FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Alex. Dunbar & Sons, iron founders etc., of this town have recently been very busy getting up water tube steam boilers and thawing outfits for parties going to the Klondike. They have already shipped three complete sets, also one small steam engine and propeller for steamboat. They have orders for several more to be got ready as fast as possible. Steam thawing is nothing new here as it has been used very successfully for over ten years in connection with the town waters works, of which Messrs. Dunbar were the first engineers. Having heard of the difficulties which had to be overcome in getting heavy materials into the Klondike and thawing the ground by burning wood, Messrs. Dunbar & Sons set about modifying their water tube boilers which they have been building for over ten years so as to make it as suitable as possible to meet the requirements of the miners. The boilers they have shipped are about seven horse power they are made in four sections the entire weight being about four hundred and twenty-five pounds and are easily put together by inexperienced men. These boilers are especially adapted for the designed purpose as they are made with very large superheating space which gives extremely dry steam, they have large reserve water domes from which the boiler proper takes its water supply as it is evaporated, there are large steam domes in which are placed spray pipes and there are water heating coils placed so as to absorb the heat from the gases as they ascend into the chimney thus heating the feed water to a high degree. The furnace is very large in proportion being twenty-four by twenty-eight inches giving ample space for rough fuel, the case is made of heavy galvanized iron lined with asbestos one quarter inch thick, the boiler is made of strong wrought iron pipes with extra fittings and all the dome heads are welded in, making it very strong and safe and easily repaired. Each section as it is made is tested to a high pressure with cold water. The first boiler of this kind which has been in use for over ten years has been frequently allowed to run dry with heavy fire in the furnace without showing any bad effects in any way. These boilers by the very rapid circulation keep very clean. Sections taken from boilers which have been in use for years are as clean and sound as when first put in and as the water space is small it makes it convenient in filling or emptying when necessary. They are supplied with all necessary appliances including McAvity's newest boiler, feeder and pop safety valve and a hand pump which can be used to fill boiler or for other purpose being fitted with rubber suction and discharge hose. Along with the outfit sent there is sixty feet extra quality steam hose with special constructed nozzles for thawing and an ejector which can be attached to the steam hose and used for discharging water from the works, this water which is hot and is discharging with considerable force can be used in different ways as for washing on a small scale, its capacity being six hundred gallons per hour.

Together with these goes an auger on the hollow principle, this can be easily sunk in the steam thawed hole or ground so as to ascertain quality of dirt which is being operated on and as the steam thawing processes works up the ground any heavy particles will likely be in the bottom. A steam rock drill can be used very conveniently with the hose and boiler in quartz mining. The thawing operation &c. has been witnessed by a large number of our leading men and experienced miners who have expressed their opinion that it was just what was required, there is no difficulty in thawing one foot deep per minute and in a large number of tests the nozzle sunk into the frozen ground five feet in four minutes thawing a space of about two feet around the nozzle. Arrangements are being made to form a company to manufacture these appliances on a large scale and ship same to some point in the Yukon district. Messrs. Walton and Whitney who leave here for Klondike today take a complete outfit with them. They have been watching the construction of their boiler and seeing it tested and are more than pleased with it. They are both old miners and know a good thing when they see it. Walton and Whitney are authorized by Dunbar & Sons to take orders for these boilers. All orders will be filled as promptly as they can be made up.
