As none of the former correspondents of this place have ever described the situation of Highgate I will try to do so, for the benefit of those who have not had the pleasure of visiting here.

Now as near as I can tell it is somewhere between Hartland and Cloverdale and is mostly surrounded by woods. It is very pleasant in summer but "Oh so lonesome in winter," so the girls say. It is also quite handy to Rockland in fine weather. The boys in this, and near vicinity who are home from the drive are looking fine, s clude they fared better than the men in olden times, when in place of food the boss would give them a stick and pointing to some rabbit tracks say, you have an hour to get your fill.

Wm. Jackson of Twin Mountains, N. H. paid a

Choked to Death.

Thomas Penwarden, who it is reported lives near Orono with his son, Richard, met his death by choking while at dinner at the Midland House. Deceased was noticed by the attendants upon table to be suffering from difficulty in swallowing; a glass of water was given him, but a drink of this did not afford him any apparent relief, and when addressed he was unable to speak. Dr. R. T. saw what was the matter ran back to his office and returned with a pair of forceps, which were speedily put in use and a piece of beef about an inch wide, an inch and a half long and a quarter of an inch thick was taken from the man's throat. He still continued to gasp for breath, the removal of the meat having given no relief apparently and he expired soon afterwards, between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Deceased was a man over 70 years of age, and was almost entirely devoid of teeth, whereby he could masticate his food. He was a well-known resident of the township of Hope.-

The County Council met in its semiannual session in the Court House at Upper Woodstock yesterday morning, Warden Hartley presiding. A petition was presented from a number of residents of the parishes of Kent and Peel asking that a part of the former parish be added to the parish of Peel, so that the big Shiktehawk would be the dividing line. The secretary-treasurer was instructed to prepare a bill with this object in its implements on this land. After dinner the council devoted themselves to varied routine business.
