

THE BEST SPRING
MEDICINE
IN THE WORLD

HOLLOWAY'S
RED BLOOD
SYRUP
The Great English Remedy!

It is a never-failing Blood Builder, and Nerve restorer. It is recognized wherever introduced as one of the greatest discoveries of the age, and perhaps has done more for human suffering than any other similar preparation. Its component parts have been recognized by all leading physicians and chemists as being essential to the existence of the body. Disease flies from it like magic, and when used as directed it is an unfailing remedy.

Now is your time to battle against disease. Those that have been fighting with some nervous disease, impure or poisoned blood, or incipient consumption, take the friendly advice of those who have been similarly situated, and who are now in the full bloom of health and vigor.

By a Bottle of the Great Holloway's Red Blood Syrup, take it faithfully and before you have taken it three or four days your condition will improve, your appetite will be better, your eyes will be brighter, showing the wonderful effect of that great compound.

Holloway's Red Blood Syrup is not a cure for all. But in the cases in which it is recommended to be used, it is unfailing. So marvelous quick is its action, and so certain are the benefits to be derived by its use, that in all cases where the Syrup has been used for one week, and purchasers are not satisfied with its results, the money will be refunded.

Ask your druggist or dealer for Holloway's Red Blood Syrup, and do not be persuaded to take any other preparation.

Answers to Correspondents.
To. C. L.—We know of no opera troupe in need of a tenor at present. We could make use of a fiver ourselves if you have one to spare.

R. U. K.—Authors are generally good-natured people, but it has been reported that when John Kendrick Bangs the door it makes James Whitcomb Riley.

ANXIOUS ENQUIRER.—In polite circles pie is still out of the bias. Of course, if you wish, you may eat it with your fingers, but we prefer to eat it with our mouth.

A. J. J.—As your gentleman friend seems to be ignorant of good form you should tell him that it is not proper to spit on the ceiling of your parlor. You can tell him gently so as not to offend him needlessly.

JOHN Y.—If the young lady's father has lost his fortune on 'Change it is perfectly proper to break the engagement. No self-respecting young man would marry into a family given to any kind of gambling.

STUDENT.—(1st) We are too modest to give the name of the greatest poet now living. (2d) His finest couplet appears in my poem on "Life," and is as follows:

"My head wheels whir a busy buzz,
Cause things don't be as they used to was."

A. L. B.—A simple way to remove wrinkles is this: Apply a wash composed of gum arabic, 2 parts; pine tar, 3 parts; when this has dried fill the wrinkles with pink putty and cover with two coats of white-wash, using somebody else's tooth-brush in applying it.

DONO.—If your hearing is growing dull you are probably getting old, or perhaps a feather mattress may have become lodged in one of your ears. To remedy dull hearing we advise taking the hearing out of its sockets and having it sharpened on an emery wheel.

DORIS.—No; Hall Caine was not a branch cut from a hall tree. He is a novelist. A novelist is a man who composes stories. The process undergone in the construction of a modern novel is therefore called decomposition. Anything decomposed is more or less rendolent.

N. I. T.—The book to which you refer is "The Light on the Pin-Cushion," by O. G. Donner-Blitz. It was published in 1881 by Dickeybird and Bungstart, and is now out of print. The chapter in question contains the following description of a sunrise on the Chicago river:

"Across the dim lengths of the stream arose a shadowy vapor that spread like a pall over the scene. The pale green sun just peeped its rim above the massive buildings that rose like a pall over the scene. Far and near echoed the shrill toots of the tugs, reverberating ever and anon and at last falling like a pall over the scene. A subtle sadness humped along the channel of the river, and hung like a pall over the scene. Then suddenly the sun seemed to spring into the air in a glory of liver-colored light and shot forth mauve rays that hung like a pall over the scene. A pall seemed to hang over the scene reminding one of a pall hanging over a scene. At this moment a man appeared on the bridge. It was Paul! For a moment Paul hung over the scene. Then the seen and unseen scene palled on Paul, and he dropped from the bridge. There was a dull thud! He had struck the water. For a moment he fought fiercely with the germs and microbes; but alas! they rent him limb from limb. With a groan he sank to the top and the smoke of a grain barge settled like a pall over the scene."

LILLIAN, St. Augustine.—Oranges are held on a fork while being peeled. The facetious style of squirting the juice into the eyes of your hostess is now au revoir.

MRS. K., Helena.—You have good cause for indignation at your guest's behavior. No gentleman after eating a considerable amount will arise and unbuckle his vest-strap in order to acquire more room. Such an action is exceedingly au fait and dishabille.

RETTA, Kansas City.—The blackheads are caused by a clogged condition of the blood corpuscles and a bum liver. Before retiring, remove the blood and after dusting it thoroughly with a piece of luke-warm water, pick out the blackheads with the curling-irons and fill the holes with rags. Then carefully bathe the blood with blue mass and hang it on the chandelier over night to dry. If this treatment proves successful kindly advise me, as I am looking for a good remedy myself, but haven't the nerve to try the above receipt until I see how it works.

R. G. S., Detroit.—According to your letter you seem to be suffering from pains in the back, dizziness, nervousness, burning sensations in the feet, nine small children and a sedentary husband with alcoholic propensities. Now, it is hard to tender advice for such a conglomeration of maladies, but I believe your sufferings could be considerably alleviated by secretly impregnating your husband's favorite beverage with strychnine and locking him alone in the house with the children and a lot of loose matches. This will effectually rid you of ten of your troubles and will greatly aid you in overcoming the others.

Grover C. Connolly, of Richmond Corner, N. B., says of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure: "I had it in a very severe form for nearly five years. I used several so-called cures, but got no relief. None of them did me any good. One box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure completely cured me."

One day, on alighting from a cab, the Prince of Wales saw a blind man and his dog vainly endeavoring to effect a passage across Pall Mall in the midst of a throng of carriages. With characteristic good-nature the Prince at once went to the rescue, and taking his unconscious charge by the arm, safely piloted him and his dog to the other side of the street. With this, so far as His Royal Highness was concerned, the incident was at an end; but a short time afterwards a massive silver inkstand was received at Marlborough House, on which was the following simple inscription: "To the Prince of Wales. From one who saw him conduct a blind beggar across the street. In memory of a kind and Christian action." No note or card accompanied the gift, and the name of the giver has never been discovered.

A Croupy Cough Was Soon Driven Away by Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine.

"My little boy had a bad croupy cough," says Mrs. Smith, of 256 Bathurst street, Toronto. "My neighbor, Mrs. Hopkins, recommended me to try Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I did so and the first dose did him good. One bottle completely cured the cold. It is surprising, the popularity of Chase's Syrup in this neighborhood. It appears to me it can now be found in every house."

"Up to date" in its chats with fair readers offers the following advice to a couple of inquiring damsels. Mamie, Denver.—Although I am rather shy about divulging valuable toilet secrets, I will loosen up a little in this instance for the purpose of telling you that the best pimple eradicator is a stick of healthy dynamite inserted under the eruption and touched off some day when you are alone. It is advisable that there should be no one near you when you touch yourself off, and it is further suggested that you perform the operation in a vacant lot, so as to prevent the muzzing up of the neighborhood when the pimple disappears.

When washing glassware do not put it in hot water bottom first, as it will be liable to crack from sudden expansion. Even delicate glass can be safely washed in very hot water if slipped in edgewise.

For neuralgic pains in the feet or weariness from long standing try a salt and water foot bath. A handful of salt to four quarts of water is sufficient, and the bath should be as hot as can be borne.
