AWAY DOWN EAST.

From east to west people have heart trouble. This causes violent headaches, neuralgia, nervous and prostrations. Says Mrs. Somers, of Moncton, N. B.: "I tried many remedies but never found anything to give me such prompt relief as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done. I suffered from the above symptoms, but now gladly testify to the cure these wonderful pills have made in my case, and I hope all sufferers will try them."

The humble enjoy continued peace, but in the heart of the proud is envy and frequent indignation.

Wicklow.

The farmers in this locality have about completed their "hay-making," harvesting will soon be coming on. The camp meetings at Robinson's Mills, are quite an attraction at present, a number of the elderly ladies and gentlemen attend through the week; and the young people go in full force on Sunday. Rev. Earnest Smith, gave a lecture in the Methodist church last Friday Aug. 6th, on Nationalities and Genealogies of N. B.; The lecture was very instructive and interesting. Mrs. W. Hopkins and son and Miss Lily Morley of Waltham Mass, returned to their homes last week. They have been rusticated at Mr. Albert Olmsteads. Mrs. Thomas Turney and daughter, arrived here, last Friday, they will spend the rest of the summer with her parents. Misses Myrtle Fowler and Ella Hay were visiting their aunt Mrs. Squires last week, while there they took a trip up the river to Perth and Andover. Mrs. Robertson and children of St. John are spending the summer with her mother Mrs. Samuel Gallop. Our "school marm's" got to work again last week. Miss Helen Hutchinson has charge of the school here. Miss White has charge of the Upper Wicklow school. We hope the Wicklow Band boys, will not allow their instruments to get rusty. They should practise often now that they have spare time.

PROVIDENCE THANKED.

It is with pleasure that I recommend B. E. B. for the cure of indigestion and impure blood. I had tried many medicines but receive no benefit until I thank Providence, I was advised B. E. B. and it was with perfect success.

MRS. WM. LOCKE, Oshawa, Ont.

Bath.

During the last few days dogs have been playing havoc among the sheep of Johnville and vicinity. It seems that they are aware of the fact that they must pay taxes or quit. But before they do they evidently intend to have satisfaction. On Wednesday last John Mahoney and Cecilia Hollerin both of Johnville were united in holy matrimony by Rev. Father Murray. The young couple being very popular received many presents and congratulations. Cornelius Gallagher of Woodstock has been here this last week or so visiting his relatives and friends.

The Rainforths, a travelling show, appeared in Phillip's new hall here on Thursday and Friday evenings. The show was well patronized and the people satisfied. Mrs. T. Lynch who has been here for the last few weeks is at present in St. John but will return to Bath. On Sunday night last a terrific thunder and lightning storm passed over this town; but further than having frightened the inhabitants no other damage has been reported. William Smith formerly of Upper Kent has established himself in a brand new blacksmith shop near Bohan Bros. warehouse.

A number of our prominent young men are at present agitated over the recent gold findings in different parts of the world and if discussing the matter would take them to the discoveries they would all go. As it is now there is more talk than activity about the matter. UNDOUBTEDLY THE BEST. GENTLEMEN.—I wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has proved a wonderful remedy in my family. We would not be without it for twice its price. I say it is the best, not merely one of the best—but the best medicine ever brought before the public for summer complaint or diarrhoea, either in children or adults. JOHN UNDERHILL, License Commissioner, Strathclair, Ont.

A Questionable Pedigree.

Newrich.—"I'm going to plant a lot of shade-trees around my house. What sort is the best, do you think?" Bunsom.—"The shadiest kind of a tree I ever saw was that family tree of yours that you showed me the other day."

SEVERE HEADACHE CURED.

DEAR SIRS,—Being troubled with a severe headache I was advised by a friend to try Laxa Liver Pills. I only used half a bottle, and have not since suffered from the complaint. They seem to be a perfect cure."

Easily Explained.

Mrs. Whiffett.—"What does the poet mean when he says, 'I love to sit before the fire, and watch the figures in the flames?'" Mr. Whiffett.—"He must be thinking of the insurance."

Youth is Out of Date.

There is no mistake about it! To be young to be in the first faint flush of premiere jeunesse is no longer either admirable or enviable. The fashionable age for a successful society woman in London now is between 30 and 40, says the London correspondents of the Chicago Chronical. A man to be thoroughly appreciated in that charmed circle known as "the best set" can range in years from 35 to 50. Just at present the doctrine of middle age is being preached, and from the inmost centres of Mayfair exclusiveness to the outer circles of rank bohemianism the men and women who are the most popular are those who have "lived."

I don't know why or wherefore this strange inversion of fancy has occurred. Somebody says because the young men and girls of the present day are older and more world worn than the men and women who have passed the first stages of real youth. Certain it is that the conditions of life at this end of the century are not calculated to keep the spring time fresh in the hearts of his girls and boys. The doctrine of middle age is being preached with exceeding vehemence at two of the most fashionable theatres in town—at the St. James' Mr. Piner's "Princess and the Butterfly" or the "Fantastics" is pursuing its erratic career with immense success, while Charles Wyndham at the Criterion is personifying "The physician," by Henry Arthur Jones, with unflinching cleverness. In both these plays (studies of social life each of them) the chief interest centres about men and women who have left the "white muslin" stage and crept out to the once-dreaded precipice of maturity.

And it is in fashionable real life as it is within the artificial glamour of the stage. The women of whom we hear the most in London have certainly no longer any claim to be considered young. They are frankly middle aged, and they seem to glory in it. There is the Countess of Warwick—pass we would have dubbed her in other times. She is still beautiful, but he who runs may read her age in DeBrett's Peerage. Then there is that still lovely dowager, the Countess of Dudley, a grandmother, but with as many moths fluttering about the light of her blue eyes as would satisfy many a debutante's heart. She is going to marry again, so they say, and she is still a beauty. Lady De Gray is another instance of the apotheosis of middle age. The most-talked-about woman of her time is this tall countess, and one of the most envied. She holds the future as well as the past of Italian opera in London in the hollow of her slender, aristocratic hands. What she says or suggests at Covent Garden Opera House "goes," and when she is displeased the very goods tremble.

I OFTEN WONDER

If a fellow thinks he can't be well dressed without a very expensive suit of clothes on. Don't you know that it does not require so much cash as good taste to dress a man. Take a piece of cloth selected with a proper regard to a man's complexion and form, give it to a tailor of judgment, and you will have just what you need to set you off. I have the Largest Stock of Cloths in town, and I am the tailor of judgment. Come to me and I will apply the principles of art and good taste toward decorating your person.
