

Hard On The Judge.

In a case of slander that was heard not long ago a lady had gone into the witness box on behalf of the plaintiff, whose counsel was examining her.

"Now, madam," the lawyer began, please repeat the slanderous statements made by the defendant on this occasion, just as you heard them."

"Oh, they are unfit for any respectable person to hear!" was the emphatic answer.

"Then," said the examiner, coaxingly, suppose you just whispered them to the judge."

Mrs. Bangle—They say that half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, Bangle—Then it may be they don't read the patent medicine testimonials.

False one, said he, as he stalked from her presence, you now look upon my face for the last time. Well, your looks will be improved by wearing a mask, replied the unkind girl.

Not True.

There was a statement in the Woodstock Press last week to the effect that on the Thursday evening, previous, when some rowdiness was in progress on Main St., the four members of the police force were in the Opera House enjoying a show. If the Press includes me in that statement, it tells a falsehood. THOMAS MCCARRON.

Woodstock, Oct. 17, 1898.

AN OLD FASHIONED TIME.

And Right in the Centre of Culture, Too.

The St. John Globe says:—

There was a red hot time at the Loch Lomond fair on Thursday afternoon—all brought about by politics. In the language of a neutral onlooker there was more fun than could be obtained at a circus.

Among the visitors was the Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Provincial Secretary, who has a reputation for a certain kind of oratory. Now, in the oratorical sense, Mr. Tweedie is a stranger to the people of St. John, and is but little known personally in the parishes. It was not surprising then that, he should be called upon to make a speech. The Provincial Secretary accordingly mounted the steps of the Agricultural Society's hall, and, facing quite a large gathering, made an address of some length. Of course, he spoke of the excellent show held by the society and of the pleasure he felt at being present, etc., etc. Then he launched into politics, dealing with the government's agricultural policy at some length and referring to the charges made about the steel bridges, which, he said, Hon. Mr. Emmerson would satisfactorily answer. Mr. Tweedie spoke very well. Occupying a position on the steps alongside of him was Mr. Denis Connolly, the veteran Golden Grove politician, who had met Mr. Tweedie on that day for the first time, and who heartily endorsed his statements.

There was one gentleman present, however—a fellow-Conservative, too—who could not endorse Mr. Tweedie's speech. This was Dr. Gilchrist, of Portland. When the Provincial Secretary finished the doctor got on the steps and sailed into the Local government in his usual vigorous manner. Dr. Gilchrist is not famed for mincing his words. Quite the contrary. He attacked Mr. Tweedie and his colleagues with as strong language as he could command. "Corruption" was one of the mildest terms he employed. He attacked the government policy generally. He assailed the members of the government on the steel bridge business, he denounced the Northumberland deal, and he proclaimed that Lunatic Asylum affairs were corrupt. Mr. Connolly frequently corrected the doctor, but his words had no effect, for the speaker continued his scathing denunciation of the administration.

Mr. Tweedie felt called upon to respond, indignantly denying the charge of wholesale corruption, and declaring that no proof could be given in support of Dr. Gilchrist's statements. Mr. Tweedie told some funny stories too.

Then Mr. W. A. Quinton mounted the steps and made a speech, the main point of which was that Dr. Gilchrist was a liar. It is not necessary to publish what kind of a liar Mr. Quinton said Dr. Gilchrist was, but the doctor himself could have no doubt of Mr. Quinton's opinion of him. Mr. Quinton's strong language was brought out by Dr. Gilchrist's references to the Lunatic Asylum.

While this oratorical scrap was going on two of the spectators were differently engaged. As a result of a heated argument, one gave the other a "smash in the jaw" and four men had to hold back the man who was smacked. Altogether the day was a lively one.

Thrown out of a Carriage.

A serious accident occurred to Mr. S. C. Wiggins, of the grist mill, Meductic, on Sunday evening. He had driven to Lakeville, accompanied by Miss Gillies. On the way back, when passing through Jacksonville, after night, the harness broke and the horse ran away, breaking a shaft and throwing both passengers out. Mr. Wiggins sustained a fracture of the jaw, and was generally badly injured. Miss Gillies escaped with a badly bruised arm. The accident happened in front of Harris Ebbett's place. Mr. Gillies and Mr. Thos. Baker were driving behind and they came to the assistance of the injured parties. Miss Gillies was able to go to Mr. J. D. Ketchum's, where she lives at present, but Mr. Wiggins was obliged to stay at Mr. George Watson's in Jacksonville. He is under medical treatment.

Death of Bruce Gibson.

Mr. Bruce Gibson died at his home in Northampton on Wednesday last. Deceased who was between 60 and 70 years old, was the youngest of three brothers, two of whom now are alive, Coun. David Gibson, and George Gibson of Bangor. He was an uncle of Chief of Police Gibson of Woodstock. Deceased was a widower. He leaves quite a large family. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Spargo officiating. The remains were interred in the Northampton burying ground.

A Large Pulp Mill.

For some time an effort has been made to establish a Pulp Mill at Sturgeon Falls. A gentleman representing a number of English capitalists came out lately, and buying out the Sturgeon Falls Co's, last week concluded an agreement with the Ontario Government by which they secure a timber limit along the Sturgeon River of 75 square miles. The Co's called the Occidental syndicate, will pay the regular dues for the timber they cut, and the government retains its right to increase the price per cord from time to time, so long as the price charged is not higher than that obtained from other companies similarly situated.

The terms of the grant provide that all the spruce cut must be manufactured in Canada. The company contracts to expend $1,000,000 in buildings and plant, and will have a capital of $2,500,000. The pulp mill was opened on Saturday last, and the foundation of the first of six paper mills was laid. The company undertakes to employ not fewer than 240 hands and will really employ 400. It is expected that 360,000 tons will be the annual product, equal to 120 tons every working day. The company has its eye on Australian and Japan trade.

At present it costs the American exporters $6 and $7 a cord to lay Canadian pulp wood down at their own doors, but this does not prevent their manufacturing and selling paper on the English market to the extent of hundreds of thousands of pounds annually. The Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company expect that it will not cost them more than $2 a cord for the wood, and at this place they hope to under bid the Americans on the British market.—Ex.

A Clever Trick.

A funny story comes from Hartland, at the expense of a Parish of Woodstock constable. It is said that the constable wished to arrest a certain party in Hartland, to give evidence in a Scott Act case. Armed with that little brief authority that the law gives a constable, our friend of law and order proceeded to the city of the north. He was informed that the party whom he sought boarded at one of the hotels in room No—. The custodian of the peace started for the room in question and without much difficulty got in. He handed out the warrant whereat the occupant of the room proclaimed in astonishment. "Oh! you have the wrong man. It's my brother you want." The constable made a profound apology. The guest of the room was in a forgiving mood, and said he would show the constable the house in which the wanted one lived. So he took him out and pointing to a certain house said: "You will find him there." The constable profusely thanked the gentleman for his assistance in carrying out the law, and proceeding to the house pointed out thumped, at the door till he made an entrance.

Alas! he found that he had tried the wrong bird, and that he should have hung on to the party who so easily gulled him. The arrest, has not yet been made.
