HARTLAND.

The mill above the village closed down on Friday, having sawn all the lumber in the dam. The recent rain caused a big flow of water and a crew of about fifty men was at once sent up to bring down the drive which was hung up last spring. All the lumber in the stream will no doubt be brought down which amounts to about two and a half millions and work in the mill will be again resumed.

A temperance concert was held in Burt's hall on Monday evening last under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Although the evening was rather unpleasant on account of the rain, still the hall was well filled with an attentive audience. Music was furnished by the surplus choir, of which the village may be justly proud. The members of this choir are:—Misses Lena Shaw, Bessie Burt, Addie Shaw, Ella Campbell, Lizzie Boyer, Estella Miller, Etta Porter, Bertie McAdam, Bertha Thornton, Bertie Tracy, Messrs. Edmund Morgan, Wm. Tracy, Arthur Estabrooks. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. S. H. Shaw, and a very interesting programme was carried out. The dialogue, "Its best to mind your own business," was an interesting portion of the programme, all the parts being well taken. The meeting was closed by singing the temperance doxology.

Now that the summer season has past and the bulk of the harvest has been gathered, we would feign gather some idea of the future prospects in this county for the business men, lumber operators and farmers. Among the latter a feeling of discontent at the prospect of the prices for their crops seem to be universal. When a hard working and industrious man of the soil meets a trader and is offered 15c. per bushel for oats and finds that his hay mow is scarcely half full, that he must sacrifice a part of his stock in order to winter the remainder, this with money to be raised for the machinery purchased will drive him to the money lender who crowds him at 8 p. c. not very encouraging to be sure. The trader having his bills to meet must press the farmer for payment and the lumber operator who with part of his logs hung up must again face his suppliers with empty pockets and tell the men that he can only give very low wages as men are so plenty and anxious to get their winter supplies which can only be had by adding the inevitable 10%. So that although farmers as a rule can exist here yet those having bills to meet must be forced to the money lender to keep their head above water. The strong competition from the upper provinces completely shuts out our producers and they must be content to eke out an existence and carry over if possible floating paper.

Phillips upon the road and by threats compelling him to hand over all the money he had upon his person, which amounted to six or seven dollars. CHRONIC HEADACHE.

The change in my Mother's condition marvellous.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a Boon.

MONTREAL, August 29th, 1895.

GENTLEMEN:—There is such a change in my mother's health that I cannot re-strain myself from writing you. She suffered for years past with a chronic headache, accompanied with a disordered stomach. She was weak and irritable, and we thought she was going into a decline. For three weeks she has been taking a course of Scott's Sarsaparilla, which was recommended to her by Mr. McGale, Druggist, Montreal. Her headache is now but a memory, her appetite is good, and she has gained five pounds in weight in twelve days. She is a different woman, and I feel that you, in God's hands, have been the means of restoring her to health. I shall always recommend Scott's Sarsaparilla to sufferers from head or digestive troubles. Thanking you again, I close.

Yours sincerely,

Hortense Gavilieri.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract, pleasant to the taste, and is taken in small doses. It is the finest remedy for disorders of the stomach and liver, palpitation, scrofulous sores, eczema and skin diseases arising from impurities of the blood. It builds up the weak, the strong it maintains in health. $1 of all druggists.

Brashear Beats the Town.

The town of Woodstock figured in a law suit last week, and they didn't come out of it as well as they wished or expected.

W. M. Brashear of the Home Comfort Range Co. was arrested in town a few days previously on the charge of selling, or canvassing for the sale of ranges within the limits of the town, without taking out a license. Mr. F. B. Carvell represented the town in the trial before Police Magistrate Dibblee, and Mr. Stephen B. Appleby appeared on behalf of the defendant. A number of witnesses were examined for the prosecution and for the defence.

The substance of the case is summed up in the magistrate's remarks in dismissing the information. He said that the question largely hinged on whether W. M. Brashear was in charge of the business. The information was based on the supposition that defendant was the main man in the business as far as the town of Woodstock is concerned. It appeared from the evidence that this was not altogether the case. In fact, it was proved that Mr. Brashear's brother did the negotiating for the ware room and other business which should fall on the head of the concern.

It would seem that the ware room hired by him, was not open at all times, but rather used for the purpose of putting in goods, for re-shipment to other parts of the county. Under these circumstances defendant had a perfect right to say what he liked about his goods, without being held responsible for canvassing for his goods within the town of Woodstock. According to Mr. John Williamson's evidence, Mr. Brashear, at the instance of Mrs. Williamson came to his house, and she asked him if he would sell her a range. He had a right to do that, it was not a violation of the town by-law. Defendant said he could not do business in town. As for acts performed by other agents, the evidence did not show that the defendant was responsible. According to the evidence of J. S. Leighton, jr., defendant asked for the license for himself. In his evidence Mr. Leighton admitted that the license by-law had been amended since Mr. Brashear made his application. It is clear that he signified his intention of taking out a license, provided the town would grant him the license, under that section of the by-law referring to his business. That clause reads as follows: "for license for any person to engage in the occupation of a commercial traveller or for the vending or canvassing for the sale of any kind of goods or chattels, $3 per day, $4 per week, $6 per month and $8 per year." He was of the opinion that at the time that was the section, Brashear had a right to demand a license under it. After this application was made, the above clause was amended, by striking out the words "vending or canvassing for the sale of any kinds of goods or chattels." Another section was made to include these words, reading before the change, "For license to persons to vend or canvass for the sale of any other article or articles not otherwise enumerated, in this law, $10 per day, $40 per week, $80 per month, and $100 per year." At the time Brashear applied, this latter section could not possibly apply to him. It must have had reference to some extraordinary cases. He (Mr. Dibblee) agreed with Judge Palmer who in a somewhat similar case, decided that a man having applied for a license under a certain clause, the clause could not be changed, in order to shut out his case, after he made the application. Under these circumstances, if he made a conviction he was certain it would be upset by the court above which would certainly think he was lacking in judgment. He then declared the case dismissed.

Cold Storage.

If it was not for cold storage on a small scale, the Fish Market would not have made the name, that it now has. It is by keeping a refrigerator, and placing the new arrivals from the salt water, within it that the excellence of the fish they supply to customers is attained. There are now on hand, something special, in the way of frozen mackerel and salmon. The usual supply of haddock and cod always in stock. This firm has just placed a large order with the firm of Boulter & Morehouse, the celebrated dealers in canned finnie haddies, of Centreville, N. S., for a supply of boneless fish. These fish are put up in five pound boxes suitable for family trade. THE DISPATCH has an opportunity of examining the sample and a more attractive article in preserved fish has never come to this town. In a day or two the public will have an opportunity of testing. The Fish Market can be reached by telephone. It is opposite Grant & Birmingham's carriage factory.
