STATE FUNERALS.

The opposition in Parliament had no pleasant duty in objecting to the vote of money to cover the expense of the state funeral of Sir John Thompson. But it was certainly somebody's duty to inquire into the matter. Probably all who benefitted by the affair made their bills good and heavy as the government was the debtor, and, of course, however wrong it may be to cheat individuals, it is no sin to defraud the government.

Twenty-five thousand dollars was the appropriation. The original bills, as sent in, amounted to upwards of $38,000. The undertaker's bill as published in the Ottawa journal was $2,961.62. Some of the items are as follows:—

Removing casket from provincial building to residence of John Pugh and again returning it to provincial building, (all night work,) $100.00; Removing casket from provincial building to St. Mary's cathedral and placing on catafalque, $40.00; Remodeling 2 waggon for conveying flowers, draping same and repainting one, $80.00; State funeral car, ornaments, etc., $1,500.00; Loading and arranging flowers on waggon before provincial building, $10.00; Ten black palls for horses, $150.00; Fourteen pairs knee boots for undertakers, $49.00; Fourteen pairs black overcoats for undertakers, $280.00; Fourteen black silk hats, $56.00; Fifty pairs black kid gloves for clergy and undertakers, $75.00; Fifty hat crepes, $62.50; Erecting temporary building for constructing funeral car, men's time and material supplied, $110.87; Undertaker and 14 assistants, time and service, devoting whole attention to funeral, chief undertaker, 1 day, $25.00; Fourteen assistants, $140.00.

A state funeral is always an expensive affair and in this case we can console ourselves with the remembrance that the service to his country of such a man as Sir John Thompson far exceeded any expenditure the country made for him in life or in death.

But when one considers the innate modesty of the man, his repugnance to display, the thought arises that he would have been the last man to wish such a gorgeous funeral, and the subsequent criticism which, it must have been known, would be inevitable. It all recalls to mind the story in which the proverbial Yankee figures.

Our Yankee friend was attending a funeral of a distinguished citizen. There was much ceremony and delay. Finally the impatient Yankee could stand it no longer, and he remarked to one standing beside him.

"Did you know the corpse?"

"Yes, Sir" was the reply.

"So did I," said the Yankee. "The corpse was a very smart man. And I tell you, neighbor, if the corpse had had the running of this slow one horse country funeral he'd had himself tucked under the ground two hours ago."

No one questions that the late premier was under the circumstances entitled to a state funeral. But had the last honors to his remains been paid as ostentatiously, a regrettable disagreement in Parliament would not have occurred.

THE CHINESE.

"What to do with the Chinese?" is still the question perplexing many inquiring minds.

The last body to deal with the matter, in a public way, is the Presbyterian General Assembly, which has just completed its session in London, Ont.

Dr. Grant, principal of Queens University, presented a report recommending that the government be urged to repeal all legislation discriminating against the Chinese.

He would introduce new legislation based on the report of 1884. Rev. John Buchanan of British Columbia made a speech in which he severely condemned the Chinese whom he characterized as "unclean in persons and manners, and foul in morals."

Dr. Grant contended that which there were certain economic questions involved, still the manner in which the Chinese were treated was unworthy of an enlightened and Christian people. The report and its recommendations were adopted.

No doubt the Chinese question is most perplexing. According to the Christian ideal the Chinaman is a brother, and should be accorded brotherly treatment. This, he does not have. But, as Dr. Grant points out, economic considerations cut some figure in the case, and however much our hearts may yearn towards our Chinese brethren we cannot bring ourselves to regard them as an acquisition to society.

A STORE ROBBED.

Charles M. Raymond's Place Raided by Thieves.

Charles M. Raymond's crockery store at 205 Westminster street, next to the Journal building, was robbed of a large quantity of silver table ware either Saturday night or Sunday night. The police did not learn of the robbery until Monday forenoon and then two detectives were set at work investigating a few clues. When the store was opened for business Monday morning everything was in commotion, showing very plainly that the robbers spent considerable time in the place examining goods and selecting their booty. The robbers were not professionals. The work showed them to be beginners. Men who live by robbery would never think to fool with delicate vases and milk and crockery sets. And they would not stop to take plated ware. Mr. Raymond sells nothing but heavy plate and this to a real live burglar is of no use. In the rear of the store is an alley in the shape of a T, which runs in from Fulton street opposite the entrance to the City Hall. In the rear of the store are several empty cases. They contained crockery once. These are piled high against the east wall of the Journal building. The robbers had arranged to enter the store, and used these cases in their work. Crawling to the top of one pile, they reached a window in the second story. They found it securely fastened, but it did not take long to smash in a pane of glass. The button that held it was turned, and the next instant the robbers were on the inside of the place.

