The Libellous Mirror.

No doubt the human race would consider it little short of a universal tragedy if there were no looking glasses. Yet in spite of their widespread use it is an astonishing fact that we have never seen ourselves as others see us. In the first place, the reflection in the mirror does not portray our likeness with any attempt at accuracy. The hair is wrong in tone, the eyes are not correct in color, and our complexions are hopelessly labelled by this specious household deceiver. It is certain that if the looking glasses spoke the truth the sale of various complexion washes would decrease to half, for any fair skin looks gray and pallid in the glass, and numbers of women who have splendid complexions ruin them by trying to improve them because they look bad in the mirror. You may be certain that, however plain your face seems, it is by no means so plain as it appears in the tell tale mirror. Secondly, you cannot assume your natural expression while peering in the looking glass. The eye must be in a certain position before you can see at all and the eye, so far as expression is concerned, governs the face. The consequence is that you can see only one of your expressions in the glass, and that expression is one of attentive examination. All the other expressions by which your friends know you, favorable or unfavorable, you have never seen and never will see.

A LONG LIST!

This Whole Column would Not Contain the Names of the Many Prominent Ministers, Members of Parliament and Professional Men all over this Continent who Have been Cured of Catarrh by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—It Gives Relief in 10 Minutes.

Volumes of testimony have been written of its curative powers. Catarrh is an aggravating malady, insignificant in its beginning—a little cold in the head—neglect it and soon you're in it's thrall. Eighty in every hundred have the taint. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder will cure the slightest cold in the head, and cure the most stubborn case of catarrh. "Its action is instantaneous," says one. "I feel it my duty to recommend it to the public," says another. "Never got relief until I used it," says another, and so on and on. Acts like magic and always cures. Sold by Garden Bros.

A Year's Suicides.

The Chicago Tribune, reviewing the shady side of life during the year just closed, gives the number of suicides throughout the country during the year as 6600, which is a large increase over the record of previous years. The list includes actors, lawyers, editors, business men and clergymen, but physicians are the most numerous, as in past years. Despondency is given as the motive for nearly one half of these tragedies, while disappointed love figures as an important factor in the remainder. Poison still remains the favorite route out of the world, 2384 having chosen that method of ridding themselves of life; 2136 shot themselves, 870 preferred hanging, 596 thought drowning easier, and 357 cut their throats. The others sought death in front of a locomotive, threw themselves from windows or roofs, stabbed, burned or starved themselves or blew themselves up with dynamite. Suicide appears to be a greater favorite with men than women, as last year's list included 5186 of the former and 1414 of the latter.

Severe Bronchitis Yields Promptly to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

I used your Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for severe attack of Bronchitis. I got better from the time of taking the first dose. Having a family of young children, my doctor's bills have annually come to a considerable sum. I believe a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup occasionally will aid me in reducing them very materially. W. R. ALGER, Insurance Agent.

Whiskey at the Capitol.

Something of a sensation was created at the opening of Congress by the discovery that the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate was strictly enforcing the rules prohibiting the sale of liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol. It is about time that this rule was enforced in both wings. The disgusting spectacles that have been witnessed more than once during exciting sessions of Congress, and which have been due to the antics of members more or less intoxicated, have shocked the moral sense of the people. If members of Congress cannot get along during public hours without indulging too freely in intoxicating stimulants, it would be better for them that they remain at home. Public office should not be a private "bust."—Leslie's Weekly.

An old Georgia dandy, who was doing a job of work at an Atlanta residence the other day, in the course of conversation with his employer touched on the late war.

"And you say," said his employer, "that you followed your master through the entire war?"

"Dat I did, suh," was the proud reply. "He was a great soldier, was he?"

"Well, suh," replied the old man, "I couldn't tell much about dat. He was runnin' so fas' all de time it wuz hard ter keep up wid him. All I does know is—he wuz purty swif'!"

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

Scientific men have been digging holes in the earth in England and fetching up old relics. After carefully examining these they inform us that they have been quite wrong in their ideas about that period of English history before the conquest. I call it entirely too bad that a fellow should have a lot of stuff called history drilled and coaxed and punched into him in his youth and then after he grows up be informed in the calmest manner possible by the men who made the history, that they were wrong. Things are about the same with physical science; not long ago school boys were taught that heat was a subtle substance pervading the article that was warm; now they are taught that heat is a mode of motion in the molecules of which the article is composed. I think our history and scientific theories should be settled by government, that it should be made a crime to teach contradictory history or theories, then we should not be worried every little while with the thought that we might be in error.

For Ten Cents.

Have you ever tried to estimate the satisfaction, pleasure and financial returns that you get when you send ten cents for a package of Diamond Dyes? The advantages and profits are strikingly wonderful. Faded and dingy looking dresses, blouses, capes, knitted shawls, hose, lace curtains, and pieces of drapery are all restored to their original value and usefulness. The truth is, they are made as good as new and the cost only ten cents.

This work is done every day by thousands with the Diamonds Dyes. Beware of imitations that some dealers offer for the sake of big profits.

Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, P. Q., for valuable book of directions and sample color card; sent post free to any address.

A Difficult Situation.

"I'm in a quandary," remarked the fire eating citizen.

"Of what nature?"

"I challenged that magazine editor."

"What did he do about it?"

"Sent me a printed slip saying that my manuscript had been received, and would be read as soon as it could be reached in its turn."—Washington Star.
