"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

A recent English paper with the name of carrying vast influence, and making governments tremble at its will, had reason a short while ago to refer to the "familiar blunder of official mystery-making." We all know about this sort of thing. "Official mystery-making" is good, and what a lot of it there is in this country. There are times when the press must be kept in ignorance, perhaps, but official mystery-makers would be wiser if they would take the press into their confidence and instead of declining information impart it, and ask the newspaper man to withhold publication until the right time. I am often told that newspaper men make egregious mistakes. Goodness knows, it is no wonder. They have to cork screw the information from officials who make matters hazy as possible and then wonder that it is not all clear the next day.

Nations, like individuals cannot always contain themselves within reasonable bounds. Prosperity is apt to turn their heads. One would imagine this to be the case with the United States. This nation was the envy of the world in its self-contained greatness. It was invulnerable at home and having no possessions but those within its own proper borders, did not care a bang whether school kept in Europe or not. But, with the acquisition of the Philippines, all is changed. The United States is no longer the envied of Europe. She must become a great military power to hold her own, and this she will do, having once obtained possession. Give a man much and he wants more. Same of nations. Switzerland is the only one that has any common sense.

Human nature is about the same all over and a man who loses a suit of law is apt to lose invariably for some other cause, except the weakness of his case. He generally, either pronounces trial by jury a howling farce and threatens to abolish it, or he intimates that the Judges are not of the calibre of their predecessors.

The following little story may be read with profit by dissatisfied litigants:—Counsel appointed to defend an Irishman challenged several of the jury, who, his client said, had a prejudice against him. "Are there any more jurymen who have a prejudice against you?" whispered the barrister. "No, sir, the jury's awl right; but if you want you to challenge the judge. I've been convicted under him several times already and loikely he's beginning to have a prejudice against me."

COUGHS CURED

A Bishop's Hat.

We are all sensitive as to our own personal identity. Smith doesn't like to be called Jones, and Adam shows a good deal of the "old Adam" when he is mistaken for an expressman. The London Realm tells a story illustrative of this sensitiveness.

The late Lord Aylesbury was standing bareheaded in a well-known hatter's shop in Piccadilly while his hat was being ironed. A bishop—who, being still alive, has not reached his turn for posthumous anecdotes and must consequently be nameless—entered the shop in full attire, and, seeing Lord Aylesbury bareheaded, mistook him for a shopman. Taking off his own head covering, the bishop said, "I want to know if you have a hat like this."

Lord Aylesbury surveyed the hat and its owner, and turned on his heel with the curt remark:

"No, I haven't, and if I had I'd be hanged before I'd wear it."

SCROFULA CURED.

P. Dubuc, Magog, Que., writes: "I have used three bottles of B. B. B. for Scrofula, Impure Blood and Dyspepsia, and was completely restored to health."

Willing To Oblige.

Sir, began the seedy-looking individual as he approached the cashier in a down town office. I have seen better days, and if you will kindly render me a little assistance—I am very sorry, interrupted the cashier, but I can do nothing for you to-day. Charity should begin at home, you know.

Thank you, sir, said the mendicant as he extracted a memorandum book and pencil from a mysterious recess in his apparel. What is your home address, please, and what time shall I call?

THOS. MILLER, Esq.,

MERCHANT, LUCKNOW, ONT.

(Cured of Serious Stomach Troubles. Here is What He Says:

I was troubled for twenty years with acute stomach trouble and constipation, and had tried almost everything I could hear of, but got no relief. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me. The first dose I took gave me relief. I found them to be the thing I had been looking for. They have cured me.

THOMAS MILLER.

Not To Be Trifled With.

Of course, he said in an offhand way, it goes without saying that a beautiful girl like you must have had many offers of marriage. She blushed prettily, and her eyes seemed to say "Of course," but she did not answer otherwise.

And of course, he went on, I would not think of asking who any of the men were or anything about them, but I am interested in knowing how they do it.

Then she roused herself.

