RICHES OF THE KLONDIKE.

A Miner Tells of the Vast Wealth That is to Be Found There.

"I consider that the gold fields in the Yukon district are 50 per cent. richer than any discovered in the world," said A. Buckley, a miner who has been in the Klondike region for five years. He told interesting facts to a New York Advertiser reporter about the country where gold has been found in such paying quantities.

"It requires work to get this gold out," he continued, "although it is placer mining. The Klondike is no place for a lazy person, and for one so unfortunately constituted, I would advise him not to think of trying that cold climate. At times the thermometer is 62 deg. below zero, and, of course, work is almost impossible. The miner has to remain within his cabin and wait until the cold abates. I have tried to work when it was 62 deg. below, but I gave it up. My lungs are all right, but I experienced a difficulty in breathing that warned me to go in. I have been told that the thermometer has reached 70 and 72 deg. below zero, but during my five years' stay I have never experienced weather so cold as that. It takes a healthy person to stand the climate and the hardships incidental to the country. And yet these hardships are magnified. The necessary thing is to have plenty of provisions, and as many companies are being organized in California and Seattle to transport outfits to Dawson City, I do not think there will be much suffering this coming winter. I left the Klondike two months ago, and I expect to return in March."

"Which is the best way to go to Dawson City?"
"I prefer, by all odds, the route through Chilkoot pass, because it is quicker and not so expensive. To go by the Yukon boats means a long trip of nearly 1400 miles and often great delay. The ice frequently packs the mouth of the Yukon river and delays boats for weeks. I hear that they are going to charge one $300 or $350 passage on the boats via the Yukon. Now, an outfit can be purchased for that amount, and it costs only about $100 to reach Dawson City via the pass. It seems to be more difficult to go over the mountain, but, in reality, it is not. After crossing the mountain one can build his own boat out of logs and can reach Dawson City in a month or three weeks by floating down the river. To go by the Yukon means two or three months. I expect to arrive in St. Michael's before March, and get over the pass by March 1. I will build a boat and wait for the ice to break in the river."

"While in St. Michael's I saw some newspaper people. One was a woman. She was going to Dawson City via the Yukon river. I guess she will get there all right."
"Are women wanted there?"

"Yes, women who are industrious can make money in any of the mining camps cooking. Miners pay $4.50 a day merely for their meals, and a woman who starts a little restaurant can clear from $40 to $50 a day. There are some women there with their husbands, and they get along as well as could be expected in such a climate. It matters not how many should go they find something to do, either as cook, waitress or a hundred and one other things. The stronger and healthier they are the more work they can do and the more money they can earn. As it is now the miners have to do their own cooking and housekeeping, such as it is."

"How much can a miner make a day digging for himself?"
"I have by myself washed out $70, $80 and $100 a day. Of course, that cannot be done every day. But the soil is so rich with gold one can soon wash out a small fortune. Generally two miners work together, because it is more convenient, and one is needed to haul on the windlass. You see, we have a windlass even in placer mining, but it is not large. Before beginning to wash, the ground has to be burned because it is frozen. Wood is piled on it and then set on fire. A miner must have a pick, a shovel, a pan, and what we call a 'rocker.' Those who work for wages are paid $15 each a day, but this does not include meals and lodging. I know some young men who have taken from the Klondike modest fortunes of $50,000 and $70,000, and instead of investing it so as to have an income at the end of the year they spent it all, and returned to the diggings to begin again. That is the trouble with many young miners—they cannot stand prosperity. One man, Webber, took his gold to San Francisco and occasionally threw nuggets to the oys on the street. It makes some half insane to strike it rich."

"Would you advise more people to go to the Klondike?"

"We have room for all who come, and any one who has energy can succeed. As I said, it is no place for a lazy man or woman. It is a rich region, and the idea that all the gold is on the Canadian side is wrong. There is just as much in Alaska and that part of the Yukon on the American side. The possibilities of that region have not been fathomed. If companies are organized they can go there and by working the low grade gravel make millions. The low grade gravel there would be considered high grade in other gold coun-

Laxa-Liver PILLS

Read what people say. Here it is. Miss S. LAWSON, Moncton, N. B., says: "They cured me of constipation and sick headache."
Mr. H. JAMES, St. Nicholas Hotel, Hamilton, Ont., says: "They are a pleasant, sure and quick cure for constipation, dyspepsia and sick headache."
Miss M. E. HICKS, South Bay, Ont.: "Laxa-Liver Pills are excellent for sick-headache, causing no pain or griping."
Mrs. JOHN TOMLINSON, Hamilton, Ont.: "They are a perfect cure for even the severest headache."

tries. The output of gold from the Klondike is bound to increase because capital is going there to work systematically. I would not advise any one to start there before spring."

