Ticklish Things.

Coughs are ticklish things. Nowhere does the extravagant saying: "I was tickled to death," come nearer being true, than in the case of a severe cough. Do you know the feeling? The tickling in the throat, that you writhe under and fight against, until at last you break out in a paroxysm of coughing? Why not cure the cough and enjoy unbroken rest? You can do so by using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

A charming piece of book making is Mr. Francis Sherman's "Matins" a volume of poetry from the press of Copeland & Day, Boston. Mr. Sherman has made a good book though one might have wished that he had given himself away a little more, that he had not been quite so vague in spots. One of the best things in "Matins" is "The Conqueror."

THE CONQUEROR.

I will go now wher't my dear Lady is, And tell her how I won in this great fight; Ye know not death who say this shape is his That loometh up between me and the light.

As if death could wish anything of one Who hath to-day brought many men to death! Why should it not grow dark?—Surely the sun Hath seen since morning much that wearith.

Dead bodies: red, red blood upon the land; Torn sails of scattered ships upon the sea. And dead forgotten men stretched on the sand Close to the sea's edge, where the waves are free;

What day hath seen such things and hath not fled?

What day hath stayed, hearing, for frequent sounds, The flashing swords of men well-helmeted, The moans of warriors sick of many wounds?

Ye know not death: this thing is but the night. Wherefore I should be glad that it is come: For when I left my Lady for this night, I said, "At sunset I am coming home."

"When you return, I shall be here," she said, "God knows that I must pray a little while." And as she put my helmet on my head, She kissed me; and her blue eyes tried to smile.

And still she waiteth underneath the trees. (When we had gone a little on our way I turned and looked; she knelt there on her knees: I heard her praying many times today.)

Nay, nay, I need no wine! She waiteth still Watching and praying till I come to her. She saw the sun drop down behind the hill And wondereth I am a loiterer.

So I must go. Bring me my shield and sword! (Is there no unstrained grass will clean this stain?)

This day is won;—but now the great reward Cometh! O Love, thy prayers were not in vain!

I am well rested now.—Nay, I can rise Without your help! Why do ye look at me With so much pain and pity in your eyes, Who gained with me today this victory?

I think we should be glad we are not dead,—Only, perchance, no Lady waiteth you, No Lady who is all uncomfited, And who hath watched and prayed these long hours through.

Yea, I must go.—What? Am I tired yet? Let me lie here and rest my aching side. The thought of her hath made me quite forget How sharp his sword was just before he died.

Mr. Sherman is certainly not lacking in ideas and he is at home with the forms he uses. Though sometimes vague he is always suggestive. The friends he makes in literary circles through his volume will look with interest for something farther from him.

The Teapot.

A terrible mistake of housekeepers is to leave the coffee-pot or teapot on the back of the stove to steep all day. It is a fruitful source of dyspepsia and indigestion. Never set tea aside unless in a glass jar or pitcher for iced tea. Heated over, it is simply vile. Coffee, if you must economize that way, should be poured off into a bowl or pitcher and covered closely. Over the grounds pour a cupful of boiling water, shake and let simmer three minutes, then pour into the bowl and throw the grounds away and wash and dry the coffee-pot. This will insure you sweet coffee. To make the coffee, grind fine the necessary amount, pour the liquid saved carefully into the pot, so as not to stir up the grounds. In a teacup mix a teaspoonful of coffee to each person, "and one for the pot," with half the white of an egg. When the liquid is boiling dash the coffee in, stirring briskly for a moment. Fill the pot with boiling water—measured, mind you, one cup for each—and set to steep gently for five minutes.—Washington Star.

Why Dogs Turn Around.

Have you ever thought why it is that a dog turns around and around when he jumps on his cushion or starts to settle himself anywhere for a nap? Now you are reminded, you can easily recall that you have seen a dog do it many times, can't you? This habit is all that is left to our tame little doggies of the days long ago, when they were a race of wild animals and lived in the woods. Their beds then were matted grass and leaves, and it was to trample over grass and properly arrange the leaves that the dog always trod around a narrow circle before he would lie down. The dog of today keeps up the same old habit, although there is no longer any need for it, and, of course, the animal has no notion why he is doing it.

