Back to the Farm

The Toronto Mail has a very thoughtful and clever article on the subject of the present tendency of the farm population of Ontario to quit farming and seek employment in the towns and cities. The article contends that farming is a more profitable occupation, and far more independent, than the occupations which must be followed by city residents, but it admits the farming to be profitable must be carried on with great skill, extensive knowledge, and high intelligence. The Mail says:—

Since the country has been opened up, farming has not ceased to be a productive industry, where the farmers is alive to his own interests and is working under normal conditions. Still, the glitter of town life has proved seductive, and farmers' sons who have been educated in town schools have cultivated an artificial delicacy which imagines it scents respectability in town and city life. The result is an annual exodus from the rural district of the very flower of the farming population, and in a majority of cases there follows a struggle of years to qualify for a profession which is already overcrowded, to gain a footing as a clerk and lead a life which is a continual disappointment, or to become apprenticed to a trade where the individuality of the mechanic is being steadily taken away by the adoption of machinery. The outcome has been an actual falling off in the farm population of the province during the past ten years, and this at a time when prudent farmers have been steadily improving their position, and but few who are working under ordinary conditions are not making money. It is no wonder then that many of the ablest men in the country have taken up and emphasized the cry, "Back to the farm."—Ex.

THE CYCLISTS' FRIEND.

No cyclist's kit is complete without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Can be taken internally or externally. For Cuts, Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Coughs, Sore Throat, Pains in the Chest, etc., it is always effectual. Has no equal as an all round remedy.

The Philippine Natives.

However lacking in intelligence the natives of the Philippines generally may be, they could not with truth be characterized as savages. There are in the Philippines between 6,000,000 and 9,000,000 people—probably about 7,500,000. Nearly half this number inhabit Luzon, the principal island of the group. The Tagals of Luzon are a copper-colored people, and, like all people of the Malay family, are short of stature. These Tagals are the most advanced and influential element in the whole population of the islands. There are a great many very intelligent and ambitious men among them—men who got their start in the schools established by the monastic friars whose political domination furnishes one of the many grievances which have given rise to the present insurrection. The Tagals are as industrious as the Chinese and Japanese, and more easily controlled and less criminally disposed than the latter. That they are entirely amenable to discipline when they have confidence in and respect for their leaders and advisers is evidenced by the fact that for over a year Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, their acknowledged leader, was able to maintain good order and comparatively good discipline among his 40,000 to 50,000 followers, and under circumstances where chaos and disorder would be the most natural conditions. I am not a sentimentalist—not the sort of man to go into ecstasies of delight over the profuse politeness and kowtowing of the Japanese—but I have observed in the leading men and women a charmingly courteous manner. Such characteristics as rudeness, assumption, or boisterousness are entirely lacking in their temperament. From "What an American saw in the Philippines," by Joseph T. Mannix, in American Monthly Review of Reviews for June.

The Baby Boy Covered With Eczema and Cured by Dr. Chase.

Mrs. Jas. Brown of Molesworth, Ont., tells how her boy (eight months old) was cured of torturing Eczema. Mothers whose children are afflicted can write her regarding the great cure, Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her child was afflicted from birth and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him.

Explained.

"Are you a native of this town?" asked a traveller of a resident of a sleepy little southern hamlet.
"Am I what?"
"Are you a native of the town?"
"Hey?"
"I asked if you were a native of this place?"
At that moment his wife, tall and sallow and gaunt, appeared at the open door of the cabin, and taking her pipe from between her teeth, said acidly:
"Ain't ye got no sense, Jim? He means wuz ye livin' here when you was born, or wuz ye born before you begun livin' here. Now answer hum."—Harper's Bazar.

Vigor for Heart and Nerves.

Nothing equal to it for clearing the head and cleansing the air passages. Gives instant relief for cold in the head. Cures incipient Catarrh in a few days; Chronic Catarrh in one to three months. A specific for Hay Fever.

MR. JAS. SPENCE, CLASHAN, ONT., writes: "I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. I spent lots of money and tried several doctors, also a Catarrh Specialist in London, Ont. At last I was directed by the advertisements and testimonials I read to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I used 3 boxes, and a complete cure was effected."

Price, complete with blower, 25 Cts. Sold by all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Only One President.

Among a batch of stories attributed to President Lincoln is the following good one on President Tyler: "During Mr. Tyler's incumbency of the office he arranged to make an excursion in some direction, and sent his son Bob to arrange a special train. It happened that the railroad president was a strong Whig. As such he had no favors to bestow on the President, and informed Bob that his road did not run any special trains for the President. 'What!' said Bob, did you not furnish a special train for the funeral of President Harrison? 'Yes,' said the superintendent, 'and if you'll bring your father in that condition you shall have the best train on the road.'"

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Symptoms and the Great Cure. Note the signs:—Inflammation, non-retention of urine, scalding, sharp pains in passing, dragging pain in the bladder, chills, cold extremities; all these indicate bladder derangement, catarrh of the bladder, and other serious complications. If neglected will result in stubborn kidney disorders and physical wreck. South American Kidney Cure will arrest all these symptoms, dispel all the causes, cleanse and keep the system clean. It's a kidney specific, a life giver and a life saver.

Work faithfully and you will put yourself in possession of a glorious and enlarging happiness, not such as can be won by the speed of a horse or marred by the obliquity of a ball.—Ruskin.

In my opinion there can be no words too strong for denouncing suitably the abominable practice of gambling—now, I believe, more fire even than during my youth—and the ruinous consequences to which it directly leads.—W. E. Gladstone.

Probate Court, County of Carleton.

