Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of Weather and Crime.

Do you believe this? Mr. Robert Q. Grant says that violent barometric changes and crime are coincident. A man's badness, therefore, depends largely on the atmosphere. When the barometer's up, then the world is cheerful, and maladies allow the sufferer to enjoy convalescence, and even pickpockets and murderers think seriously of earning an honest living. But when the barometer is depressed, then melancholia prevails, people who are sick are more likely to die, men contemplate suicide in order to find relief, and the murderer loads his gun. Men are not naturally bad; the difficulty is with the barometer, a crop of evils. Well, there may be something in it, for, now I think of it a cold, easterly storm always brings on my rheumatism, and I do feel like setting a house on fire or blowing some one up with dynamite. Is it all the fault of the barometer—or isn't it?—New York Herald.

HEART RELIEF.

Eight Years' Hanging Between Life and Death With Acute Heart Disease—And in 30 Minutes After Taking First Dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure For the Heart Relief Comes—What it Did For Alfred Coudry, West Shefford, Que., it Can Do For Any Sufferer From the Same Cause.

"I had been suffering from acute heart trouble for over four years. When doctors had tried, and failed to give me relief, I procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. In thirty minutes after the first dose I had relief, and although mine was a case of long standing, eight bottles effected a permanent cure, and I firmly believe, after knowing what it has done for me, that there is no hopeless case while this great cure is to be had. I cheerfully sanction the use of my testimony in whatever way it may do the most good."—Sold by Garden Bros.

Natural abilities can almost compensate for the want of every kind of cultivation; but no cultivation of the mind can make up for the want of natural abilities.

How many people are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused from catarrh or cold in head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighbours. There is one sure cure for Catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 25 cents.

Incivility is not a vice of the soul, but the effect of several vices; of vanity, ignorance of duty, laziness, stupidity, distraction, contempt of others and jealousy.

FAVORITES FOR LONG YEARS.

For long years Diamond dyes have been the favorite family dyes in the Dominion of Canada; and although imitation package dyes have been plentifully offered for sale, their great inferior to the "Diamond" in strength, fastness, beauty of color and brilliancy was known to the great majority of women, and they were condemned and avoided by all who valued good and bright colors. No sensible woman can afford to risk her goods with poor dyes when the "Diamonds" are admittedly the world's best.

A most important point to remember is that the Diamond Dyes cost no more than the crude and common dyes sold by some dealers for the sake of large profits.

Ask your dealer for the "Diamond"; if he values your trade he will be in a position to supply you.

There are as many degrees of happiness as there are choosers of it; the luxuries of a poor man's hut would be the poverties of a rich man's palace.

HUSBAND IS WELL.

Mrs. Wm. Harbly, Belleville, Ont., says: "My husband was troubled with kidney complaint, rheumatism, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, etc., and could not get relief until I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for him. He has now used four boxes in all and is perfectly cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the ones that cure. Remember the name, Doan's.

If thou wouldst find much favor and peace with God and man, be very low in thine own eyes. Forgive thyself little and others much.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar in every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of his Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

There are but two kinds of men; who succeed as public characters; men of no principle, but of great talent, and men of no talent, but of one principle—that of obedience to their superiors.

Disagreeing in little things and agreeing in great ones is what forms and keeps up a commerce of society friendship among reasonable men, and among unreasonable men breaks it.

ERYSIPELAS CURED.

GENTLEMEN,—In the spring of 1893 I was taken with erysipelas in the face, which left me in a very bad state of health, but having taken one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters I can truly say that it cured me. You are at liberty to refer anyone to me for further particulars as regards this wonderful medicine.

MANCHESTER CATARRH CURE.

Thousands of Testimonials COMING IN.

That Catarrh has hitherto baffled medical skill is because the nature of the terrible malady has not been understood. Catarrh most frequently originates with snuffles in childhood. Its seeds take deep root, show their virulence with change of seasons and increase with age. Instead of remaining a local disease of the nasal organs, catarrh becomes a parasitic virus of the mucous membrane, as smallpox is a virus of the blood. From the nostrils the malignant poison eats its way into the ducts of the head and follows the mucous lining into the Bronchial tubes, the intestines, kidney and genitals. For sale by all druggists.

THE MUSINGS OF

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

Once in a while I have troubles of my own and the following paragraph from a contemporary comes right home to me: "Our paper is two days late this week," writes a Nebraska editor, "owing to an accident to our press. When we started to run of the edition on Wednesday night, as usual, one of the guy ropes gave way, allowing the gilderfuke to fall and break as it struck the flunker flopper. This, of course, as anyone who knows anything about a press will readily understand, left the gang plank with only the flip flap to support it, which also dropped and broke off the wapper choke. This loosened the flunking between the ramrod and the fiber snatcher, which also caused trouble. The report that the trouble was caused by the over-indulgence in intoxicating stimulants by ourself is a tissue of falsehoods, the peeled appearance of our right eye being caused by our going into the hatchway of the press in our anxiety to start it and pulling the coupling pin after the slapping was broken, which caused the dingus to rise up and welt us in the optic. We expected a brand new gilderfuke on this afternoon's train."

I used to be very much against bloomers but I have changed my views very much since last night. I had heard girls say it was not easy to get about in skirts and I had always contented that skirts were as easy to travel in as trousers. Last night I made up my mind to acquire some experience in skirts that would enable me to discuss them as one having authority. About nine o'clock I donned the garment and started for the back yard. On my way down stairs, I caught my foot in the pocket of the rig and landed on my ear in the fourteenth step. The lamp brought up in the hat rack at the bottom of the flight, set my new spring overcoat afire, ruined the landlady's spring bonnet, and then fell to the floor and smashed. I slid to the bottom of the stairs, rolled over, got up and made a few closing remarks that were distinguished by their force. The landlady rushed into the hall thinking that an evangelist was holding special services in the front of her house. When she saw the bonnet her conversation steepened up and I flew the coop. I was making very good headway till it came to stepping off the back verandah. At this point my foot caught again and I went endways with great dexterity of movement into a flower bed. I could not see anything very funny in the thing myself but the chambermaid who was playing croquet on the lawn with her steady company assures her friends that it was really quite a joke. A sexton who lives next door came with a pick and shovel to dig me out. I was carried back to my boudoir a sadder and a dirtier man. I'm not against bloomers any more. Women can wear them if they want to. And I wish to say: every woman who can wear a skirt, or two or three skirts as I am told some of them do wear, stands high in my esteem as a skillful manipulator of feet and such.
