

HEALTH IN MARCH, APRIL, MAY!

Use the Only Spring Remedy in the world that Has Stood Every Test of Time.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND MAKES ONE WELL!

In March, April and May use Paine's Celery Compound. And only Paine's Celery Compound! For it is nature's remedy.

It is the only spring medicine that the best physicians recommend.

Clergymen of all denominations speak of the wonderful medicine with enthusiasm.

Paine's Celery Compound has a record of life-saving work that has never been equalled.

Paine's Celery Compound cures disease. It makes people well. It has saved the lives of thousands of sufferers. It makes the weak strong.

It purifies the blood and enriches the nerves.

Every condition of winter life has been detrimental to health. There has been a steady decline in nervous vigor. Now that spring has come the body is ready to cast off unhealthy issues if it is only given a chance.

This opportunity comes when the excretory organs, kidneys, skin and bowels are made to work actively and the nerves are able to furnish sufficient energy to the digestive organs.

No remedy in the world accomplishes these results like Paine's Celery Compound. It nourishes, regulates and invigorates the entire nervous system from the brain to the minutest nerve filament. It causes an increased appetite and tones up the stomach to deal with the increased food. Its nourishing action is immediately manifest in a clearing up of the muddy, unhealthy skin, the increase in weight and more refreshing sleep.

First discovered after laborious, scientific research by the ablest physician America has produced, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, it is prescribed and publicly endorsed by the best practitioners in every city of America. It has been so enthusiastically recommended by grateful men and women in every walk of life that it is today in every sense the most popular remedy the world ever knew.

It has proven itself the greatest of all spring medicines.

In Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Quebec, Halifax, St. John, Winnipeg and other cities, the leading druggists have found that the demand for Paine's Celery Compound surpasses that of all other remedies together!

Paine's Celery Compound, taken during the early spring days, has even more than its usual remarkable efficacy in making people well. It makes short work of disease. It rapidly drives out neuralgia, sleeplessness, dyspepsia and rheumatism from the system. It removes that lassitude, or "tired feeling," which betokens weakened nerves and poor blood.

Women working in close offices; saleswomen tired out and nervous from long hours standing on their feet and waiting on impatient, irritating customers; overworked everywhere will be astonished to find how much happier life becomes when their nerves have been straightened and their blood purified by means of this great remedy.

No other remedy has the hearty approval of a like body of educated men and women and professional men, nor has there ever been a remedy that was welcomed in so many intelligent, prudent homes where care is taken to get only the best in so vital a matter. In such families all over the country Paine's Celery Compound is the first, last and only remedy used.

Prof. Phelps had studied the nerves in health and disease, when well nourished and when under-nourished, in men and women and children years before he looked for the remedy. Paine's Celery Compound is the outcome of his entire professional life. It is the one remedy that the world could not lose today at any price.

Paine's Celery Compound induces the body to take on solid flesh.

Physicians recognize Paine's Celery Compound as the one scientific spring remedy, and it is universally prescribed by them wherever there is great need of vigorous and prompt restoring of health and strength to the worn-out system.

Paine's Celery Compound is the best spring remedy because it is more than a mere spring remedy. It brings about a healthy appetite, complete digestion, regular action of the bowels, and other excretory organs whenever taken, whether in summer or in winter; but as the greatest of spring remedies it has extraordinary opportunities for inducing the body to throw off morbid humors that poison it and cause rheumatism, neuralgia, heart trouble and a general low state of the health, as in spring the system is more pliable, and chronic diseases, so securely lodged in the system that they are with difficulty ousted, become more tractable.

Thousands of men and women have found from personal experience that Paine's Celery Compound makes people well, and keeps all from sickness who take it in the spring.

Many a father and mother have noticed the unmistakable improvement in the health of their children from taking Paine's Celery Compound in the spring. It is the one scientifically accurate remedy fitted by its composition to thoroughly purify the blood and dispel that exhausted feeling and get rid of skin diseases, headaches and fits of depression with which children with weak, nervous systems, as well as grown people, are afflicted.

"TIME FOR A CHANGE."

It would seem that the canvas "it is time for a change" had some effect in the recent Ontario elections. The result is certainly favorable to the conservative opposition. Like Bunker hill, which was nominally a victory for the British, though actually a victory for the Americans, the polling on the first, leaves Mr. Hardy in possession. The victory, however, has much in it, of defeat.

