Fortunes Made By Accident.

If there is anything that makes a poor, toiling man happy, it is to read about flukes that have made fortunes. For instance; there was a captain of a vessel plying between English and Australian points who made a lucky strike when convicts were taken to New South Wales.

A "time-expired" man came to the mariner and begged to be taken home. The former convict had no money, but he would gladly give his plot of land for transportation.

The captain accepted the terms, and great is the joy of his descendants, for the plot is now occupied by a wharf and is valued at $1,125,000.

A Limerick tobacconist believed himself to be ruined by a fire that destroyed his shop. The next day he found tins of snuff that had been in the fire. Curiosity prompted him to open the canisters. He found that the action of the flames improved the aroma and pungency of the snuff. The discovery made him very rich.

The discovery of the Mount Sheba mine was purely a fluke, and its output of gold is the greatest of any mine in the world except in the Klondike district.

A bank clerk in London heard that there was a rich deposit of gold at a certain place at the Cape of Good Hope. He set about forming a provisional syndicate among his fellow-clerks, and they raised about $1700 between themselves. A mining engineer was sent out. He made a thorough investigation, but found no gold. He had decided to give up the search and was ready to leave for home when he ran across a miner.

"Well, stranger," he said, "I guess you are on a hunt for the shiny. 'Tain't here, boss."

"Have you a claim here?" asked the engineer.

"Yes, and I want to make tracks up the country. That's my claim over by the camel's hump. You can have it for $100, and here's a sample of the quartz. That claim ain't worth its weight in gold, but it's worth every dollar I ask for it."

The engineer examined the specimen and decided that there was gold in it. He acted quickly.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, mate," he said; "I'll give you $80 on the risk of losing it."

The bargain was struck and the claim carefully explored. An abundance of gold was found in the most unlikely veins. Today the shares, the face value of which is $100, are worth $500,000 each.—San Francisco Chronicle.

No Uncertain Verdict.

The Ladies Are Continually Praising Diamond Dyes.

The strong assertion can be made, without fear of contradiction, that no other package dyes for home dyeing ever commanded the praise and admiration of the millions as have the wonderful and popular Diamond Dyes.

Mrs. W. F. Curtis, Albany, P. E. I., says: "Have used Diamond Dyes for seven years, and have always had success with them."

Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Mantoulin Island, Ont., says: "I have used your Diamond Dyes for many years with greatest success, and like them better than any other make of dyes."

Mrs. Jas. McClelland, Surrey Centre, B. C., says: "I have bought your Diamond Dyes for a great many years, and they have proved good and true."

Mrs. Chas. Leask, Arden Station, Man., says: "I am a farmer's wife and have used lots of the Diamond Dyes in my time; they always make old clothes look as good as new."

Mrs. W. J. Porter, Peterboro, Ont., says: "I have been using your Diamond Dyes for many years, and they do all that is claimed for them."

Mrs. Aubin, Shefford Vale, P. Q., says: "Have used Diamond Dyes for many years and think they are the best; do not wish to try any other make."

Mrs. Chas. Gagne, St. Chrysostome, P. Q., says: "Your Diamond Dyes are splendid and should be kept in every home."

Mrs. Chas. Lewis, Hamilton, Ont., says: "The Diamond Dyes are far ahead of other Dyes I have tried; they give the clearest and brightest colors. No wonder your dyes are most popular."

Woman brings us into the world, woman is our first teacher, woman makes the world what it is, from century to century. We can no more escape from woman, and yet continue to live our lives as they should be lived, than we can hide ourselves from Nature. We are in her care or in her power during more than half our years, and often during all, from first to last. We are born of her, we grow of her, as truly as trees and flowers come of the mother earth and draw their life from the soil in which they are planted. The man who denies his mother is a bad man, and the man who has not loved woman is a man in darkness.—F. Marion Crawford.

Where Specialists Failed Dr. Chase Cured Catarrh.

James Spence, Clachan, Ont., writes:—"I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. It became chronic and I had given up hopes of ever being cured when advised by a friend to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I at once started and am pleased to state three boxes effected a complete cure, and I heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from Catarrh."

"Do you believe in the higher education of women?" "Oh, yes—and even of men."

CHARGE OF THE BARGAIN BRIGADE.

(With Proper Apologies)

"Bargain Sale! Bargain Sale!" Newspapers thundered. Up to the Palace of Trade Strode the Six Hundred.

