VICTORIA CORNER.

Many people are not aware that this place boasts of probably the oldest factory of the county. Some 40 years ago, Mr. J. W. Boyer started a shoemaking business on a small scale. He made the heavier grade of boots and team harnesses. the heavier grade of boots and team harnesses. By continuing to devote himself to business, Mr. Boyer extended his business rapidly. About ten years ago a company was formed under the name of J. W. Boyer & Co., continuing the wholesale business which the head of the firm first inaugu-rated between 25 and 30 years ago The firm now employ some twenty hands, and pay about $8000 a wear in wages. They tan their own leather and a year in wages. They tan their own leather, and confine their business to heavy hand made boots, and heavy team harness. Their output goes into every town and county in the province.

a prominent figure upon our streets this last lew days. Perhaps there is quite an attraction. Mrs. S. D. Rose, and Mrs. R. Haughan returned Wednesday from a few days_visit to Woodstock, as sober as could be. I doubt if it would have been so if the better half of the two ladies had been on the same trip. I'm sure it wouldn't if I went with them.

AVONDALE

Avondale Picnic very narrowly escaped being one of the most pleasant things of the sort this season has seen. George F. Burpee, Sam Barter, Enoch Laskey, George Dewitt, Edwin Sherwood and other men had been at a great deal of trouble to make a good time a sure thing, a merry-goround had been made and set up, boat races, bicycling races and foot races. had been arranged as well as other sports. The Centreville Band was present, and a great crowd that no man could was present, and a great crowd that no man could number gathered from all quarters of the County. But the rain, the dampest rain of the season came along about supper time and drove the whole crowd from the grounds. They fled in twos and threes and dozens to private houses, barns, and tents. The people of Avondale were courteous and hospitable. They opened their houses gladly to the throng. Nothing got very wet but the crops, and they were not hurt at all. After supper the rain let up and the crowd reassembled but a the rain let up and the crowd reassembled but a second shower drove them to cover again. Early in the evening a young son of Rev. J. B. Morgan was knocked down by a horse and had his arm broken. In the afternoon Mr. Laskey was upset from a canoe and got a ducking. Frank Culber-son rushed heriocally to the rescue with another boat and he too was turned out into the unbriny deep. All hands got ashore safely. It is a rank shame that so good a picnic should have been spoiled, but it will not be forgotton that the Avondale people did their share and more too, and they can count on a good crowd another time.

NORTHAMPTON.

The farmers have finished having and have commenced harvesting. The season owing to the protracted drought was very favorable for having protracted drought was very lavorable for haying but the crop was very light. In fact most of the farmers in taking stock will be rather surprised to see how light hey have after finishing. The grain crop however is going to be good. Elaborate preparations are being made for the wedding of one of our popular young ladies next Wednesday, the occasion of which I hope to notice further in this column at a later date. Miss Tailor of South Newburg a very capable teacher has assumed charge of the school at Central Northampton for the ensuing term.

The basket picnic which was announced to be held on August the 6th, on the beautiful grounds of Mr. Alfred Dibblee along the river banks, failed to materialize on account of rain and was accord-ingly postponed until Monday. Being favored with a fine day, a large number of people were in at-tendance from Woodstock, Richmond, Plymouth, Pembroke and elsewhere as well as our own repre sentation, and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Swinging, croquet, and boating on the river was the order of the day. After refreshments were served, the crowd was treated to vocal and instruserved, the crowd was treated to vocal and instru-mental music by the Messrs. Reed of Plymouth, and others, Miss Dibblee having kindly lent her organ for the occasion. Miss Stapleford of Lowell, Mass., an elocutionist of no mean ability, also con-tributed largely to the success of the affair by her recitations, which were frequently applauded. The crowd dispersed about eight o'clock, hoping to be remembered on another occasion of the same kind. Miss Marion Dibblee, Mr. Warren Bull and the other members of the committee are to be con-gratulated on the whole for the general success of the undertaking. the undertaking.