The liberals have been in power nearly twenty-six years in Ontario. Probably the administration of affairs, during that long period, has, on the whole been in the interests of the people of the province. But when Sir Oliver Mowat retired the people felt no longer constrained to vote for his party. They felt that it was time for a change for Sir Oliver it was time for a change, generally.

The Toronto Globe which had used this expression on the eve of the federal elections, with considerably naive remarked, when it was used by its opponents with regard to Ontario, "it is never time for a change for the worse." There was a suspicion of cant in this for an aggregation of liberals and an aggregation of conservatives contain about an equal proportion of political virtue and ability.

It is significant, that whereas the prestige of two governments was in this election on the side of the liberals in Ontario, their influence did not prevent the conservatives gaining some twenty seats.

The people still rule, for which, jubilate! Nothing is more terrible than a democracy in which the people do not rule. When a people are under bosses, and their voice is stifled by powerful ministries and governments, they may well, like the ancient people, ask for a king, and a king that will rule, absolutely.

We all have our political preferences, but on sober reflection no lover of his country will regret the result of this late election.

The politicians, conservative or liberal, who think they can, by means of improper influence, dictate to the electorate, need to be reminded that they are servants, not masters of the country.

A BREEZY SESSION.

No one can complain that the legislature at Fredericton has not afforded spicy reading. There may be a complaint that to afford spicy matter for the newspapers is not the first duty of a legislature.

A valued contemporary has remarked that Mr. Tweedie took about twice as long to deliver his budget speech, before the legislature, as is taken by the Chancellor of the Exchequer of England, in delivering his financial statement. One would scarcely fancy that the interests of New Brunswick are proportionately so much greater than the interests of England, as to require more time for an exposition from the financial authority.

Mr. Tweedie and Mr. Lockhart appear to have had an interesting "scrap." There were many calls to order by a long suffering speaker, and reproofs administered by a dignified St. John representative.

Mr. Tweedie accused Mr. Lockhart of incapacity to "make a deal," intimating that his brain power was not sufficient to perform such a task, and of course Mr. Lockhart replied in similar kind. It might be remarked in passing, that the province can dispense with that ability in its representatives, which is shown by "making deals," and we can also spare gentlemen who are profuse in making speeches.

There was a little time between the premier and Mr. Pinder of York.

Well! the mock parliament has had a good time now. Let the boys on each side shake for the drinks and then get home. It has been good fun, and they are all smart chaps, but its a little expensive on the farmer.

The Village Blacksmith's Song—Years of Pain—But South American Rheumatic Cure Welded the Link Which Binds Him to Good Health Again.

This is what J. H. Gadbois, Blacksmith, of Arnprior, Ont., says: "I was a great sufferer from acute rheumatism. I used many remedies without relief. I was induced to try South American Rheumatic Cure. The first dose helped me, and before I had used half the bottle I was greatly benefitted. It has cured me, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from rheumatism."—Sold by Garden Bros.

Rural Burglar Alarms.

Farmers, country storekeepers and others in the sparsely settled districts of east Pennsylvania are alarmed by the frequency with which burglaries are committed by tramps, and they are setting up various odd devices for their protection. The ordinary electric burglar alarm has not yet come into general use. Trap guns are one device. At one store, recently, a country merchant set a gun trap so that, if the front door was opened at night it would pull a wire fastened to the trigger of the gun. Burglars got into the store by a rear cellar hole and carried off a wagon load of plunder, laughing at the trap gun.

The trap guns sometimes shoot the store keepers themselves and as they do not always keep away the burglars other means of protection are sought, in place of the wire and gong. Others have a weight so arranged that it will fall if the doors are opened. One merchant has two large tin wash boilers suspended above the doors, so that they will fall and make a loud noise in case the store is entered at night. Such devices are well enough where there are sleepers over the stores, but at barns, ware-houses, shops, creameries, cigar factories and the like in dark villages, at some distance from any dwellings, the case is different. At one shop so situated a small stick of dynamite was used attached to a weight. When the door was forced by burglars a weight fell and the dynamite exploded. The burglars ran off and the front of the shop was wrecked. The trouble is the quantity of dynamite to be used cannot be regulated so as to make a noise without doing damage.

