

THE WOODSTOCK DISPATCH. ISSUED WEDNESDAY From the office, 46 Queen Street, Woodstock, N.B.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., NOV. 27, 1895.

FAKE JOURNALISM. When Mr. Hall Caine, the celebrated English novelist was in Philadelphia recently, he went to the prison and saw the murderer Holmes.

There is surely enough of sensationalism in the great papers, without manufacturing news. Journalism is not benefited by such practices as the New York Journal has adopted.

The reporter is often the party, least to blame. His chief sends him out with instructions to do the impossible, and his situation may be at stake on his accomplishing that which he soon learns he cannot accomplish.

But, journalism has indeed come to a pretty low ebb, when its representatives publish that which they know has not a syllable of foundation in fact.

It is often said that old world journalism is slow and heavy. It certainly appears to be governed by some ethics of truth and honor.

The Star Herald Presque Isle, Aroostook Co., has a thoughtful editorial in its issue of the 21st inst, on "The Business Situation." Our contemporary says, "The business situation in Aroostook this season may fairly be said to be an anomaly in the history of the country.

The Star Herald recognizes the gravity of the situation in Aroostook county, but thinks that in time "it will work itself clear." It calls upon wholesale dealers to tide customers in a particular section over a period of temporary stringency, and it adds that a "highly important duty on the part of the farmers is to strain every effort to pay bills as early and rapidly as possible."

It would seem that the farmer of Aroostook is to blame, in a great measure for the tight place in which that community finds itself. He has gone potato mad, and now, we have potatoes selling in Woodstock at a higher price than they bring in Houlton or other Maine towns.

The Quebec Assembly is probably the most conservative of the legislatures of the dominion. The session is now on. A motion to reduce the sessional indemnity to members from $800 to $600, was defeated by a vote of 38 to 21. The leader of the government, Mr. Taillon, and the leader of the opposition, Mr. Marchand, voted with the minority.

There is also a movement on foot in Quebec to do away with the legislative council. The gentlemen of the upper house, in that province do not fancy the idea of being turned out in the cold, but like their fellow councilors of New Brunswick, they will, in turn, accept the inevitable.

Fredericton and Grand Falls each expect to have a pulp mill in the near future. Thus new enterprises are going on but Woodstock is given the go by. Why is it? It is a painful truth that Woodstock business men are not conspicuously public spirited, and they seem to prefer to fight among themselves, rather than build up their town.

Frozen Up. W. H. Murray, who is at the Barker House says that the corporation drive is at Hawshaw, frozen up, and will probably remain there until the ice runs in the spring. Twelve million feet is safe in the booms, and that at Hawshaw amounts to about three millions. The Boom Company in view of the immediate close of navigation, have commenced to take up the shear booms.

The Boy as a Criminal. One of the most fiendish crimes which it is possible for a human being to commit, was perpetrated near Rome, N. Y., last week. An express train was deliberately wrecked, by the rails being so turned that the oncoming train would run into the ditch.

The diabolical plan was too successful. An engineer by the name of Hager, and a tramp, who was stealing a ride, came to their death. A large number of others were seriously wounded. Shortly after the wreck, a detective arrested four boys on the suspicion of having caused the accident. One of them confessed, and implicated his fellows.

Among those who testified at the coroner's inquest held a day or two ago was a "Miss Celia Perrin," says a dispatch "a young lady with whom Hildreth, the leader of the gang of boy-wreckers was very friendly. She testified that Hildreth came to her house yesterday morning and had breakfast and told her how they had wrecked the train. Hildreth told Miss Perrin that they had turned the rails that were loosened so that the train would go into the ditch. The coroner's inquest was adjourned until this evening. The four boys who are charged with committing the crime have all confessed except Bristol, who refuses to say anything. The evidence of the others, however, implicates him, and makes him and Hildreth the leaders of the gang. The boys do not seem to feel any pangs of remorse. Hildreth was executing a song and dance in his cell at the police station. A detective has been secreted in the corridors in which they are confined, and the evidence he has accumulated is corroborative."

There is something appalling in boys displaying such decided criminal tendencies, and, moreover, regarding lightly the suffering and sorrow they have caused.

It is plain that these boys in question were quite old enough to know the difference between right and wrong. The sentence which will be imposed, can scarcely be anything but heavy.

Hands and Ankles raw. For years I have been a great sufferer from itchy skin trouble and salt rheum. My hands and ankles were literally raw. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment allayed the burning, itching sensation. One box and a half entirely cured me. It is also instant relief for chilblains. Henry A. Parmenter, St. Catharines, Ont.

Self-Denial Week. The Salvation Army is all alive and actively engaged in preparing for its annual Self-Denial week, which takes place throughout Canada from November 30th to December 7th, inclusive. Large sums of money have been raised in past years, and it is a wonderful testimony to the Army's development and activity. Each member of the Army, as well as the friends of its many Social institutions, are asked to abstain from all luxuries, and in many cases officers and soldiers have actually determined to do without certain articles of food which are ordinarily considered necessary, in order that by their acts of self-denial they may add financial support to the Army and its many different branches of work. A new feature has been introduced this year, which consists of a prettily designed sack, hundreds of which will be scattered through the country to farmers and others, who will have the opportunity of filling the same with any kind of grain they may feel disposed to give. All the proceeds raised from the sale of the grain to be donated to this fund. The Social operations throughout Canada have been greatly developed during the past twelve months, new Food and Shelters having been opened at Winnipeg and Victoria respectively. As a natural consequence, therefore, the demands upon the Army's funds have increased, and this will require still greater effort to raise a corresponding increased amount during this special Self-Denial week. The total amount aimed at is $25,000.

