

A CARRIAGE MAKER

Suffered ten years from weak heart action and nervousness.

Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

No trade or profession is exempt from disease or derangement of the heart and nerves. The pressure of work and the mental worry are bound to produce serious consequences sooner or later.

Mr. Donald Campbell, the well-known carriage maker of Harrison, Ont., said: "I have been troubled off and on for ten years with weak action of my heart and nervousness. Frequently my heart would palpitate and flutter with great violence, alarming me exceedingly. Often I had sharp pains in my heart and could not sleep well at night. I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and from them derived almost immediate benefit. They restored vigor to my nerves and strengthened my entire system, removing every symptom of nerve or heart trouble, and enabling me to get restful, healthy sleep."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure palpitation, throbbing, dizzy and faint spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, female troubles, after effects of grippe, etc. Price 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. They do not grip, sicken or weaken. Every pill acts perfectly.

You'll Regret It

If you let the days go by without getting those photographs taken which you have in mind. Time brings changes. Think what may happen. I give great care to obtain the most artistic and natural poses, and the ones most becoming to the subject. Besides this, my pictures have a reputation for fine retouching and superb mechanical finish. I have been particularly successful with children's pictures.

Prohibition Meeting.

Knowlesville, Aug. 13th.

On the evening of the 13th a public meeting was held in the school house, in the interests of Prohibition, Edward Gilmore, V. P., for the Parish of Aberdeen in the chair. Rev. Mr. Home of Glassville was appointed secretary of meeting. The chairman having called the meeting to order went into the Prohibition question elaborately and eloquently, after which a Prohibition organization for this quarter of the Parish of Aberdeen was duly carried out. It was then resolved:—

1. To procure copy of list of voters from V. P. of parish to be put into the hands of committee of management.

2. To appoint Henry Doucette and George Shaw said committee to secure the vote of school districts Nos. 5 and 8, Parish of Aberdeen, with power to add to their number.

3. To appoint same gentlemen a Literature committee to disseminate Prohibition literature in above districts, and to supervise said districts, in arranging for one or more public meeting therein, and, if possible, to induce every voter personally to go to the polls and vote for Prohibition.

3. Through Mr. Branscombe to request the Methodist minister to preach a sermon in Knowlesville F. B. C. on Prohibition, and through Mr. Corey to invite the Baptist minister to preach a sermon on same subject in same church.

4. To appoint Roland Kinney, George Shaw and J. W. Branscombe a finance committee to take charge of and disburse all funds collected for carrying out the objects of the Knowlesville organization.

5. To request people of district to take baskets of provisions with them on polling day for their own use and use of others.

6. To appoint Charles Gayton scrutiner for school districts Nos. 5 and 8 to watch proceedings at polling booths on polling day (29th Sept.)

7. To request V. P. Edward S. Gilmore to visit people of Golden Ridge in the interests of Prohibition.

The above resolutions were all fully discussed seriatim by gentlemen present and unanimously carried. In the course of discussion, several gentlemen—well known temperance men—spoke ably on the different points under review. Mr. Henry Doucette, one of our leading Prohibition advocates referred pointedly to several questions affecting Premier Laurier's position in respect of Prohibition movement. He had been censured by some for not giving a decided promise. Perhaps this was unavoidable, until the voice of the people was heard at the polls. Some were unwilling to accept a Prohibition measure, because, at first blush, it did not appear sufficiently strong—did not embrace every point desired. Well, even if so, if we had not a sharp axe wherewith to chop down a tree we might do so with a dull one. We ought to do what we could with the means and agencies at our disposal. Others saw no use for all this agitation, because they had never been injured by rum, either they had never had any taste or longing for it—had never fallen under the power of temptation. Neither he nor any of his name had ever been seduced or suffered from the baneful fascination of liquor or the blight of the liquor traffic; but others undoubtedly had, either from hereditary liking, from debauching surroundings, from ungovernable passion, or from weakness of principle, which was unable to repel the wiles of the tempter in the evil day. He was anxious and so solicitous for the salvation of others as of those of his own house—to bring others into that ark of safety, in which he and his felt themselves safe. He had seen much of the ruinous influence of rum on men, both old and young, in winter seasons especially on the Miramichi and Bristol roads, and was determined to do all in his power to redeem and to save. No man should live to himself, but should be ever ready to lend a helping hand to rescue a falling brother, when sinking under the overwhelming flood of intemperance, that was sweeping over the length and breadth of the land.

