OPEN SALOONS AND BRIBERY.

Prohibitory Law Denounced by a Portland Pastor.

Rev. E.P. Woodward, pastor of the Second Advent Church, and one of the oldest clergymen in Portland, in a sermon recently vigorously denounced the state prohibitory liquor law as at present enforced in Portland "The Prohibition Farce" was his subject, and he dealt with it in a novel way.

Pastor Woodward said that until a week ago he had believed the liquor law was being successfully enforced, but that belief was not the result of personal investigation. Being desirous of learning the true inwardness of the situation, he one day last week enlisted the aid of a local preacher who is familiar with work in the slums, and together they visited some of the rumshops of Portland.

They were not disguised, but made their tour in the role of tract distributors. Without effort they located 12 open rumshops in the city, most of which they entered through the front doors. In a few instances in the poorer section they found the front entrances barred, but had no difficulty in gaining access by rear passageways.

The speaker said he saw enough to convince him not only that Portland has open rumshops, but that bribery exists, and that in one way or another the proprietors of these bar-rooms are protected from molestation. In nearly every bar-room he visited there was evidence of permanent prosperity. He found hardwood furnishings, marble counters, steel ceilings, a glittering array of bottles, glasses and other paraphernalia, and on the walls were hung advertisements of various brands of liquors

Four bar-rooms he looked in upon are in hotels, and he and his attendant found their way to them by inquiry at the hotel counters. He saw men drinking at the bar, others waiting for drinks which the barkeepers were mixing, and saw several men in a state of drunken stupidity.

At some of the rumshops the visiting clergymen were courteously treated, in others they were scoffed at and their tracts torn up, while in the best furnished places their presence seemed to awaken no interest among the men there assembled.

The speaker named some of the streets on which the saloons are located, but made no definite reference to their whereabouts. He said he could not positively swear what the bottles and glasses contained, but the odor about the place was precisely the same as the fumes emitted at the city liquor agency.

From interviews with prominent citizens conversant with the condition of affairs, the Rev. Mr Woodward said he was satisfied that the liquor dealers are making regular payments of hush money to somebody. The rum-sellers seem to know just when the sheriffs are to make them a call, and when a seizure is made it is customary for the accused to carry his case to the farthest point at law, and during its postponement to make enough at selling liquor to pay his fine and leave him an ample income. The system in vogue is practically low license, except that the money goes into individual pockets instead of the City Hall treasury.

He declared that the clause of the prohibitory law making owners of buildings responsible for the selling of liquor therein has become a dead letter. The officers are not so much to blame for apathetic enforcement of the law, he said, for public sentiment does not compel them to live up to their oaths.

KIDNEY SENSE.

Cure-alls are out of the Question in Kidney Disorders—A Liquid Solvent—A Specific Kidney Tonic is the Only Safe Remedy.

How Many Discover When It Is Too Late that the kidneys have literally been ground out by the little solid particles which are contained in the blood of all sufferers from kidney disease, and which accumulate in these organs. Common sense says and medical science has proven it that a liquid solvent which will dissolve these solids and eradicate them from the system is the only sure cure for kidney disorder. South American Kidney Cure is a solvent. It has been tested in almost hopeless cases, and there is yet to be recorded against it a failure to cure when it has had a faithful trial. Pills will not do it as they are not solvents. Don't trifle.—Sold by Garden Bros.

A Stepladder Went With The Match Safe.

Do you see that that thing on the wall there? Above the clock? That thing with ribbons on it?"

"Yes; what is it?"

"That's a match receiver. It is intended to receive burned matches. For instances, suppose I use a match and put it on the table. Then I go across the street and borrow a stepladder. I bring the stepladder into this room, move the sofa away from the wall, plant my stepladder and carry that piece of burned match up the ladder and drop it into the receiver. Then I come down the ladder put the sofa back in its place, take the stepladder home, and there you are! I tell you its a great thing to have these handy little articles around the house."—Exchange.

A Big Transaction in Fat Stock.

