Opportunity of a Lifetime.
She had just returned from a visit to Milwaukee, and something had happened to displease her.
"The fact of the matter is," she said, "we get swindled in this town and haven't sense enough to know it."
"You must have run across a bargain somewhere," he suggested, for he knew her failing.

"Bargain!" she exclaimed. "Why, I tell you, William, we don't know where to shop to make money. Do you remember that last white shirt I bought you?"
He did. He would have said he did even if he didn't, but it so happened this time that he did, for it had given him considerable trouble in one way and another.
"Well," she exclaimed, "I paid just $1 for that shirt in Chicago, and I saw an exact duplicate of it at a marked-down sale in Milwaukee for 98 cents."
"Why didn't you go on to St. Paul?" he asked, wearily. "Perhaps you could have got the same thing for 94. Or Winnipeg might have given it to you for 91. One has to go after bargains, you know."
She wasn't quite sure whether he was making fun of her, but she felt that it was possible, and refused to continue the subject in consequence.—Chicago Post.

One Honest Man.
DEAR EDITOR.—Please inform your readers, that if written confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy.

The Queen's Whiskers.
The captain of a regiment stationed at Natal, when paying his company one day, chanced to give a man a Transvaal half crown, which, as one naturally expects, bears the image and superscription of President Kruger.
The man brought it back to the pay table and said to the captain:
"Please, sir, you've given me a bad half crown."

The officer took the crown, and without looking at it rang it on the table, and then remarked:
"It sounds all right, Bagster; what's wrong with it?"
"You luke at it, sir," was the reply.
The captain glanced at the coin, saying:
"It's all right, man; it will pass in the canteen."
This apparently satisfied Bagster, who walked off, making the remark:
"If you say it's right, sir, it is a' right; but it's the first time I've seed the Queen w' whiskers."

How many people are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused from catarrh or cold in head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighbours. There is one sure cure for Catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 25 cents.

Be Watchful and Learned.
Recently a small boy, a real boy, who chases cats and wears out his clothes and slams the door, showed that he had rare ability in solving the problems and answering the questions that so frequently come into a boy's life.

Near the house was a tall maple tree, and the boy announced, late in the summer, that the tree measured thirty-three feet.
"How do you know?" he was asked.
His answer was, "I measured it."
"Did you climb it?"
"Why, no," the boy said, with surprise; "I measured the shadow."
Some one near him made the comment that shadows differ in length. He said:
"Yes, but twice a day the shadows are just as long as the things themselves. All summer I have been trying to get the height of that tree. I drove a stick into the ground, and when the shadow of the stick was just as long as the stick, I knew the shadow of the tree would be just as long as the tree. I measured it, and it was just thirty-three feet."

Dr. Chase Cures Backache.
Kidney trouble generally begins with a single pain in the back, and in time develops in Bright's Disease. People troubled with stricture, impediments, stoppage of water, or a frequent desire to urinate at night, will find Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a blessing. Read the wonderful cures in another column. One pill is a dose, and if taken every other night will positively cure kidney trouble.

In a Dublin Court.
A comical tragedy was enacted in the Roll's Court on Wednesday. Mr. Ronan, Q. C., cross examining a witness in his best nisi prius form, asked in severest tone, "Do you believe it, yourself?" and, repeating the question with staccato emphasis, demanded a "yes" or "no" answer while he turned his back triumphantly on the witness in his usual manner. A response came from an unexpected corner. The crier, who sat in a box at the back of the court, and seemingly woke up, struck with the notion that counsel was addressing him, blurted out, "Believe what?" The court was convulsed with laughter. The master of the rolls, however, would not see the joke; he dismissed the crier on the spot.—Dublin Freeman.

