NOTHING BUT MUD

Where The Gaol Work Was So Thriving.

An Injunction Exposed In all the Baldness Tomorrow will Tell the Tale of How Things Will Be—Contractor McAnna and Men are Only Waiting.

Injunction is all the talk over the gaol question. Contractor McAnna was making good headway, when one day, he was suddenly ordered to quit, by nothing less than an order from a Supreme Court Judge. Since that time the county lot has been like a deserted village. And it was all because of an injunction, and the injunction was as follows:—

In the Supreme Court in Equity, Isaac B. Curtis plaintiff and municipality of Carleton and P. McAnna defendants.

Before His Honour Mr. Justice Vanwart. To the above named defendants and their workman, laborers, servants and agents, you and each of you are hereby strictly enjoined and commanded under penalty of $4000 to be levied on your lands, goods and chattels, also imprisonment, to desist henceforth altogether and absolutely for a period of thirty days from this date, from further proceeding to excavate the earth for the foundation of the building for the common gaol now being done within the town of Woodstock, and doing any act or thing relating to said work of building, and; you, the said municipality of Carleton and any committee appointed by you, from borrowing any money or effecting any temporary loan with or from any bank, person or persons, or from borrowing any money whatever to be expended or applied, or from expending or applying any money whatever in or about the construction of the said gaol, or in any way relating thereto, and for any work whatever, or material respecting the same, or from entering into any contract for the building of the said gaol and the purchase or providing any material for the same, until thirty days from the date of this order, or till any order shall be made to the contrary, it appearing to me that there is no case of immediate necessity, and the plaintiff having undertaken by his counsel to abide by any order the court may make as to damages, in case the court shall be of opinion that the defendants shall have sustained any, by reason of this order, which the plaintiff ought to pay, the plaintiff to proceed within said period of thirty days to move the court for the injunction on notice to the defendants Given under my hand this 10th day of Sept. 1898 J. A. Vanwart J. S. C. Indorsed by D. McLeod Vice, plaintiff's attorney.

On Friday the defendants by A. B. Connell obtained a summons from Judge Vanwart calling upon the plaintiffs to show cause why the injunction order should not be discharged or varied. The summons order is returnable next Friday.

Mournful Mush.

The assassination of the unhappy Empress of Austria aroused general horror throughout civilization. All respectable newspapers published articles expressing their indignation. Though this journal has no personal acquaintance with the deceased lady, it had formed of her a rather favorable opinion, and believes her to have been a fairly good woman, though somewhat eccentric, and it can therefore join in the general expressions of regret and sorrow at her assassination. Murder is one of the worst of all crimes, and murderers should pay the severest penalty.

But having expressed its sorrow for the murder of the Empress, this journal feels indisposed to do anything more. It has no taste for the flow of mournful mush that has prevailed. It does not quite see why it should be more sorrowful for the murder of an Empress than for the murder of any other respectable woman. Why should any deeper feeling be aroused for the death of a foreign Empress than for the death of an esteemed local laundress? It is quite right that kindly feeling and sympathy should be extended to rank and station rather than individual worth? If Mrs. Jones, the cook, should be murdered ought her death to cause less sorrow than the murder of a woman holding by mere accident of birth some high title? Miss Jinkins, the city type-writer, might be assassinated each day for a month or two, and nobody even pretend to drop a tear, but if a Duchess should be assassinated everybody joins in a sympathetic wail.

Is not this another evidence of the survival of the tribal barbarism of chief-worship and in the continued existence of the feudalism of the Dark Ages?

This journal is sorry the Empress was murdered. It would be equally sorry if Mrs. Jones was murdered. Why should it be more sorrow for the one than for the other? If

Mrs. Jones, the laundress, and an Empress were both murdered at the same moment, would there be a reserved in the heavenly choir for the one, and merely standing room in the gallery for the other?

Who performs the most useful function, the laundress, or the Empress?

The community could not well get along without laundresses. Society would not fall to pieces if Empresses ceased to exist.—Bob-cageon Independent.

Jacksonville Wedding.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday morning in St. Peter's church, Jacksonville, when Dr. Prescott, of Pokiok, and Miss Ella Simonson, only daughter of Mr. Albert Simonson, of Jacksonville, were united in matrimony, Archdeacon Neales officiating, assisted by the brother of the bride, Rev. E. W. Simonson, of St. Andrews. The bride, who was given away by her father, was prettily attired in a gown of white satin, with veil to match, and orange blossoms. She was supported by two maids, Miss Prescott and Miss Watson. The groom was assisted by Mr. Fred. A. Estey. The ushers were, Dr. Garrison of Houlton, and Mr. John Emery. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and was filled with an interested audience of spectators. Miss Simonson had filled for some time the position of organist of the church, and is generally a favorite in the community. After the ceremony a lunch and reception were held at the home of the bride's father, after which the young couple left for their future home in Pokiok, followed by the heartiest congratulations of a host of friends. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Centreville Wedding.