He was Cooking a Cat. The following peculiar story comes from Portland, Me. The residents of Kool Kiln corners saw smoke issuing from the barn of Lewis Knight and on examination soon found a man dressed in queer costume with long black hair and a beard of several years' growth, sitting over a fire built in the centre of the barn floor, cooking the carcass of a cat. He was brought to this city, but proved a mystery to the police. In the bag he carried were found two cats, on which the man has been living for some time. He is thought to be the wild man of Scarborough marsh, of whom so much has been heard during the past two years. The fellow looks like an Arab, but will not talk.

Dyspepsia, stoppage of water and bowels, fever, worms, rough hair cured by the GRANGER CONDITION POWDER

Jumped And Died.

CHICAGO, November 22.—Fire attended with loss of life broke out at 6.30 o'clock this morning in the seven story building at 25-27 Van Buren street. The fire originated on the fifth floor and the occupants including men women and children, became panic-stricken and made a dash for the stairs, the elevators and windows. Two girls, Nellie Turner and Kittie Landgraf, who seemed terrified with fright, rushed to the Van Buren street windows and despite the cries of the crowd on the street to wait the ladders, they threw themselves headlong into the street, breaking almost every bone in their bodies. They were taken to the hospital, where it was said both would die. A ladder was finally raised and the fireman rushed up just as another girl was jumping from the window.

THE MERRY SLEIGH BELLS. Where the Neatest and Daintiest Things in Pungs are Found.

Dan Grant is a good man for any place to have. He attends strictly to his own business, and lets other people's business alone. In this he is different from many of our townsmen.

Summer and winter he and his efficient crew of men are working early and late, turning out articles, not only a credit to himself, but to the town and county in which he lives.

D. A. Grant & Co. are rebuilding their entire factory. The first storey of the main building is now erected being in dimensions 75x50 feet. There is a solid stone wall on the creek side 78 feet long, 9 1/2 feet in width at the bottom and 3 at the top.

A few weeks ago, Grant's show room was crowded with carriages and wagons. They have all them sold, and now, in their place is a fine display of handsome pungs.

Who does not like a sleigh drive, of a bright winter day, and what a difference it makes to have a smart bright vehicle and nice robes? You can get the latest and best things in pungs, at the most reasonable prices, from D. A. Grant & Co. He has fifty beauties completed. They are finished in the best material of wood and iron, guaranteed to give the utmost satisfaction. This season the correct thing, in pungs is wider in the seat, with wings on the dashboard to protect the occupants from the snow. Grant's pungs are upholstered in plush, moquette and cloth, and the very aesthetic can be suited in old gold. They are furnished with neckyokes for light driving and are fitted up with the celebrated Bailey patent shift poles. Chimes of bells furnish the music for the dandy runners.

A late thing which this firm has on hand are spring pungs which have found much favor in St. Stephen, where the people are up to the latest.

There are to be seen a fine assortment of sleds of all kinds, lumber sleds, long sleds, etc. Whether you want heavy or light, ornamental or useful, or both, you can be suited and suited well. Already Mr. Grant has several orders, from Andover, Kings County, St. George and St. Stephen. Lately he was in the latter place and took a large order for work in the spring. He thinks the people of St. Stephen are more enterprising than our Woodstockers, and says that if they had the country to back them, that we have, they would have a great town.

One Million Wheels.

Nearly 500,000 bicycles have been sold in the United States this year. The increase in production in 1896 has been variously estimated from 50 to 100 per cent. In case the increase should reach the latter figure, the output of bicycles during next year will reach the enormous total of 1,000,000 machines, representing one bicycle to every 65 persons—men, women and children.

These are the words of one of the most prominent bicycle manufacturers in this country, says the New York Press.

Time is money. The bicycle saves both time and money. That is, beyond all doubt, one of the reasons why it has come into such general use.

The bicycle is not a medium of sport. It is a vehicle, and as such it is employed by Americans.

Five hundred thousand—half a million—bicycles manufactured in 1895, and the industry still in its infancy! The figures are almost incredible.

And the bicycle has scarcely begun to grow upon the people. Men and women who never before thought of riding a wheel are thinking of it now. Every man and woman who does not have to perform hard physical labor is beginning to realize that the bicycle will take them out into the pure air of the country. "The indications seem to be that the year 1896 will mark a turning point in the history of bicycle manufacturing," said a leading maker, in discussing the subject. "We need look backward only a few years to find the bicycle simply a toy for the amusement of a very limited number of young men. In fact, until the advent of the safety, the bicycle was looked upon simply as a source of enjoyment, but it was not considered a practical conveyance or a useful vehicle for a man of mature years. The introduction of the safety in 1887 may be considered as the beginning of the bicycle business in this country.

"It is doubtful whether the old high wheel would have ever been considered anything but a source from which pleasure could be derived, but the safety at once gave the word bicycle a new meaning, and when this word is now spoken we think not only of a machine which will carry us safely on a pleasant journey during an afternoon of leisure, but of the steel horse, which so faithfully performs the work required of it by the man of business, the mechanic, who goes to and from his work with ease, and by thousands who derive countless benefits, as well as great pleasure, from the use of the wheel."

The weight of bicycles will probably range from about 19 pounds for track-racing machines to from 22 to 26 pounds for road wheels. On the latter the tires will be heavier, as there is an indication that many riders will prefer tires of larger diameter and thicker tread.

The question of saddles is given more consideration than formerly, and it is quite noticeable that riders are beginning to study this feature as carefully as they have all others pertaining to the bicycle. Saddles which add to the pleasure of cycling by increased comfort are demanded.