"Forward! Our fortune's made! Charge on the clerks!" they said. Into the Palace of Trade Rushed the Six Hundred.

"Goods sold for half their worth," Was this a cause for mirth? Women who saw the sign Not even wondered. Theirs not to make reply, Theirs but to simply buy, But in the Palace of Trade— Thought the Six Hundred.

Bargains to right of them, Bargains to left of them, Front of them—back of them— Volleyed and thundered. What they bought none knew well, Weak ones grew faint and fell. Tho' dresses ripped, kee-r-rack! Into the crush pell-mell Dove the Six Hundred!

Boldly and well they fought; Then home her spoils brought Each wife and daughter. Let this be their defence. All saved at least 10 cents— Some saved a quarter.

The Most Prominent are Fashionable.

Dyspepsia or indigestion has become a fashionable disease. There are very few individuals who have not at various times experienced the miserable feeling caused by defective digestion. No pen can describe the keen suffering of the body, and the agony and anguish of mind endured by the Dyspeptic. Dr. La Londe, of 236 Pine Ave., Montreal, says, "When I ever run across chronic cases of Dyspepsia I always prescribe Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and my patients generally have quick relief."

A Bad Investment.

Mrs. Holden—John, we'll never be able to save a cent if you don't quit being so extravagant.

Mr. Holden—Why, my dear, I'm not at all extravagant.

Mrs. Holden—Yes, you are. There's that accident policy you bought nearly a year ago and you haven't used it once. If that isn't extravagance, I don't know what is.

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

There is another thing that militates against Woodstock. There is no pride of appearance. Just take a look up or down Main street. Is it pretty? Is it even clean? Does a traveller as he looks up or down our principle street say "What a tidy town"? For the past years our sidewalks have been a constant shame to us, and a joke to our visitors. To be sure some fifteen hundred dollars is to be expended this year. With this a start may be made. But $1500 is not going to put asphalt on Main street and keep our streets tidy, too. Are we to have this year, the straggling grass, the thistles and other weeds, thriving luxuriantly between the centre of the road and the sidewalk. Can much be done with $1500? Perhaps. Now, we come to another count. What is there in Woodstock to make it desirable as a residential locality? Everyone will agree that we want to bring men here with means. True, we have, after a bitter struggle, succeeded in removing the menace to health which our schools, long afforded. We have money for a public library. We might have a museum. But, it is talk, talk, talk, nothing but talk. We are no nearer a library or a public park than we were twenty years ago. Even if we do not care to read or to look at pretty pictures, we might give our children such opportunities, but, alas! to get money is the first and great commandment and to keep it so hidden that it will benefit no one but the owner, is the second. If Woodstock takes a back seat it is the fault of its inhabitants. I have little fear of that, however. The crisis, I feel confident will be passed all right, and the town will take a fresh start on the road to progress.

* * *

There is a depressed feeling amongst the business men of Woodstock. It is too patent, too notorious to attempt to deny. The longed for spring improvement has not come. Woodstock is scarcely holding its own. What is to be the end? There is no need of a prophet to foretell. We have many enterprising men in Woodstock. The moment they become satisfied that the town is going backward instead of forward, they will haul up anchors and depart. In what way can we so work together to help the place and keep up its reputation as a first-class town—a reputation for many years, it has enjoyed. There is one answer and one answer only. Men who have money must invest it in business enterprises which will increase the prosperity of the place. New enterprises must be started, or—the town goes backward. There are too many stores already. Any one engaged in mercantile business will tell you that. Business must actually get into a new channel. We are now passing through a crisis. The next twelve months will probably decide whether Woodstock is to keep its position among the first towns of the Maritime provinces or whether business decline will set in. Unless our men of money will come to the front—and we have men of money all right, the future of the town does not promise much progress.

The Spanish appear to have had lots of fun over the Matanzas bombardment, and the official Spanish announcement that one mule was killed. It was an untimely joke as events proved. The Boston Herald has a well-timed cartoon representing the admiral of the Spanish fleet, writing a letter to the Queen Regent of Spain. It reads "Dear Queen, We lost more than one mule this time." It is not well to be laughing too soon.

The bottom seems to have dropped out of the Klondike boom since the war. The young and valiant are after glory, but the chap who toils his way to Klondike and picks up some of the gold, will be better twenty years hence than the fellow who enlists in Uncle Sam's navy. Glory is a great thing but glory pays no bills. Gold does, and there is more gold in prospecting the Klondike stream, than in shooting Spaniards.
