THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE IN THE WORLD

HOLLOWAY'S RED BLOOD SYRUP
 The Great English Remedy!

It is a never-failing Blood Builder, and Nerve restorer. It is recognized wherever introduced as one of the greatest discoveries of the age, and perhaps has done more for human suffering than any other similar preparation. Its component parts have been recognized by all leading physicians and chemists as being essential to the existence of the body. Disease flies from it like magic, and when used as directed it is an unfailing remedy.

Now is your time to battle against disease. Those that have been fighting with some nervous disease, impure or poisoned blood, or incipient consumption, take the friendly advice of those who have been similarly situated, and who are now in the full bloom of health and vigor.

By a Bottle of the Great Holloway's Red Blood Syrup, take it faithfully and before you have taken it three or four days your condition will improve, your appetite will be better, your eyes will be brighter, showing the wonderful effect of that great compound.

Holloway's Red Blood Syrup is not a cure for all. But in the cases in which it is recommended to be used, it is unfailing. So marvelous quick is its action, and so certain are the benefits to be derived by its use, that in all cases where the Syrup has been used for one week, and purchasers are not satisfied with its results, the money will be refunded.

Ask your druggist or dealer for Holloway's Red Blood Syrup, and do not be persuaded to take any other preparation.

Paine's Celery Compound

Saves Sleepless, Nervous and Despondent People From Insanity.

THE GREAT MEDICINE HAS NO EQUAL.

Medical men of the highest standing, and a host of others competent to judge, declare that Paine's Celery Compound is the only effective medicine for the banishment of all troubles that lead to sleeplessness or insomnia.

In the spring season thousands are restless, fretful, nervous, despondent and gloomy. They find it impossible to find restful and sweet sleep, and soon become physically exhausted; some already are mere wrecks of humanity.

Such sufferers cannot with safety trifle with sleeplessness and continued unrest. All in such a condition demand immediate succor and aid before nature becomes too overtaxed. The weakened, exhausted and irritated system must be strengthened.

For every form of sleeplessness or insomnia there is but one remedy, one healer; it is

Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that acts in a truly natural way to produce sleep and perfect rest.

This wondrous remedy of nature should be used at once if satisfactory and immediate results are desired. Do not allow your rundown, nervous system to lead you to the very brink of the grove in spring time.

Putting off will only complicate your troubles, and deeper misery will be yours. Use Paine's Celery Compound and you are assured of perfect action of the heart, stomach, kidneys and liver, and sweet sleep will be your life blessing.

Get "Paine's," the kind that cures. Remember that there are miserable imitations—celery preparations that are worthless and dangerous as well. Ask your dealer for "Paine's" and take no other, if you seek for life and health.

THE ART OF KLEPTOMANIA.
 How a Celebrated Physician Paid Dearly for His Experience With Two Notorious Pickpockets.

Not so many moons ago there lived in Turin a physician noted far and wide as a specialist of brain diseases. Men and women from all ends of the earth came to him with their troubles and ailments, with lost memories, hallucinations and mental vagaries as varied as the materia medica or the penal code, says the San Francisco Wave. Uniformly courteous and graceful of manner, he afforded them such assistance of consolation as his skill or sympathy prescribed and waxed rich and popular as his fame expanded. With the development of fortune, for his fees were in proportion to his prominence, he cultivated a pleasing taste for those precious relics of antiquity in which millionaires alone are privileged to indulge. He had in his library a collection of costly objects of art—invaluable coins, rare jewels, costly statuettes, trifles chased by the chisels of great artisans of antiquity. The fame of his treasures was loud in the world's ears with the note of his skill and among collections his was as great a name to conjure with as among alienists.

One day there came to the residence of Dr. A—an American gentleman of dignified address and that stateliness of mien which is presumed to reflect lofty position and wealth. Admitted to the greatest man's office as a banker who had come all the way from Chicago to consult him about the condition of his wife.

At considerable length he explained her misfortune—she was a kleptomaniac. His life was a burden to him, following her from store to store, continually guarding her reputation against the encroachment of her fingers. Though it had cost him thousands his wife knew nothing, suspected nothing of her own weakness. Nor should she ever know if he could prevent it. To consult Dr. A—they had come thousands of miles and on his skill and learning the hopes of the husband were pinned. The great physician asked a few questions and expressed deep interest in the case and demanded that the patient be brought to him.

