despair of finding any relief, with some slight misgivings I bought a box of your pile cure, which I am pleased to say gave me almost instant relief and permanent cure. I consider your Dr. Chase's Ointment a God-send.

A Missing Doctor.

Dr. Labelle, physician at the Keeley Institute, at Fredericton, is missing and the inmates at the institute are at a loss to know what has become of him.

The doctor has been a cocaine eater for several years and on more than one occasion has, under the influence of this drug, wandered away from the institute into the woods.

He was very much under the influence of cocaine on Friday night, and early on Saturday morning was heard moving about the halls of the institute.

When the inmates arose in the morning the doctor was nowhere to be seen. All his clothing, however, except his undergarments, overcoat and silk hat, was found in his room.

He also left behind him the keys of the medical laboratory and a couple of bottles of medicine for a patient to take the following day.

The inmates of the institute searched for him all day Saturday without result and yesterday and today policemen and others have scoured the woods for miles around and have found no trace of him.

Enquiries made at different railway stations have failed to get any information concerning him and the general impression is that he has perished in the woods.

Saturday morning was very cold, and as the doctor was very weak and so thinly clad as indicated, there would seem to be some ground for this impression.

It is said the doctor was worrying greatly of late over financial matters, having been a heavy loser by the investment in the Keeley Institute in Quebec and employers here having been behind in payment of his salary. —Monday's St. John Globe.