See here, she said, are you trying to get pointers for a proposal to me or to some other girl?

Thus it was that she pinned him down as it were, and brought him to the point.

The Soudan Railway.

According to English papers the extension of the Soudan Railway to Khartoum has been definitely decided upon. Its present terminus is at Dahila Fort, at the mouth of the Atbara river a branch of the Nile, 180 miles below Khartoum. Orders for the necessary bridges are being placed with several British firms. Most of these bridges will be of iron of the lattice girder type. The principal one will be that spanning the Atbara, near its confluence with the Nile, and this will be over 1200 ft. in length. There will be, in addition, between 50 and 60 smaller smaller bridges, some of them spanning channels which are merely dry gullies at certain seasons of the year, but which have to be reckoned with in view of the periodical flooding of all the water-course connected with the Nile. A description of the Soudan Railway, as at present completed, was given in the Railway and Engineering Review of Oct. 1.—Railway News.

New Thief Game.

Three clever thieves with a new device have looted several houses in New York.

The master of the house is at business, his wife is shopping. Two men drive up a furniture waggon on which is a very handsome couch. They ring the bell, the servant girl answers it.

"Mrs. So-and-So, your mistress bought this couch at Wanamacy's to-day," says one man.

The servant girl hesitates.

"There are no charges," says the man.

"But confound it we've got to carry it up to the second story front," says the other man. "That's our orders. You can bet your pretty eyes we wouldn't do that for anybody else."

"Oh, it won't hurt you," laughs the maid delighted by the compliment.

The men leave the couch in the second story front and drive away. The maid goes about her work. Half an hour passes. The two men return in the waggon.

"Very sorry, we've made a mistake they say in a business like way to the maid. 'This is No. 266 Umphreath street, and the couch is to go to No. 266 Steenth street. Very sorry to have put such a pretty girl to so much trouble."

The third of the clever thieves is in the body of the couch, which is capacious enough to store him a lightweight, and all the silver-ware jewelry and other valuables he can pick up in an undisturbed half hour.

Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup is nice to take and death to all worms. Contains its own preservative. Price 25c.

It Couldn't Be Worse.

Mrs. Millem is one of those inoffensive persons who are continually dreading that they may by some mischance hurt the feelings of others. Added to this she has had considerable trouble in getting a suitable cook and does not wish to offend her.

"John," she said to the man servant on the morning following the party, "do you happen to know whether—that is, I mean, can you find out, without asking the cook, whether—the tinned salmon was all eaten last night? You see, I don't wish to ask her, because she may have eaten it, and then she would feel uncomfortable," added the good soul.

"If you please, ma'ma," replied the man, "the new cook has eaten the tinned salmon, and if you was to say anything to her you couldn't make her more uncomfortable than she is."—Pearson's Weekly.

Did Good for Once.

He knocked at the door of a suburban house and the cook opened it. He was a sinister-looking fellow, and the cook held on to the door.

"Lady of the house here!" he inquired, gruffly.

"No," trembled the cook.

"Master of the house here?"

"No."

"None of the people in?"

"None but me," and she tried to shut the door.

"Aw, come off," he growled, setting his foot against it; "I'll come in and have a good feed. Let go the door."

She let go the door, and the tramp went in and fell into the arms of a burly policeman who was coaxing the cook contrary to orders.

COOK'S SURE COUGH CURE

DON'T CHIDE THE CHILDREN.

Don't scold the little ones if the bed is wet in the morning. It isn't the child's fault. Weak kidneys need strengthening—that's all. You can't afford to risk delay. Neglect may entail a lifetime of suffering.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Strengthen the Kidneys and Bladder, then all trouble ceases.

Mr. John Carson, employed at M. S. Bradt & Co.'s store, Hamilton, Ont., says: "My little boy seven years of age has been troubled with his kidneys since birth and could not hold his water. We spent hundreds of dollars doctoring and tried many different remedies, but they were of no avail. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured him."
