OUR FORESTS.

We have an immense wealth in our forests. They have in the past, yielded us millions of millions of dollars. Lumber has been the gold of New Brunswick, and the mine is by no means exhausted. Strange to say while the forest have become somewhat depleted, the price of lumber instead of going up, appears to be on the downward grade. Still lumber must always be in demand, and we will be a wise people if we take steps to preserve this great wealth that nature has endowed us with. But every lumberman, and every one familiar with the woods, knows that we have been most wasteful in our lumbering operations. Even the farmer who with a few hundred acres of woodland cuts some cords of firewood for the local market, wastes quantities of wood, for the comparatively little he sells.

The following taken from the Railway News, a Chicago journal, shows how careful they are in the old countries over their forest preservation: "After the many centuries during which the forests of Bohemia have furnished fuel and building material for a dense population it is said that they retain nearly their primeval area. This is due to the forethought of the government in ordaining that as trees are cut down others shall be planted to fill the vacancies. The wood is mostly pine. Trees are constantly being cut, but wherever a clearing is made small trees are planted the next spring. These new trees are raised from the seed in small inclosures scattered in the mountains, and are thence transplanted." If we had adopted such a policy years ago, we would have been enabled to sell pine, today, and what a good price, pine would bring.

PARTY GOVERNMENT.

Our American friends carry the party into the smallest details of life. Not only are elections for the state legislatures run on party lines, but the municipal elections are carried on, according to the divisions of Democrats and Republicans.

We are copying the Yankees, in this, as in many other ways.

It is proposed to run provincial elections on Dominion party lines. The reasons given for this are not of the most convincing, although for practical purposes, it may turn out to be the best thing to do.

Party is a necessary evil of government and simply shows how far we are off from ideal government.

To introduce party politics into municipal affairs would be carrying the thing the full length of the American system.

We would, then, indeed be looking towards Washington.

If we keep on we shall soon have party churches, and the pastor will be "called" according to the political leanings of the congregation.

Then, we may take another step and refuse to call on any but party friends, and, to bow, in the street, to those of the opposite faction.

Verily, we are drifting to perfection!

Miss Annie Gillespie, Orillia, Ont., writes: "I had a bad cold and severe cough for some time and could not get rid of it until I used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which quickly cured me. Price 25c."

The Judge and The Boy.

There arose a judge in England in the days of Queen Elizabeth whose life stood for justice, who towered above the jurists of his time in integrity of character, and whose works still live. Queen Elizabeth, who admired sincerity, once said to this great and stainless man: "Mr. Attorney, go on as thou hast begun, and still plead, not for the rights of the queen but for the rights of truth."

This 'attorney' then young, did go on, and became a power in England that the throne feared, and he lived long enough to see throne after throne rise and fall. In all the changes of his troubled times, he pleaded for the dominion of truth.

One day this most eminent judge was busy about his work in the town hall of London. It was the old hall of the Henrys, which was partly burned some years afterwards, and was not altogether like the historic hall of today. Guild-hall was the place of the courts of justice, and the judge was engaged in his calling in one of these courts. He looked up. A boy met his eyes, and there was something in the lad's face that held his attention—heart, soul, conscience, and earnest purpose. It was a Welsh face, kindly but uncompromising, beautiful in its sincerity. What was the boy doing? He was writing—taking notes in a case that an attorney was pleading.

The grave judge was interested in the boy's face, and there was something in his manner that revealed to him a kinship of soul. It was honest and earnest. All with an inspired purpose know kindred souls and desire to share their brotherhood. The judge saw his own heart's desire that day in that face. Should he unbend from his dignity and speak to the boy? Something within him answered "Yes."

"Are you interested in this case?"
"I am taking notes."
"For instruction, my lad?"
"Yes, sir."
"May I look at your book?"
"Here are my notes. I am glad to have you see them, sir."

"They are accurate, beautifully and closely written. May I ask why you came here?"