We learn that Lord Rosebery's factor, Mr. Drysdale, has just sold his Lordship's annual draft of prime fat polled Angus steers, numbering 500 head in all, to the firm trading under the name of James Wilson, butcher, 144 George Street, Edinburgh. These cattle form an uncommonly grand lot, and were all selected in the spring of the year by Lord Rosebery's farm manager, Mr. George Sinclair, in Aberdeenshire and the North of Scotland. The purchase price to be paid for them is 42s per live weight cwt., weighed on the farm before leaving, and as the animals will average 14 cwt., their price per head will be about £30, the transaction involving a turnover of some £3000. They will be taken delivery of in weekly drafts to suit the requirements of the Christmas trade. It may be noted that the firm who have purchased this magnificent lot of cattle have no longer any connection with the boycotting organization.—"N. B. Agriculturist."

None So Excellent.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Lax-Liver Pills, and find that they help me more than any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects." MISS MARY ELLEN HICKS, South Bay, Ont.

The generals commanding our militia, of late, have not been popular. Middleton was sent home, under colonial censure though it seems to be in good society in England. Herbert was considered too strict, and now general Gascoigne is under the lash. An exchange noted for its originality says:—"Poor Gascoigne, is getting into a bidomin old pickle The Royal Scots are after the Generals scalp now. These old country generals never can realize the fact that our Militia is not intended to be taken seriously. The most absurd Bombastes Furioso army that was ever put on the stage was solemnly martial, compared with our Canadian militia outfit. The general should report that the million dollars, now thrown away, might better be devoted to maintaining public skittle alleys for the pleasurable and healthful recreation of the people." Perhaps this is a somewhat too severe reflection on our soldiery. But the militia is not as it should be. One thing is quite certain it is extremely sensitive, and no commanders are needed, excepting those who will speak pleasant things. Col. Strathy of Montreal has been fined for speaking disrespectfully of his commanding officer. Surely, this is nothing more than army discipline. But we think more of the pretty uniforms and the titles, than of the discipline. Our militia will stand drastic reforming.

Philosophers and wise acres, particularly, those who love to dwell on the superiority of the men and women of earlier ages, to those of the present, quite often enlarge upon the misfits in life. There is some good sense in the following extract from a contemporary:—"One reason why so many girls—and boys—men and women, too—are uninteresting—c-o-m-m-o-n—is because nearly everybody tries so hard to be like somebody else rather than be content to remain himself or herself in life. In nature you don't see an oak tree posing as a willow, or a black duck as a yellow leg, or a horse as a cow, or a lily as a rose, or a lha-as-a peony, or a dog as a cat. Be natural and you'll be all right. Many a girl, without the slightest talent for music, is ruining a piano who should be making bonnets or bread; many a boy is studying for a learned profession, whose proper sphere is in the machine shop or the mill; many a man is splitting up churches who ought to be doing good service in some institution of learning, teaching, or on some farm farming, and many a woman is trying to be, in vain, a leader of society, when she could be a model housewife in her own home. Of the human flowers, how few successfully bloom!"

A funny incident is reported from Perth Centre. A stranger who was stopping at Andover went over to Perth to a ball in the I. O. F. hall. As the asphalt sidewalks were in a slightly decomposed state he walked on the C. P. Ry. track. When he left the hall it was very dark, the electric lights had been suppressed and he got on the track of the T. V. Ry. and walked and walked and walked. When he thought he must be pretty near Andover he saw a light ahead which proved to be the depot of Tobique Narrows. He had walked just five miles away from his bed. He put up for the night at the Narrows House and came down Nictau limited in the morning. I don't guarantee the truth of this story as it was told me by a commercial traveller.

My particular friend, the Bobcageon Independent, gets off one of its quaint sayings. Speaking about a very wealthy lady deceased, it says, she "was buried in a thousand dollar casket. A ten dollar outfit would look just as well, six feet under ground, and it is far from likely that the price of her coffin will "cut any ice" when the deceased lady passes her examination." It was the deceased lady's money, no doubt, and she wanted a real handsome funeral, but what an inappropriate time for furs and feathers!

Racked by Pain, Bed-Ridden, Life Despaired of—South American Rheumatic Cure was the Good Angel Which Stilled the Tempest and Piloted Safely Into the Harbor of Health.

"I was so troubled with sciatica that at times the pain and suffering I experienced was excruciating. I failed in flesh to almost a shadow. I was almost continuously in bed for over a year, and I had spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring. I had almost given up hope of a cure. A relative who had been cured of the same disease by South American Rheumatic Cure, induced me to try it. The first dose gave me instant relief. After using three bottles I was completely cured."