'Twas Hard Work Fifteen Years Ago.

To-day Diamond Dyes

Make Home Dyeing Easy.

Fifteen years ago the work of home dyeing was just in its infancy. The old-fashioned, crude preparations were then in vogue, necessitating much time and great expense, while the results, even with the greatest amount of care, never brought satisfaction.

The introduction of Diamond Dyes revolutionized home dyeing work completely. Diamond Dyes saved time and money to thousands of busy women, and at once became popular in every family.

Each succeeding year found the Diamond Dyes improved in color, brilliancy and durability of shade. Today they stand far ahead of all other dyes in every leading point, and are as perfect as science can make them. There are many imitations of Diamond Dyes in the land, and many women are deceived daily when purchasing. In order to insure absolute success in home dyeing see that every packet of dye you buy is marked "Diamond Dye."

A lady, when showing a gentleman over her grounds the other day, was asked by him: "Does not this plant belong to the begonia family?" "The begonia family!" answered his hostess, bridling up. "Certainly not, sir! It is ours, and always has been!"—Household Words.

"The last victory," remarked the Spanish general, in a tone of great irritation, "was not nearly as brilliant as I expected it to be."

"Whom do you consider to blame?" "I can't quite make up my mind whether the person who spoiled it was the typewriter, the telegraph operator, or the compositor."—Washington Star.

MRS. R. B. GIBSON, Queen St., Opp. Opera House.

How different often is a fellow's real belief from the thing he says he believes. You often see a man who professes to believe that the Bible is all right. He honestly thinks he believes that the meek are blessed for they shall inherit the earth, but to judge from his daily conduct he must really believe that the meek are not in it and shall inherit nothing. He resembles the celebrated young woman of whom the poet said:

The meaning of week she never knew; She imagined the phrase had something to do With Moses, a peddling German Jew, Who like all hawkers the country through, Was a person of no position.

After all, isn't a man's life the best exponent of his philosophy? I always make a distinction between what a man believes, what he thinks he believes and what he says he believes.

I was delighted to read of a good shot my cranky old friend, Ruskin, gave a member of a social purity committee a while ago. She asked "Mr. Ruskin, don't you think the nude in art is immoral?" "No," said the old sage, "but your question is." Those old maxims "To the pure all things are pure" and "evil be to him that evil thinks" are full of truth. Anyone who goes about looking for smut can find it in Shakespeare as well as in Zola, and in the Bible as well as in George Moore. But where's the use of looking for it. To the ordinary mind the Venus de Milo bears no more vulgar suggestion than a naked table leg. The nude in art is only unwholesome when the art is bad. All we have to do is to kill every bad artist and then we will be all right.

Study Your Children.

It is an evidence of the advance of knowledge that the wise parent today studies his child and measures his physical development by the physical standard that science has established. He keeps himself in touch with the best knowledge. Foods are no longer considered merely the natural provision to meet the demands of hunger, but as the remedies, the protection, the substitutes provided to meet the physical needs of each body. This is one of the results of child study. Precociousness and stupidity are regarded as symptoms, and no longer as the cause of pride or shame. The physical causes are studied. If the child is stupid, his sight, his hearing may be at fault. If he does not spell, an effort is made to discover whether he is stone deaf. If he grows tired quickly, common sense seeks to discover whether his chair and his desk are suited to his height. If he is irritable, it becomes a question of food. If he does not develop physically, it becomes a question of exercise and nutrition. The temple of the Holy Ghost is considered as worthy of the best care and intelligence that time and education have developed.—Outlook.

Decorating Stopped.

