WHAT LONDON IS WORTH.

Some of the Fancy Prices Her Real Estate Would Fetch.

Values of real estate and some other things in the city of London are set forth in an article in a paper published there, says the Philadelphia Times. Mansion House, which cost $3,500,000 to build, is now valued at fully ten times that figure. The Royal Exchange, as a building of bricks and mortar, is worth $1,000,000, but land in that neighborhood has recently sold at the rate of $10,000,000 an acre. Eight bridges over the Thames cost $25,000,000 to build, but are now worth much more than that, while the tunnels underneath are worth other millions, and the embankment is worth probably double the $10,000,000 which it cost to make. If St. Paul's were private property, you might induce the owner to sell it for $50,000,000, but the likelihood is very remote. Those tattered banners which you have seen so often would arouse pretty keen bidding at the sales. Westminster Abbey is difficult to value. But the sales give us some idea of what historic treasures are worth in the market, and I should not be surprised if the abbey—put up in lots—realized $2,500,000,000.

The British Museum empty would be worth $7,500,000, and it is full of priceless treasures. The National Gallery is worth millions. It cost, with the new Tate gallery section, $1,750,000 to build, and has one picture that cost $70 an inch. The Nelson column, close by, is worth $250,000, and the statue of King George III., a little way down Pall Mall, cost $20,000. The Albert Hall and Royal Aquarium are both worth about $1,250,000, but the Crystal Palace cost more than three times the value of both of these. Earl's Court the great show rivaling the palace, has millions worth of treasures, and even when it is empty the 25 acres of gardens and buildings are worth $1,500,000. Imagine buying the Tower, the Holborn viaduct, the miles of sewers, walks and pavements; the various markets, of which four—which are for cattle—cost $50,000,000 between them; think of the hospitals and schools and churches, and fancy the market value of the parks cut into city lots. The entrances alone of Hyde Park are said to have cost nearly $7,500,000.

THE CYCLISTS' FRIEND.

No cyclist's kit is complete without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Can be taken internally or externally. For Cuts, Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Coughs, Sore Throat, Pains in the Chest, etc., it is always effectual. Has no equal as an all round remedy.

Wheat Crop of the World.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20th, 1898.—According to the monthly statement of finance and commerce, issued by the bureau of statistics the wheat crop of the world last year was only 2,139,549,168 bushels, against 2,430,497,000 in 1896, the world's crop of 1897 being smaller than that of any year since 1890, while the 1897 crop in the United States is reported as larger than in any year since 1891.

The average farm price of wheat in the United States in 1897 was the highest since 1883, except in 1888, 1890 and 1891.

The import duties of various countries on wheat are shown to be: Austria-Hungary, 19.5 cents per bushel; United States, 25 cents; Germany, 22.7 cents with treaty countries, and 32.2 cents with other countries; France, 36.8 cents; Italy, 36.8 cents, and Portugal, 58.7 cents.

Tables quoted from the report of the department of agriculture estimate the wheat in farmers' hands in the United States March 1, 1898, at 121,320,500 bushels, against 88,149,072 bushels at the corresponding date last year.

"PHYSICIAN HEAL THYSELF."

Nurse, Nurse Yourself—Six Years of Rheumatic Pains.

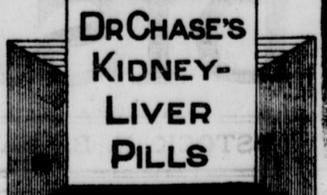

Mrs. Einer, professional nurse, Cornwallis St., Halifax, N. S., says: "For six years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism. Doctors treated me and I tried almost everything but got very little relief. I took a friend's advice and tried South American Rheumatic Cure. I have proved it a grand medicine, for before I had finished the second bottle my sufferings had ceased. I was completely cured, and have had no return of the pains." Sold by Garden Bros.

A New Russian Railway.

The Russian government is stated to have given orders for surveys to be made for a railway between Tashkent, Nornoje, and Sempalatinsk, in Central Asia. The proposed railway will run in line with the Chinese boundary about 200 miles from the border, and the distance between the two points is about 800 miles.

Sores Gone. Skin Clear.

Mrs. Philip Mitchell, St. Mary's Ont., says:—"My little boy, aged 10, was a complete mass of sores, caused by bad blood. We could find nothing to cure him. Finally I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and before half the bottle was gone he began to improve, and by the time the bottle was finished he had not a sore on him."

ONE PILL A DOSE.
25 CENTS A BOX.