"But she had no idea of all this!" exclaimed the husband, passionately. "If I brought her to consult you as a physician I fear she would suspect something and it would kill her. If you will permit it I'll take her to call on you as a collector of antiquities. She is deeply interested in ancient jewelry and the ostensible object of our visit will be to discuss archaeological remains. Do not be disconcerted, however, if during the interview you find her pilfering, slipping your relics and coins into her umbrella and pockets. That is the ailment and of course, whatever she takes will be returned to you at once. My reference are So-and-so, bankers." This with much dignity and the production of documents.

Dr. A—, much flattered, made the appointment and bowed his patient to the door. Next day the unhappy husband and a stylish and handsome young woman presented themselves at the physician's residence.

They were formally ushered into the library, where the gems of the great man's collection were enshrined. The conversation was turned at once on the objects of art and Dr. A—, with wonderful subtlety, conversed on antiquities, while obtaining material for his diagnosis. He brought out his treasures—wonderful coins, with strange inscriptions, a bracelet of gold curiously wrought and inscribed, a silver statuette modeled by Benvenuto Cellini—historic rarities on which he dished with much graceful learning. Every now and then the lady slipped into her pocket or dropped into her parasol a coin, a jewel, a vase, and as she did so her husband winked at Dr. A— to draw attention to her theft. When the physician finally gave the signal that he had learned all he required she had accumulated the rarest of his possessions and yet prepared to depart with an inimitable assurance of manner.

"I'll be back within an hour," said the banker, "with those things my wife has taken. Poor poor girl!" he burst out. "Doctor, my fortune, my life are yours if you can but cure her." He fled after his spouse, handkerchief in hand, and the alienist with prospects of a big fee in his mind, returned to his patients.

Two hours passed, then three, then the interval lengthened to five. Dr. A—rather alarmed, sent his servant to the American's hotel to save him the trouble of returning the missing jewels. The servant returned. No person of the name was stopping there. The police were called in, descriptions given, detectives went forth. They identified the culprits, who had time to make their escape. They were London pickpockets, two thieves whose characters and depredations were notorious all over England.

It may save you time and money to be informed that, when you need a blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the kind most in favor with the medical profession. It is the standard and, as such, the only blood-purifier admitted at the Chicago World's Fair.

Bits of Philosophy.
 Occasionally a woman earns a little money "of her own." But does a man ever have any money that is "his own" in the same sense? asks the Washington Times.

The real sincere woman are those whose prayers at night in a cold room are never abbreviated by the condition of the thermometer.

A number of women got together recently and began telling about the number of proposals of marriage they had received. It developed that only one woman present had as many as two, and she had been married twice.

Every man has a lot of stuff he can't sell. If a man has kin it is equivalent to having troubles.

There are so many more mean men than good that a good man is always under suspicion.

People rush around on Monday as though they were ashamed of having been idle on Sunday.

Very few men are as confident in making assertions in their wives' presence as when they are absent.

Whenever two women get together and there is a man in an adjoining room they soon begin to whisper.

There is one great advantage in being rich; a rich man can tell the same anecdote a dozen times before his listeners get that weary look.

Important To Investors!

Notwithstanding the dulness of general business and scarcity of money during the past year, THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE Co. of Toronto, can show most gratifying results for 1896. The amount of insurance written is far ahead of any previous year, being over $3,500,000. Premium income has been increased $60,000. Although during the year $250,000 has been distributed among policy-holders, there has been no shrinkage of surplus, which stands well over $400,000. Endowment policies maturing in the past year show an investment return of 5% compound interest.

Those holding policies in such a prosperous and well-managed company are to be congratulated. For all information as to policy contracts and rates, apply to HUGH S. WRIGHT, District Manager, Woodstock.

NOTICE.

All persons are hereby cautioned against harbouring or trusting Joseph Tompkins of the Parish of Wakefield, and Nancy a woman living with him, on the account of the Parish of Wakefield, as that parish will not be responsible for any of their debts.