Postmasters throughout the Dominion have received orders from Ottawa, not to allow any notice to be placed in the offices, or to allow any bulletin or board whatsoever to rest against the building. The Government thinks that such notices are usually pinned on the walls of the post office, should be advertised in the newspapers. We quite agree with the Postmaster General in this matter. As the government pays rent for post offices, it has the right to say that the premises shall not be used as free advertising stands to the injury of private enterprise.—Bob. Ind.

It was said that Baron Maule of the Court of Common Pleas, on being treated discourteously by an arrogant barrister named Cresswell, said: "Mr. Cresswell, I am perfectly willing to admit my vast inferiority to yourself; still, I am a vertebrate animal, and for the last half-hour you have spoken to me in a language which God Almighty would hesitate to address to a black beetle."

Forcing a smile.—Mother—Tommy, what on earth is baby crying for? Tommy—He's angry with me, mamma, because I was trying to make him smile with your glove stretcher.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.

An honest man who stood upon the ragged edge of death, but was convinced of the truth.

CALAIS, ME., May 13, 1896.

John Boyd, mason, 61 years old, says: "Last Spring I was very sick and miserable, had no appetite, could not sleep nights, began to think my lamina had come, and that I was to join the great majority. I walked around the streets feeling entirely used up, was good for nothing, could not do a minute's work, until like a drowning man gasping for straws, concluded to try Dr. Thomson's Sarsaparilla, and began using it, as directed; it began to help me from the first trial. After using three bottles, my old-fashioned good health returned to me, and have been well and strong ever since. I cannot express in language the great worth of this wonderful medicine and what I think of it." Yours truly, JOHN BOYD.

HELP CAME AT LAST.

I have been a hard working man doing general work. Over one year ago I suffered a severe attack of LaGrippe. It left me in a helpless condition. I suffered with severe pains in my back and could not do any work. I was advised to try Dr. Thomson's Sarsaparilla. I used five bottles, and it is marvelous how quick it cured me. That is over two years ago, and my health since that time has never been better. LINDSAY SCOTT, Calais, Me., Jan., 1896.

PRINCETON, May 23d.

THOMSON SARSAPARILLA CO.: Having the LaGrippe last winter, I was left near spring in very bad shape. I was all run down and I began to think I would never get any strength. F. H. Hall, of Calais, called at my place and advised me to take Thomson's Sarsaparilla. He said he would send three bottles if I would take them, and after taking two bottles I began to gain strength. I then took two more, and I must say of all the different kinds of medicines I have taken, it is with me one of the best. And I will say that I thank Mr. Hall and the Thomson Sarsaparilla Co. for what it has done for me. C. A. ROBBINS.

Given up in despair to die.

PATRICK MYERS, of Calais, Me., says: I was troubled with eruptions on the face and body, causing at times a burning and itching sensation which was almost unendurable; could do no work. I tried to get help from a number of our physicians, and paid them hundreds of dollars, which proved hopeless, was confined to my bed. I gave up entirely to despair. I was advised to try Dr. Thomson's Sarsaparilla, and I used eight bottles which entirely cured me. It purified my blood, restored my appetite, made me feel like a new man. Today am about my work, not forgetting to speak great words of praise for the above medicine.

Weak, Nervous, Sleepless, Tired and Run Down.

Nothing is so common today as the complaint of weak nerves. Read the testimony of MR. H. W. EATON, of Calais, Me.:

My nerves were so unstrung that it was a burden for me to do any business; could do no work. I tried to get help from a number of our physicians, and paid them hundreds of dollars, which proved hopeless, was confined to my bed. I gave up entirely to despair. I was advised to try Dr. Thomson's Sarsaparilla, and I used eight bottles which entirely cured me. It purified my blood, restored my appetite, made me feel like a new man. Today am about my work, not forgetting to speak great words of praise for the above medicine.

There are numberless people who do not call themselves sick, yet who are not well. They feel weak, nervous, languid and tired. They have lost their vim, power of endurance and ambition to work. Most people have these feelings in the spring, because at this season the blood is impure, the nerves weakened, and the liver, kidney and bowels inactive.