At one Lancaster county factory there is a large bell in a tower. A thin wire holds back the tongue or clapper of the bell. If the factory door is opened at night the clapper is released and the bell is rung, loud enough all over the village. At many an old farmhouse they still have a small tower on the roof containing a bell with a clapper string running down into the family bedroom and the end of the rope hanging at the farmer's bedside. If burglars come or if help is needed at night from any cause, the bell can be rung without getting out of bed.

Years ago farmers paid very little attention to securing their premises at night. Now everything is changed. It is one man's business after dusk, to take the big bunch of keys from the kitchen window and go out and lock the poultry house, the corn crib, the carriage house, the stables, the barn doors, in fact everything but the pig pens. Burglars have not yet got to stealing hogs, but they have butchered cattle in the field at night and hauled off the beef. Good locks are used, not the ordinary padlocks which expert tramps long ago learned to open with a bent nail. The operations of a trap gun may figure in the courts of this county this month. The manager of a creamery put up a trap gun, and one night it went off with a bang. A country paper published a story about it, and associated the reported shooting of a man with the trap gun, and the man instituted a suit for libel.

Some up-to-date farmers living near towns with electric lights or trolley lines, have the latest burglar alarms. One farmer near Allentown has his barn and farm buildings connected with electric wires, and uses electric lights in the stables for early and late work in winter. He also has electric bells to ring at night if burglars gain entrance anywhere about his premises. His electricity costs him very little as he is supplied from the city wires. This feature of farm protection will be generally adopted in time, but the trap gun, dynamite and bells will still be rigged up at remote places.

NOT SO EASY.

It is not so easy to cure an obstinate cough it won't cure itself. NORWAY PINE SYRUP is the remedy indicated because its record shows that it always cures coughs colds and all lung troubles.

Mulholland's Contract.

The fear was on the cattle, for the gale was on the sea,
An' the pens broke up on the lower deck an' let the cattle free—
An' the lights went out on the lower deck, an no one there but me.

I had been singin' to them to keep 'em quiet there.
For the lower deck is the dangerousest, requirin' constant care,
An' give to me as the strongest man, though used to drink and swear.

I see my chance was certain of bein' horned or trod.
For the lower deck was packed with steers thicker'n peas in a pod,
An' more pens broke in every roll—so I made a contract with God.

An' by the terms of the contract, as I have read the same,
If He got to the port alive I would exalt His name,
An' praise His Holy Majesty till further orders came.

He saved me from the cattle, an' He saved me from the sea,
For they found me 'tween two drowned ones where the roll had landed me—
An' a four-inch crack on my head, as crazy as could be.

But that were done by a stanchion, an' not by a bullock at all,
An' I lay still for seven weeks convalescing of the fall,
An' readn' the shiny Scripture texts in the seaman's Hospital.

An' I spoke to God of our contract an' He says to my prayer:
"I never put on my ministers no more than they can bear,
So back you go to the cattle boats an' preach My Gospel there."

"For human life is chancy at any kind of trade,
But most of all, as well you know, when the steers are mad afraid;
So you go back to the cattle boats an' preach 'em as I've said."

"They must quit drinkin' an' swearin', they mustn't knife on a blow,
They must quit gamblin their wages, and you must preach it so;
For now those boats are more like hell than anything else I know."

I didn't want to do it, for I know what I should get,
An' I wanted to preach religion, handsome an' out of the wet,
But the Word of the Lord was lain on me, an' I done what I was set.

I have been suit an' bruised, as warned would be the case,
An' turned my cheek to the smiter exactly as Scripture says;
But following that, I knocked him down an' led him up to Grace.

An' we have preachin' on Sundays whenever the sea is calm,
An' I use no knife or pistol an' I never take no harm,
For the Lord abideth back of me to guide my fighting arm.

An' I sign for four pound ten a month and save the money clear,
An' I am in charge of the lower deck an' never lose a steer;
An' I believe in Almighty God an' preach His Gospel here.

The skippers say I'm crazy, but I can prove 'em wrong,
For I am in charge of the lower deck with all that doth belong, and the competition so strong!