Thoughts are the ailments upon which the mind feeds. If they are kept pure and in constant exercise, they impart health and vigor, and are like fertilizing currents running through the soul. There is one view respecting them that should awaken the greatest anxiety to have them under proper control. A simple thought, whether good or evil, will introduce other trains of reflection of a kindred nature. Thoughts love company, and will gather round them others of a congenial character, and it is therefore of the highest importance that we should convene within the chamber of the mind those of an ennobling and purifying nature.

CONSTIPATION CURED.

It's important you should have natural action of the bowels. Purging and gripping do violence to the system. Laxa-Liver Pills are nature's own medicine for all Disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Care Constipation by toning the bowel wall and stimulating the secretions. Leave no bad after effects.

Possessed of wisdom with microscope in hand, we shall need a sympathetic eye to be really in search of truth. There is no Gospel in reminding men continually of their sin, it is the cure they need.

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

It is better if one is making a gift, to do it outright. Conditions attached, rob the gift of its value, and the donee regards it, as only half a gift. I notice that a rich lady in New York left $100,000 to Princeton University. There were no "ifs" and "ors" in the matter. This is the correct way to give. Do not hedge your gift with conditions. If you don't wish to give, don't, if you do give, give.

"The curfew laws that have been passed in numerous towns up in Western Massachusetts are not enforced, and no heed is paid to them, either by the authorities or by the children on the streets after nightfall. This movement to substitute bylaws for parental discipline operates as might be expected in sensible communities." This from the Boston Herald. Like the towns in Mass., we have a curfew by-law, which will probably be as much a dead letter as it is in those states.

"A satirical Republican senator from New England is reported to have evolved the following lines after reading the latest list of army nominations:
Sons of great men all remind us
We may make our lives sublime,
And with papa's push behind us
We can get there every time."

With politicians in places of trust in peace times, there is a bad state of affairs. How much worse, when, in time of war, competent military commanders, have to give way to the man with "the pull."

It is a very ill wind that blows nobody any good. War is bad, but it has its compensations. How would we ever keep posted in our geography, if it were not for the lessons, which we are forced to learn by reason of these wars and rumours thereof. For instance, we knew nothing of the Philippines, until we heard of Dewey crossing over from Hong Kong, and smashing the Spanish tow boats, lying around about. What did we ever know about Cuba, until the Maine was destroyed. Cardenas and Cienfuegos, and Santiago de Cuba, and Manilla and Porto Porto and Martinique and Curocoa and Caracas, are familiar words in our mouths, but a year ago or three months ago, we would be blessed if we knew such places existed. And so, we learn our geography, by object lessons, the best of all lessons. We even know about Ta Wa Kays, Li Hi Chis, and Ten Len Wens, and other Chinese ports, that we never were in the habit of thinking about. After this little fracas between the Yankee and the Don, there may be a bigger one between the Johnnie Bull and the Russ, and then we will all put away our maps of Cuba and the Caribbean Sea, and take to the study of China, and other Asiatic lands.

Punctuality is a virtue. There can be no doubt about that. The man who is always ten minutes late for a meeting, who will not be at a certain place at the time named, because "no one is there," is an immitigated nuisance. No one will be there, until somebody goes. Some people are forever missing the train. They seem to think that because a public meeting will wait for them, the train will do likewise, but railway companies are not built that way. Speaking of punctuality, I am led to discuss a habit quite common in this community. It is with regard to the unpunctuality in funerals. Business men are notified that such and such a funeral will be at two o'clock. With a due respect for the deceased, they leave their business and go to the funeral at two o'clock. It is three, frequently, before the funeral leaves the house, and by the time, the business man gets back to work, he has lost two hours. There is no reason in this. It can, in no way, tend to show respect for the deceased. Let funeral notices announce the time the funeral will leave the house, and let punctuality be observed in this, as in other appointments. I am reminded of a story, in which the humorous Yankee figures. He was present at a funeral in some western country village, when there was just the same kind of delay, that we seem to so thoroughly enjoy in this county. Finally the Yankee could retain himself no longer. So, going up to solemn-choly looking individual, he remarked, "Did you know the corpse?" "Yes, sir" was the response. "So did I" said the Yankee "and the corpse was a terrible smart man. Why, stranger, if the corpse had had the running of this slow, one hoss, country funeral, he'd have had himself tucked under ground two smart ago. Yes, sir, deceased was a terrible smart man."
