THE ELECTIONS.

This journal, Mr. Blair, and a select few were all who knew that the elections would be on immediately, until the announcement was made on Friday. Some time ago we showed to the attorney general the wisdom of bringing on the general elections, and thus saving the expense and excitement of by-elections in this and other counties, and it is with pleasure that we note he has taken our advice.

Following a custom now pertaining to premiers, Mr. Blair has issued a manifesto to the people of New Brunswick calling on them to support him, and he lays before them many good reasons for doing the same. Certainly, as far as Mr. Blair and his friends are responsible for the discontinuance of government house, the abolition of the legislative council, the abolition of sinecures, and other reforms, they deserve and will get credit. There can be no question that they are entitled to praise for reducing the length of the annual sessions. The government has also been strong in its agricultural policy, and, in our eyes, this alone should cover a multitude of sins.

It is not surprising that Mr. Blair has a sly hit at the personal of the opposition, and his remark that "individual fitness and incapacity to discharge the responsible duties of an executive government must always enter quite largely into the question of confidence in a government which is appealing to you for an expression of your judgment upon its acts" is quite apt. If the present government is as corrupt and incapable a concern as some would have us believe, why is the opposition so disorganized, and so weak? In watching the course of the opposition one cannot but be impressed with the fact that personal antipathy to Mr. Blair, has had more to do with their position, than zeal for the welfare of the province. Reckless charges of individual and collective extravagance and corruption are the stock in trade of all oppositions, in all countries, where governments and oppositions exist.

Hysterical outbursts of such a nature are not likely to cut much of a figure among the independent voters, who demand a policy from the opposition as well as from the government.

THE NEW AND THE OLD.

The world of society is all in a flutter just now over the announcement of the engagement of Miss Consuela Vanderbilt, daughter of the New York millionaire, to the young Duke of Marlborough. Some journals think it is a love match, and there does not appear to be any valid reason why the young couple should not fall in love with each other even if they have the misfortune to be wealthy. Love in a palace may exist, as well as love in a cottage.

The fact of the young duke being on this side of the water recalls to our mind his illustrious progenitor, the first of the name. Every school boy is familiar with his brilliant career as an English general, his exploits at Blenheim and Ramillies. There are some traits in the great general's character which show him to have been a financial as well as a military strategist. He was always on the lookout for an opportunity to better his fortune. James II. put his trust in Marlborough, and looked for fine things from him when he was to meet William of Orange in the field, but, alas! for the unfortunate king—one fine morning before the battle, he could not find the duke, who had quietly crossed the lines in the night, and joined himself to William's fortune. He was wise in his generation. James was defeated and William became king, but the astute general feared a revolution. He wanted to run with the hares and hunt with the hounds. He was found to be in secret correspondence with the exile, James, and was, in consequence, for a while a tenant in the celebrated tower of London. If Marlborough the first had not been great as a general he would undoubtedly have shone as a diplomat and politician. It is said that he fully appreciated the value of money, and that he took more stock in the gold given him for his services than in the titles which his gracious sovereigns were pleased to bestow upon him. Queen Anne eventually degraded the duke, so far as a weak woman was capable of degrading a very strong man, but the name of Churchill never lost its power.

In recent years Lord Raudolph came brilliantly upon the face of the firmament and dazzled all eyes for a moment. Now, the ninth in succession from the original John Churchill, captures a Vanderbilt, a feat likely to bring him the approval of his ancestor, who evidently set a very worthy regard on the possession of lots of money.

TO GO RIGHT AHEAD.

Work of Laying the Sewers Will be Carried on at Once.

An interesting special meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening, to consider the tenders for putting in the sewerage system. The only tender for putting in the complete work was LeBlanc & Ganong, of Moncton, who offered to do the work for $16,780. W. F. Dibblee & Son put in a tender for the supply of pipe, brick work, etc. Connell Bros. and the Small & Fisher Co. gave the same tender for the iron work for man holes, flushing tanks, etc.—2 cents a pound. Hazlehurst of St. John tendered at the same price, and Walter H. Allen offered to supply the work for 1.64 a hundred pounds. The sewer committee recommended the refusal of the Moncton tender on the ground that the town could do the work cheaper. Superintendent Munro estimated it could be done for $11,725. The committee recommended that W. F. Dibblee & Son's tender for the brick work etc be accepted. They were mum on the question of the iron work. The report was taken up section by section, and the first two recommendations of the committee endorsed.

Some discussion arose over the question of the supply of iron.

Coun. Leighton moved that the lowest tender be accepted, which was seconded by Coun. Smith.

Coun. Bailey moved an amendment that the work be divided between the home foundries, if they would so agree, and he found a seconder in Coun. Nicholson. A vote was taken on the amendment resulting in its being carried by the following vote, yeas, Bailey, Nicholson, Arnold, Payson; nays, Leighton, Smith, Carr.

The mayor advised that advantage be taken of the fine weather remaining to commence the work, and this was agreed upon.

The sewer committee was advised to employ C. F. K. Dibblee as surveyor for the work, and Donald Munro as superintendent. The committee will report at next meeting of the council on Monday evening.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Dominion Government has named November 21st as Thanksgiving Day.

To The Electors of The County of Carleton.

GENTLEMEN—Solicited by many of your numbers, the undersigned respectfully offer themselves as candidates for the representation of the county at the coming election of members for the House of Assembly.

If elected, we pledge ourselves that our first consideration shall be the welfare of this county, while prepared to support the government in any measure which, in our opinion, promises to be of benefit to the province.

We believe the policy of the present government has been such as to recommend it to the favorable consideration of the people, and we feel assured that the same policy will be maintained by them in the future, should they be sustained in the present election.

The Agricultural Legislation promoted by the present government is of a character, we believe, to recommend it to the hearty approval of our farmers.

Personally acquainted with, and concerned in the Agricultural, Commercial and Industrial interests of the county, it is to our interests, equally with yours, to further in every way their advancement, and to the accomplishment of this end we promise to exercise our best efforts.

Gentlemen, electors, we respectfully and confidently ask your support.

J. T. ALLAN DIBBLEE,
C. L. SMITH,

A WHITE BARGAIN.

We have made arrangements with our whole saler to manufacture for us a SPECIAL brand of White Shirts. — That "special" indicates that they are of exceptionally good value and can only be obtained through us. They're an Unlaundried White Cotton Shirt, 36 inches in length, double front, back and shoulders—doubly stitched throughout and a three ply pure linen bosom and waistbands—There are three distinct improvements in this shirt over the average 50 cent ones. It has a 12 inch double back and is double stitched both front and back, making them both strong and serviceable. The Bosom is but 10 inches long and therefore out of the way of waist bands and will not push collar and shirt up in the neck every time one sits down. They were made to sell at 75 cents, but we've decided to offer them at 50 cents. They must be seen to be appreciated.

Of course we have "others"—any priced one you want. Also, have value for every 50 cent piece or dollar left with us.

ARE YOU
TO BE

Married or Engaged?

This is a very delicate question, but one that all young men have to decide sooner or later. We don't expect you to answer it in as public a manner as it is asked, but if you are seriously considering the matter, we would respectfully invite you to come in and look over our excellent assortment of Engagement and Wedding Rings. They are an entirely new stock and comprise all the very latest designs. We can supply you with a Marriage License as well. We have also a large and well assorted stock of Wedding Presents in Gold, Silver and Glass. We don't ask for outrageous profits. We are after your trade and will use you right.