They visited the office, and pulling out all the drawers in the desks, scattered their contents, or such as they did not want, upon the floor. They stole a revolver and a box of cartridges, money and other things from there. They did not tamper with the safe. From a counter opposite they helped themselves to a lot of glass vases. On the right of the main entrance are several cases containing the silver novelties and tackle ware. The cases were opened, and from them plated silver pin cushions, small spoons and other things were taken. The stuff left was in confusion Monday morning. On the shelves back of the cases were piled scores of boxes of spoons, knives, forks, cutlery and fancy goods. Several boxes were taken, but how much Mr. Raymond cannot say. The value of the property gone may reach any figure from $75 to $400. The silver ware taken would have filled a couple of clothes baskets, and how it was removed from the place without someone seeing the robbers is singular. In the rear of the first floor on shelves were scores of milk bowls. The robbers took several of these, and as they were leaving the building dropped a dozen of them, which were found broken at the back door. The indications are that the robbers were supplied with a horse and wagon, and that they made a number of trips to the back door, removing a cartload of crockery, as well as about half the silver ware.

The rear door was found locked Monday morning and, if it was opened to allow the removal of the property, they were very careful to see that it was made secure when they made ready to leave. Had they left it unlocked, the officer on the beat would have discovered it. There were several panel pictures of glass that were found piled up on the store floor Monday morning. They were taken from the counters, but after they were piled up the robbers found that they had all they could carry and left them. Usually Mr. Raymond visits the store Sunday, but this time he omitted his visit. His failure to go to the store leaves the time of the robbery a question which has not been answered by the investigating officers as yet. The place was robbed once before, but not much stock was taken at that time.

[The above extract is taken from the Providence Journal. Mr. Raymond is a native of this country, and a brother to Mrs. R. K. Jones, of Woodstock.—ED. DISPATCH.]

County Council.

In last week's issue THE DISPATCH contained a summary of the proceedings in the county council up to noon on Tuesday, 18th the day of session.

The principle matter dealt with afterwards was the Sargefield case. Sargefield, it will be remembered was committed to the insane asylum. He was allowed to come home, it being claimed that he was all right. He had not been home long before he and his wife had a quarrel. He attacked his wife and inflicted very dangerous wounds with a knife. Dr. Ross of Florenceville attended the injured woman. He put in a bill for $140 to the overseers of the poor for the parish of Brighton, the contention being made that the Sargefields were paupers and unable to meet the charges. Coun. Phillips objected to the parish being saddled with the bill, as the Sargefields has some property, which should be used toward paying the debt. Coun. Hartley moved second by Coun. Gibson that the parish of Brighton pay Dr. Ross $140. Coun. Munro moved seconded by Coun. Lindsay that the amount to be paid by the Parish of Brighton be $100. The amendment was carried. It was also resolved that Dr. Estey of Hartland who assisted Dr. Ross be paid $50.00. The claim of Carr & Walker $72.56 was taken up, and valuator Estey and Ronald being present were heard in reference to valuation of wild land in the county. Mr. Ronald went quite fully into the matter and gave considerable information on the subject. He explained about the notification of the assessors to meet the valuator; that the valuator had verbally agreed with one of the assessors to be present at a meeting appointed by them, of which another assessor was informed in writing, and that all the assessors and valuator were present.

On motion of Mr. Saunders, seconded by Mr. Bragdon, it was resolved that Messrs. Carr and Walker be allowed a refund of taxes for 1893, amounting to $19.80. Of this amount $1.94 is to be charged to Northampton, $13.40 to Brighton, and $4.46 to Peel. And further resolved that the school boards for the several districts be recommended to make proportionate refunds.

CASH FOR WOOL.

The woollen mill was started two years ago as a one set mill. The people of Carleton county were quick to appreciate the advantage of such a factory, and the liberal patronage given it encouraged the company last year to enlarge their operation, and by additional machinery, double its capacity, making it a two set mill. This year they propose to increase the Production and to Reduce the Price of all their goods, but to keep the quality up to the former high standard—and to pay half CASH FOR WOOL and the other half in goods at cash price. We will buy all the wool skins offered. With thanks for the past patronage the company look to the future with confidence that the people of our county will patronize our home mill. We make Cloth, Blankets, Flannels, Shirting, Yarn and all such goods. We also make custom yarn, and card wool into rolls.
