Lumber for Australia.

An Australian correspondent to the Canadian Lumberman says:- Canadian lumber is coming here, and at an average of better prices than from the United States mills, because the average quality is better. Some complaints are made that the Canadians are not so prompt, either in replying to enquiries or in filling orders, as they might be. I think this is the exception rather than the rule. I know that one or two cargoes have been much delayed, and are likely to reach a poor market rather than a good one. The importer is naturally put a little out of temper thereby.

Three or four cargoes have been shipped in 2 years from the St. Lowrence to Melbourne, to sold on the arrival. Occasionally fair prices were obtained, but when they came in pretty close together, as has happened, the result was unfortunate for the shipper. An effort, with some success attending it, has been made to get orders ahead. This is very much better. Not only this will enable the shipper to know what he is getting, but he can get orders for other stuff besides spruce and pine deals. Norway sends lining and weather boards. From the united Kingdom and Eastern United States some shelving, clear pine, walnut and oak are shipped. Canada could supply these. I have an enquiry before me from Melbourne for oak staves for wine cakes, 38 to 40 inches long, inches wide, and 7.8 to one inch thick. These Canada can supply. The timber ships could be utilized to carry other goods, helping the timber trade and manufacturers of the country.

New Flying Machine.

PARIS. July 10.—A paper was read before the Academy of Sciences yesterday, recording the experiments of the French aeronaut, M. Tatin, at Carquenez, in emulation of Prof. Langley's experiments at Potomac Bay with a steam flying machine

M. Tartin's machine was nearly thrice as heavy as Prof. Langley's and had a double instead of a single propeller. It attained a speed of 18 meters per second, as against Langley's 10; but the length of the run was only 140 metres, as against Langley's kilometre.

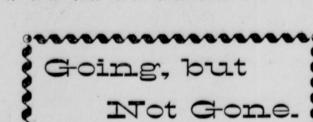

Our own actions are the accidents of fortune that we sometimes place to the credit of luck or misfortune.

There is an immense profoundness of thought in commonplace phrases. They are holes dug by generations of aunts.

They are to me to recommend it to the public.

G. W. VANWART, KING STREET,

Graphic Description.

The following is a description of a game of base-ball, written by the Blain correspondent to the Presque Isle Star-Herald. "The dirty nine of this place and the weary wig-wags of Mars Hill played a game of base ball on Saturday afternoon at Mars Hill. They are not all star players, but they entertained the crowd and created lots of fun. We are not an authority on base ball, and the indiscriminate mixing up of the players always criminate mixing up of the players always confuses us but we noticed the individual characteristics of some of the players. Capt. Crawford could no doubt run better if a few reefs were taken in the rear of his pantaloons. However, one can't tell by the look of a frog how far it can jump. Just so with William. He is an old hand at the business, his hands are like the the two hind quarters of a western steer, and they take everything that comes in his way, and the way he will canter and pace, on a home run is surprising. Peck Weber is another curiosity and looks worse than Bill does, but he can't make a good time, he gets rattled and looses his quid of tobacco, and tumbles down over it; he's a dishonest player, as we noticed he stole several bases. If Harry Ramsey would put some tar on his fingers he could probably hold on to the ball occasionally, Geo. Webster would make a fine short stop if he would board up the space between his legs. We uoticed one out fielder always carried the ball in to the pitcher, and Frank Keay would be a dandy if he had another pair of legs so he could canter to the bases on all fours. However, the boys did remarkably well and at

HERE IS THE WAY.

To cure all heart and nerve troubles and that weak, weary, tired feeling, sleeplessness, nervousness, etc., do as Mrs. Thos. Glover, Chatham, Ont., did. Says Mrs Glover: "One box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me. I was so bad that I feared paralysis, but am now well and strong, thanks to these wonderful pills."

Referred to Mr. Fisher's Offer.

The Aroostook Times says that Mr. David Wilson a theological student of New York delivered a patriotic sermon on the 4th inst. He advocated the establishment of a public library, remarking in the course of his address, "Is there no public pride in your men of means? I believe there is; I trust it may speedily be shown by some such good work. I am informed that a citizen of a neighboring town has offered $5000 for a public library if the same amount can be secured by subscription. What more fitting commemoration of this glorious day could we have than that some of your philanthropic men of wealth should do something either in this line or in the erection of a building that might be used for the advancement of the young people; a place which would stand for all that is highest and noblest in life. Such a place would prove a blessing to the young people and a benediction to the town, for it would tend to raise up young men who would be loyal, honorable citizens."

FOR WEAK PEOPLE.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for weak people having heart or nerve troubles, such as palpitation, throbbing, spasms, dizziness, shortness of breath, smothering feeling, pain in the breast, etc., are an invaluable medicine as hundreds of certified cures bear witness. For anemia, debility, after effects of Grippe and lost appetite they are a Cold Storage.

The Department of Agriculture has arranged a cold storage system in connection with the different railway systems throughout Canada. That with the Intercolonial provides for a weekly car between Rimouski and Quebec, Moncton and Halifax, and Moncton and St. John. The cars are to be painted white, as that color absorbs less heat than any other and are to be labelled "Gov ernment Cold Storage Line," so as to attract the attention of farmers and other shippers of butter and other perishable goods. These articles are to be picked up at all stations and carried at the ordinary rates of freights. This is to go into operation at once.

OFTEN WONDER

If a fellow thinks he can't be well dressed without a very expensive suit of clothes on. Don't you know that it does not require so much cash as good taste to dress a man. Take a piece of cloth selected with a proper regard to a man's complexion and form, give it to a tailor of judgment, and you will have just what you need to set you off. I have the Largest Stock of Cloths in town, and I am the tailor of judgment. Come to me and I will apply the principles of art and good taste toward decorating your person.