One of the prettiest weddings ever held in our quiet little village was solemnized on the 20th, inst at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webb when their only daughter Annie Maud was united in marriage to Granville H. Page, of Tracy Mills. The groom was supported by Mr. W. B. Webb, brother of the bride while the bride charmingly attired in white was attended by Miss Page sister of the groom, in the presence of about fifty guests the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Jos. A. Cahill assisted by the Rev. William DeWare.

After a very pleasant time spent in well wishes and congratulations during which luncheon was indulged in, the happy couple left in the 4 o'clock train for St. John. The presents were beautiful and numerous, among which was a handsome gold watch from the groom all attesting the high appreciation in which the bride is held. The bride and groom returned home on Saturday from their wedding tour.

Death of S. S. Golding.

The remains of Stephen S. Golding a former resident of Woodstock arrived here for burial today, accompanied by his daughters Miss M. E. H. Golding, of Roxbury, Mass., and Mrs. Sanderson of Fredericton. Wm. Black of Fredericton also came up with the remains. It was just about a month ago that the remains of Mrs. Golding were brought here for burial. She was 70 years of age and Mr. Golding 75. Deceased was born near Fredericton and is largely connected throughout the province. Rev. Mr. Marr, Methodist minister, officiated at the service held on the arrival of the remains. Deceased at one time occupied a house in the rear of Connell's foundry. While here he was engaged on the railway. He has several sons in Boston but they were unable to be present. Mr. Golding was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Victory For Dreyfus.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—At a meeting of the cabinet this morning, all the ministers being present, a decision was taken in favor of a revision of the trial of former Captain Dreyfus, and the documents in the case will be sent to the court of Cassation.

Burglary.

A BURGLARY of rather unusual dimensions for Aroostook took place in Washburn Wednesday morning, the objective point of attack being the safe of Postmaster Woodman. About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning a school teacher who boards opposite the Post office was awakened by a noise, and jumping out of bed and looking out, saw two men standing in the street and one inside the office. He immediately dressed himself and gave the alarm, but before any one arrived the burglars had decamped. An examination of the premises showed that they had pried the office door open, and after effecting an entrance had proceeded to blow the safe to pieces. It is reported that the robbers took out of the safe a large number of stamps, $2,000 in money and notes belonging to Mr. Woodman, and several registered letters. The burglars were tracked along the road leading down river by some stamps which they dropped, but no clue as yet has been discovered as to their identity.—Star Herald Presque Isle.

WHERE YOU ARE TO VOTE.

List of The Polling Places in Town and County.

Tomorrow's Plebiscite, and What it Means—Meeting of Christian Endeavourers of The County—They Elect Officers And Do Other Business.

Much interest attaches to the plebiscite tomorrow on the question of the adoption of a prohibitory law. The idea of a plebiscite is something considerable novel, and is based somewhat on the precedent of the referendum, in vogue particularly in Switzerland, and in other countries to a certain extent.

Under this idea the people vote directly upon certain questions, and the vote means the adoption of the measure voted upon. That is the idea of the referendum. It is hardly considered that a plebiscite is the same thing as the referendum. It is an expression of the wish of the people regarding some question on which a government is particularly desirous that the voice of the people shall be secured. The franchise is a sacred trust in the hands of every man and on this as on all other questions he has a right to exercise it free and untrammelled.

With regard to the voting in Woodstock proper all persons from A. to F. both inclusive will vote in the council chamber where R. B. Jones will be returning officer and C. R. Watson, clerk.

Those who rejoice in cognomens beginning with G. to M. inclusive will cast their ballots, in due form of law, and with a due regard to their rights at the store of H. N. Payson, on Emerald St., back of C. G. Connell's, where M. McManus will be returning officer, and H. N. Payson, clerk.

In the engine room of the town hall, Robt. Stephenson will be returning officer and Chas. McLean clerk. All who have the fortune to have names running from N. to Z. will here vote.

G. N. A. Burnham will be returning officer at Upper Woodstock, for non resident voters, at the Court House.

The northern portion of the Parish of Woodstock will vote at the town hall proper, up stairs. Jarvis Bedell will be returning officer.

The voters in the lower part of the parish of Woodstock will vote at John Scott's.

In the other parishes as follows: Richmond, Debec, Richmond Corner; Wakefield, Victoria Corner, Jacksonville; Wicklow, Tracey's Mills, and Theodore Estey's; Brighton, Hartland, Carlisle; Peel, Hamars school house; Northampton, Grafton; Kent, John Murphy, Johnville, and at John Gibson's. The easterly part of the parish with a part of the easterly part of Aberdeen, at the For-eston school house. The balance of Aberdeen at Love's.

The voting is on the provincial lists, the lists for the dominion having been abolished. The hours for voting will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Sir John C. Allen.

Many old friends of the retired chief justice will learn of him with sad interest. An item in the St. John Globe says:—"Sir John C. Allen took an ill turn Sunday and his condition this afternoon is causing his friends much anxiety." Sir John has been confined to his house for many years with a distressing mental illness.