Mr. Noble Branscombe congratulated the meeting on the great privilege Government was giving them in voting at the plebiscite—great privilege and an important one. We were all emphatically called upon to do our duty on the 29th Sept. We had not only our own interests to conserve, but those of our children and our children's children.

Mr. Roland Kinney believed that the time had at last come for putting down the liquor traffic with a strong hand and wiping off its foul stain from our national and social institutions. If the liquor traffic was not stamped out, it was impossible to foresee with what tremendous evil consequences it might be fraught in the future, even to generations yet unborn. Government was right in putting the matter fairly and squarely before the country, and ought to be applauded for this course, and it would rest with the people now to declare by their votes on the 29th of Sept., whether they would give their moral and religious influence, in driving from their beloved land, a foe whose malignant influence was casting an accursed blight over our small portion of the great human family. The chairman now proceeded to sum up. After briefly and pointedly reviewing the remarks of the different speakers, he complimented Knowlesville on the talent, patriotism and enthusiasm of their Temperance Home Guard, led as that Home Guard was by such men as the gentlemen who had just addressed them. If other organizations were equally well represented—equally well equipped as to members, Prohibitionists could not fail to realize a great victory on the 29th Sept. Mr. Gilmore dwelt in most pathetic terms on the degrading and enslaving influence and ravages of rum, on the national and social and domestic curse of the liquor traffic and passed a high encomium of praise on such organizations as the Woodstock W. C. T. U. What ever might be said as to the Rights of Women, our Christian lady friends were doing a great work in purifying our fathers, our sons and our brothers from the defiling spells of pollution, the enslaving wiles of temptation and the ruinous consummation of transgression and sin. They deserved not only our most cordial support, but also our warmest sympathy in their great crusade against vice in every form—under every guise. They were now working with might and main, though their influence, like gravitation, and the most powerful agencies in nature, worked in silence, for carrying out Prohibition. The responsibility of the success of that measure had now devolved upon us. The lists were all prepared. Heralds had thrown down and taken up the gages of battle. The bugles were already sounding the charge, let each man up and away to his post to fight the good fight, with "Dieu au Mon Drait" emblazoned on his banner. And, when the hour of trial came, might God defend the right.

As To Dancing.

There are a good many people in the world who object to dancing as of course they have a perfect right to do. But to say as a correspondent says, that the concomitants of dancing are drunkenness and harlotry is going entirely too far. The assertion is too sweeping.

Like everything else in this world the moral attributes of dancing depend entirely on the persons who dance. Just because some persons who dance happen to be disreputable characters, it is not all a rational deduction that all persons who dance are disreputable characters. One might as well say that because one clergyman are bad, all clergymen are bad. The one is no more absurd than the other. If people do not like to dance no one compels them to, and no one has any desire to interfere with their liberty to express their disapproval of dancing or any other popular form of amusement when ever they feel like it, but they should avoid making general statements which can only be regarded as reflecting on many worthy people.—Ex.

The path of duty is the path to pleasure. Vice alone truly gauges virtue's worth. The unhappy must be employed or they will go mad.

Every situation has its privileges and its obligations.

Moderation is the foundation-stone of real enjoyment.

There are times in one's life when days do the work of years.

Half the misery in the world comes from straining after happiness.

What is success, after all, but the flowering of the seed of strenuous and constant application?

The fire of love for others is set ablaze by the last spark of the fire of love for self. Love never dies.

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

If it's Hay Fever that is the bug-bear of your life, you won't know the pleasure of freedom from it till you've tried Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Road supervisors, elected for a year, know little and care less about the roads, as a rule. Even if familiar with the work to be done, they could accomplish very little in the way of improvements in a single season.
