NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

FORT FAIRFIELD.

E. J. Clarke, of Woodstock, called on friends in town on Friday last. R. J. Townsend, of the Houghton Hardware

Co., went home to Woodstock for Easter. * The town milliners had their Easter openings

The town milliners had their Easter openings on Saturdny last. Articles of beauty adorned their windows and shops. D. J. Bell, M. D., went down to Bristol Satur-day to speed Easter with his parents. The Master services in the Episcopal church-were very hearty and appropriate. The anthem, "Halleluiah! Christ is Risen," was rendered nicely by a full choir, the tenor solo being taken by Chas. Osborne. A sacred concert was given in the Con-gramming a gregational church in the evening. The play, "What's Next," to be given by local talent this evening, promises to be a grand affair. After the play there will be a dance, music by Churchill's orchestra.

Geo. Shaw, of Shaw & Dibblee, Hartland, was here for Easter.

Frank Ervin, of Andover, was home Sunday. Allan Perley, Andover, was here Saturday. Miss Annie Burpee left on Thursday for Grand Falls, where she will be dressmaking for about a month.

RICHMOND.

Miss Alice Tracy has returned from a visit to friends in Presque Isle.

Mr. Chas. Jameson is visiting his son, Dr. L. S. Jameson, Philadelphia. H. Perley McIntyre left Richmond April 12th, for Ravelstoke, B. C. Miss Ella McBride is very ill at Presque Isle.

Mrs. Edward Tyrell died on Wednesday last, of Mrs. Edward Tyren died on Wednesday last, of consumption, after a long illness, leaving a hus-band and five children. She was a daughter of the late Joel Perkins. The funeral took place on Friday. The services being conducted by Revs. Hayward and Fiske, and the burial was at East Florenceville

BRISTOL.

A great quanity of water has been running down the hill by Dr. Atkinson's for some days, and the sewer which was placed there a year ago, did not carry the water across the road, but only to the ditch. The water undermined the road, and carried away about four rods of it, leaving a very bad hole. Teams have now to go down on the shore to get around it. Supervisor Squires has been down and is trying to prevent further damage be-ing done. It will probably cost $200 to repair it. Mr. Meed's shop came very near falling into the

An interesting pro-gramme was well carried ut, the principal part be-ing a Cantata, "The Pilgrim's Vision" by Mr. Wiggins, and six young ladies, Miss Blanche Tompkins, Miss Dora Davis, Miss Vella Davis, Miss Alice Merritt, Miss Lorena Brittain and Miss Annie McLean. The musical part was very fine being under the The musical part was very fine, being under the efficient management of the organist Miss Ella Tompkins. Rev. D. Fiske gave an interesting address on the Easter season. There were other recitations and a tableau. The superintendant, George H. Boyer, was presented with a handsome Teacher's Bible by the school, and Mrs. Tompkins presented some prizes to her class. The collections presented some prizes to her class. The collections for the Home Department amounted to $6.14. The hall was beautifully greened for the occasion, and the concert was declared to be a most success-

TRAGIC DEATH.

A Priest's Sudden Call on Easter Eve. Rev Father Corbett a popular Roman Catholic priest of St. John met with a tragic death on Easter Eve. A St. John Sun report says :- The usual elaborate preparations where made at the cathedral for impressive services and beautiful music on Easter day, but those who attended worship there from seven o'clock on, felt the occasion was more of mourning in character than of joy. A sad and fatal affair had been brought to light by the early arrivals for the seven o'clock mass. Miss Rossiter was the first to make the case known. She was passing the bishop's palace and she saw lying in the Waterloo street front of the building the form of a man. She approached and was horrified to find it was Rev. Father Corbett. She gave the alarm and immediately some men arrived on the spot and also Rev. Father McMurray. It was found the body was cold and had apparently been there some hours. It appears that Father Corbett had been un-usually busy during Lent. He was subject usually busy during Lent. He was subject to heart lisease, and when he left the confessional on Saturday evening was intent on completing an Easter sermon. It is surmised that he lifted the window and put out his autumn. A man in the employ of J. J. Hale, had his leg very badly fractured, recently, while hauling lumber around the Grafton mill. Mrs. L. A. Phillips of London, Eng., is visiting her son George E. Phillips, Hillhurst Farm. Mrs. Phillips came over in the "Lake Ontario" and re-

Phillips came over in the "Lake Ontario" and re-ports quite a rough passage. What will be, when completed, a very handsome and substantial residence is now being erected by H. Stanley Patterson. The cellar wall, the whole size of the house, was built last fall. The main building is 22x28 and the ell 16x20 two stories high. William Rolston, Grafton, is the head workman.

A Giant and a Giantess. A remarkable marriage took place in the summer of the year 1871, when Captain Bates

"the Kentucky giant," espoused Miss Anna H. Swan, "the Nova Scotia giantess." Captain Bates measured 8 feet, while his fair bride stood nearly 7 feet 11 inches in her satin shoes.

The gallant bridegroom had won his spurs in the American Civil War, in which he had greatly distinguished himself, being wounded several times in various engagements. Both he and his bride had been exhibited in London in the years 1869 and 1870, and it was during this period that an affection sprang up between the two which culminated in marriage.

Captain Bates was one of a family of giants, but Miss Swan's parents were, if anything, below the usual stature.

It was not likely that Barnum, the prince of showmen, would miss the chance of exhibiting a young lady who at eleven years of age measured 6 feet, and, like another giantess of later times, was "still growing." Hence we find her astonishing at New York till the burning down of Barnum's establishment, and the narrow escape of the fair Nova Scotian, put an end for a time to Miss Swan's receptions.

Possessed of considerable attractions and some histrionic ability, we find Miss Swan, soon after the disastrous fire, drawing large audiences to a New York theatre to witness her impersonation of Lady Macbeth, but she soon returned to the show business, and made a tour in America, subsequently visiting the principal cities of the Old World. -English Illustrated Magazine for March.