Big and Little.
A writer in the Nineteenth Century, Mr. Havelock Ellis, has cruelly demolished one of the consolations of little men which finds expression in the proverb, "Good stuff is put up in small bundles." He takes up the case of 341 notable persons and finds that 74 of these are of medium height, 142 taller and 125 shorter than the average. Among the big fellows are Burke, Burns, Carlyle, Goethe, Cromwell, Darwin, Fielding, Lincoln, Raleigh, Scott, Peter the Great, Thackeray, Washington, Mollere, Von Molke, Julius Caesar, Huxley, Ben Johnson, Ruskin, Tennyson and Wordsworth; in fact, the list, not only in number but in quality, is an extremely formidable one. The mediums include Beaconsfield, Gladstone, Dickens, Wellington, Browning, Wesley, Bacon and Alexander the Great, and the "shorties" Kant, DeQuincy, Napoleon, Nelson, Gibbon, Macaulay, Milton, Dryden, Gray, Goldsmith, Spencer, Mozart, and the three seamen, Drake, "Blake and mighty Nelson." On the whole, we are forced to the extremely commonplace conclusion that stature and genius have no relation whatever, which is what most of us thought before we read the list.

Grand Prize Offer.
As an inducement to smokers of our celebrated "Get There" cigarettes, we offer the following list of premiums, same to be given in exchange for the coupons enclosed with each package:
For ten packages, a doctor's prescription.
For twenty-five packages, a serviceable cane.
For fifty packages, a pair of spectacles.
For one hundred packages, another cane.
For five hundred packages, an invalid chair.
For one thousand packages, man to wheel it, or month at sanitarium.
For two thousand packages, richly embossed, silver name-plate for coffin.

Special grand prize for anyone showing sufficient vitality and industry to consume five thousand packages of our celebrated "Get There" cigarettes: - - - - - one good double X funeral, with hearse and two carriages for relatives, and white gloves for pall bearers. One name plate as above—good substantial coffin, and burial lot in our own Get There Cemetery, patronized by many of the first families. Last and full particulars on application.—Whiffen & Dye, M'rs.

Opinions Differ.
Jack.—"Let me shake your hand, dear boy; this is one of the happy days of your life."
George.—"You're too previous, old man; I am not to be married until to-morrow."
Jack.—"That's what I say. This is one of the happy days of your life."

THE "BIG" FOUR.

A Quartette of Remedies that are Effecting Wonderful Cures.
"I was sick for three years," says James Simpson, of Newcomb Mills. "I tried various alleged patent cures and several boxes of a certain pill which has been greatly cracked up. I got no relief. Then I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since I have been able to work every day and feel like a new man. Your pills alone cured me at a cost of 25c."
"I have been subject to severe colds every fall and spring," says Miss Hattie Delaney, of 174 Crawford street, Toronto. "I used many cough medicines, but none cured me until at a cost of 25 cents I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine."
"My husband was troubled with the worst kind of piles," writes Mrs. Jane Potts, of Meyersburg. "He was often unable to work. Since using your Chase's Ointment he is completely cured. It is truly worth its weight in gold instead of the price you charge, only 60 cents."
"I bought a box of your Catarrh Cure for 25 cents at Mr. Boyle's drug store here," says Henry R. Nicholls of 176 Rectory street, London, Ont. "I am thankful to say it cured me."

Outwitting a Store Detective.
A detective in a well-known retail store is engaged in the mental process of kicking himself whenever he thinks of a certain transaction which took place last week. At a time of day when the store was crowded the detective, who was keeping a sharp lookout for evil doers, was approached by a well-dressed, intelligent-looking man, who informed him that he was employed as detective in another store, and had followed a shoplifter from his firm's store to the present place, where they would find her at the glove counter stealing gloves.
"Let her alone," said the strange detective, "and when she loads up I will follow her home, and we can then make a big haul."
Consent was given to this plan, and the shoplifter stole $200 or $300 worth of goods unmolested. Then she went out, followed by the strange detective. This was the last ever seen of the pair, and the store detective wonders how on earth he was duped so easily.—Philadelphia Record.