"How about the long days and nights?"
"Three months in the year it is day all the time, but it is never night all the time. In the winter the nights are long, but we have five hours of light by which we can work. Of course it is not sun light, but we can see and it gives us a chance to do something and mark the division between day and night. After a while we get used to the peculiar light there, and think nothing of it."

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

The Bobceagon Independent is a paper which displays lots of originality. Reverence may not be truthfully said to be the strong-point of the "Bob Ind." In the last issue it attacks Pullman, of Pullman Car Fame, some time dead, deceased, non est comatibus, etc. Here are some extracts from an editorial in the Bob Ind. on Mr. Pullman:

The impression, and it is probably correct, is that Pullman left behind him a fortune of forty millions of dollars. Could Pullman have honestly earned that forty millions of dollars? Could he have given to those from whom he extracted that forty millions anything approaching an equivalent? If he did not, then he stole that forty million from the laborer he employed or from the people he defrauded. It is generally understood, though probably mistakenly so, that North America is a Christian country, and one of the fundamental principles of Christianity is that the rich cannot enter heaven. If the rich do not go to heaven the present position of Pullman must be very unpleasant. Dives, the rich man, in great pain and agony outside, and Lazarus, the poor man, enjoying himself and having a high old time inside, is a story in which every true and thoughtful Christian cannot fail to have full belief. Poor Pullman! Next winter, no matter how low the thermometer is below zero, and how cold the office, this journal, when it thinks of Pullman, will regard the temperature with satisfaction. The hire of Pullman's laborers, kept back by fraud, made up a large part of the forty millions, and the cries of those laborers are now being heard against him. We ought all to be sorry for Pullman. Does not Christianity—to say nothing of common sense and economic principles,—teach us that we should make an effort to prevent people risking their souls hereafter by accumulating millions of money. The plan is very simple—limit the power to leave property by will to a certain amount, say a hundred thousand dollars, and all above that amount to go into the public treasury. That would end the business. Nobody would go on accumulating millions when they know that at death the money would go back to the people."

I am amused at hearing opulent merchants of this town talk about being poor. You will hear them say "We are such a poor people in Woodstock," and, "we are too poor to do this and that." Now, what absolute downright lying that is. A man is not entitled to be called poor who has a large house, everything comfortable in his house, no heavy debts, and a prosperous business. He may not be exactly rich, but he is certainly not poor. There are poor men in Woodstock. They are the men who live on a dollar a day, and less. They can, with reason, call themselves poor, but the well-to-do merchant or business man who says he is poor must think people who hear him are downright fools. A great many people are poor when they are asked to give, they are seldom poor when they want something new for their own comfort. I know men in Woodstock who talk about being poor, and yet have lots of mortgages out and are reaping good incomes from the interest thereon. I don't know which is the more disgusting,—the really poor man pretending he is rich, or really well-to-do man making a poor mouth. And we have more than our share of well-to-do people who talk about how poor they are. Bah! poverty would kill them!

In looking over an exchange I find an article on "Ironical Ifs," and these which I am quoting strike me as pretty good.

If kissing went out of fashion no girl would care to be considered stylish.

If men were built like pianos there would be more square and upright people in this wicked world.

If a man has the right stuff in him it is bound to come out. That's what makes some men's noses so red.

If a woman would always write the postscript first it would save her the trouble of writing the letter.

LA GRIPPE SCOURGE.

Who has not Been a Victim?—Who has not had Just the Experience of Mr. Curtis?—Who may not Have the Relief South American Nervine Afforded Him?

"As a result of a severe attack of la grippe I suffered greatly from weakness and loss of appetite. I saw testimonials of the curative powers of South American Nervine and determined to give it a trial for my case. Purchased it, and almost immediately began to improve. My strength returned to me very rapidly. When I had taken three bottles I had developed a voracious appetite. I am as well to-day as ever I was, and am safe in saying that I can attribute it to South American Nervine, and no words of mine in recommending it could be too strong." C. J. Curtis, Windsor, Ont. 20 YEARS OF BONDAGE

Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills Loose the Shackles of Constipation and Stomach Disorders.

In summing up the causes of human misery it will be found that by far the greatest sources of disease originate in derangement of the Stomach and Bowels. People will abuse their stomachs and neglect the calls of nature till they bring on themselves her vengeance. To get back to nature's paths, to have the Stomach and Bowels once more fulfilling their function properly, to clear the system of all the results and consequences of poisons accumulating and circulating in the Blood is the work of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Thos. Miller, Lucknow, Ont., says that he was afflicted with Stomach Trouble and Constipation for about 20 years, during which time he tried almost everything he heard of, but to no purpose. Mr. H. Day, the popular druggist, sent him a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The first dose he took did him good, and they have proved so effective in his case that he recommends them to all those afflicted as he was. These Pills may be had of all Dealers at 25 CENTS A BOX.