To the Sheriff of the County of Carleton, or any Constable of the said County—Greeting:—Whereas the Administrator and Administratrix of the estate of James Cadman, late of Woodstock, deceased, have filed in this Court an account of their Administration of the said deceased's estate and have prayed that the same may be passed and allowed in due form of Law. You are therefore required to cite the Heirs and next of kin of the deceased and all of the creditors and other persons interested in his said estate to appear before the Judge of Probate in and for the County of Carleton at a Court of Probate to be held in the County of Carleton, at the Judge's Office in said County, on Monday, the Twentieth day of June next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to attend the passing and allowing of the said accounts as prayed for and as by Law directed.

Given under my hand and the Seal of L.S.: the said Probate Court, this Nineteenth day of May, A. D. 1898.

LEWIS P. FISHER, Judge of Probate County of Carleton.

FRANK B. CARVELL, Registrar of Probates for Carleton County.

Probate Court, County of Carleton.

To the sheriff of the County of Carleton, or any Constable of the said County, Greeting:—Whereas, Norris B. Cadman, Administrator, and Margaret Ketchum, Administratrix, of all and singular the goods, chattels, rights and credits which were of James Cadman, late of the Parish of Woodstock, in the County of Carleton, gentleman, deceased, have prayed that a citation may be issued calling upon the heirs and next of kin of the said deceased, and all of the creditors and other persons interested in the said estate of the said James Cadman, deceased, to attend and show cause (if any they have) why the personal estate of the said James Cadman, deceased, should not be distributed according to law. You are therefore required to cite the heirs, creditors, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the said estate to appear at a Court of Probate to be held in and for the County of Carleton, at the office of the Judge of Probate for the said county at the Town of Woodstock in the said county, on Thursday, the 23rd day of June next, at the hour of Ten of the clock in the forenoon, to attend and show cause (if any they have) why the personal estate of the said James Cadman, deceased, should not be distributed according to law.

Given under my hand and the seal of the said Court at Woodstock, in the County of Carleton, this Twenty-Third day of May, A. D. 1898.

LEWIS P. FISHER, Judge of Probate in and for the County of Carleton.

FRANK B. CARVELL, Registrar of Probates in and for the County of Carleton.

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

I do not wish to have a reputation for always badgering the town council, but now that we have them committed to a policy of asphaltting the principle sidewalks, they must not rest on their oars, and think there are no other needed improvements. A previous council fitted up the council chamber in excellent shape. The exterior of the town hall is quite as ugly as it possibly could be, for a public building. Whoever was the architect should have a prize for having designed the most utterly hideous public building that was ever erected in a civilized community. However it is there and will be for the lives of most of us. A coat of paint would be quite an improvement, and while all the paint in the world could not make it a pleasant sight, a few dollars' worth would at least give it an appearance of neatness. Speaking of this sort of thing how very far we are behind the civilized people of 2000 years ago. They used to have plain residences, but the public buildings were beautiful and models of art. Some people are opposed to beautiful public buildings on the score of religion, as if beauty and religion were antagonistic. When will we come to learn that what is done for the public use should be of the best. I was told, not long ago, by a man favourably impressed with Woodstock that he could not but notice a defect—the lack of public spiritness in the town. It is just this lack of public spirit which accounts for the erection of such a building as the town hall is. The public buildings erected for the use of the Dominion and for county purposes are creditable. The town alone erects a monument of hideousness. At least, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen of the council, keep the town hall decently in repair, as you would your own houses. You are not to blame for its appearance. That sin some of your predecessors will have to answer for.

I have heard some pretty stiff stories about bad manuscript, and there are men in town who, it is said, cannot read their own handwriting. A newspaper correspondent, who wrote a very hard fist, was once politely reproached by his chief that his copy was simply indecipherable, and that if he wrote in Greek, a scholar might be found to translate, but as his hieroglyphics simply meant nothing, neither head nor tail could be made of it. Perhaps the best part of the incident was that while the official note to the correspondent was type written, on the back of his enclosed, condemned copy, was a memo written by the chief, which, letter for letter and word for word, was about as hard of transcribing as the copy that had given the offence.

The prospect for an Anglo-Saxon union may be good, but it is rather sickening to hear the preachers enthuse over the great thing this will be for the cause of Christianity. They imply that the united Anglo-Saxon will be such a power in the world that they will snuff out the other fellows, and then the millennium will arrive. What a terrible thing it is, say these preachers, for brothers like the Englishman and the Yankee to fight! Surely from a moral point of view the Yankee and Briton are no more brothers than the Yankee and the Zulu. I was taught in my younger days that all mankind are brothers, that the Spaniard or Russian whom I have never seen, is as much my brother as the worthy American consul, whom I see every day, or even the fellow Britisher whom I have known from my infancy. As a political move, united Anglo-Saxondom may be a good thing, but for mercy's sake let us give up canting about our superior Christianity, etc.

Rheumatism's Ruthless Hands Clutched Him for Five Years—Two Bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure Gave Him His Liberty.

William McAteer, Farmer, Creemore P.O., writes: "For years I have been a sufferer from acute rheumatism. At times I have been completely laid up with it—could not put on my clothing without assistance. Before I had completed the second bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure I was a well man. If those two bottles had cost me $50.00 I would have considered it cheap medicine."—Sold by Garden Bros.

Everyone of us is liable to be misunderstood and to suffer injustice. When one remembers how hard it is to be understood himself, it is not wonderful that one should be misunderstood by other people. Perhaps it were better for most of us to complain less of being misunderstood, and to take more care that we do not misunderstand other people.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mrs. THOS. McCANN, Mooresville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with biliousness, headache, and lost appetite. I could not rest at night, and was very weak, but after using three bottles of B.B.B. my appetite has returned, and I am better than I have been for years. I would not be without Burdock Blood Bitters. It is such a safe and good remedy that I am giving it to my children."