"To study law by taking notes, sir."
"Are you an English boy?"
"No, sir; I came to London from Wales. I was born in Wales in 1690."

"Your name?"
"Roger Williams, sir."
"Have you the means of education?"
"No, sir; but I am doing my best to secure a legal education in this way. My parents are people of small estate."

"Would you like to attend the schools, to go to college, and to prepare for some profession?"

"I have so prayed, sir; I have the purpose, but I do not see the way."

"My boy, prayer and purpose make the way. A boy who takes counsel of heaven may become what he desires to be. Have you that faith?"

"I know the Word says, 'Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him, and he shall bring it to pass.'"

"My boy, I have been reading your soul while you have been writing so earnestly. I am going to offer you education at my own expense."

That judge was Sir Edward Coke, whom even to this day every law-student quotes. There are meetings that are turning-points in life; meetings in which souls born for mutual help find each other. Such was this interview. The purpose of the great jurist's soul was to rise like a star in the life of this Welsh boy. There are men whose words are inspiration and life, who build men, whom to meet is to grow. Such a man was Sir Edward Coke. He had found a pupil of life in Roger Williams, and through him he wrote the 'English Bill of Rights' was destined to touch and to influence for good, the nations of the world.—Hezekiah Butterworth, in 'In the Days of Massachusetts.'

THIRTY YEARS' PAIN.

Ended by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

No Other Medicine and no Doctor Could Cure Mr. James Fraser of Kidney Disease and Palpitation of the Heart.

PICTOU, N. S., Nov. 21.—No resident of this town is better known than Mr. James Fraser, one of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens.

Mr. Fraser for thirty years of his life, was a victim to Kidney Disease and Palpitation of the Heart, which prevented him from giving his full time to his business. He estimates that the time he has lost through illness would have been worth thousands of dollars to him, if he could have devoted it to his business. The money was lost to him through illness. And besides this amount, he lost hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills, and in medicines.

His disease grew steadily worse, and he concluded that there was no hope for him. Fortunately however, he decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, as a final effort.

"As soon as I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, I began to mend," Mr. Fraser writes. "Day by day, I improved, until today I am cured, and feel better, stronger and healthier than I have been for twenty years."

The experience of the past eight years gives absolute and indisputable proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a positive and un-failing cure for all Kidney Diseases, including Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Gravel, Stone in the bladder, all Urinary Complaints, Diseases of Women Paralysis, and Heart Failure.

No other medicine ever compounded can cure these diseases. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only known cure.

In cases of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Female Complaints, and Paralysis, etc., the only course open to the sufferer is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, or die. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them. No other medicine can.

A Royal Home-Maker.

The tact and power of Queen Louise of Denmark was shown in her ability to make all her royal son-in-laws her friends, and her home the domestic fireside to which they all flocked. Alexander III, is said to have never missed a summer with her, and never to have been so happy as while under her roof. The Princess of Wales went home to her

PROOF FROM Port Hope, Ont.

Mr. W. A. Russel, the Popular District Agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, Proves that Doan's Kidney Pills Cure Kidney ills.

This is his statement: "I suffered for five or six years with pains across my back, headaches, dizziness, and kindred kidney troubles. I got very bad, and when driving would often have to stop the horse, as the pains were so severe that I could not stand them. I tried a great many medicines, but they did me no good. I then got Doan's Kidney Pills at Watson's drug store, took them for one month, and am completely cured. I regard the cure as a remarkable testimony to the virtues of Doan's Pills, and am only too glad to recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble in any form."
Doan's Kidney Pills are a never-failing remedy for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Backache and Weak Back, Gravel, Sediment in the Urine, and all Urinary troubles of children or adults. Price see a box, 3 for $1.25, all druggists. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

every year. All the the children and grand-children gathered about the Queen. Only the other day the Duke of York's eldest son, her great grandchild, and one day, if he lives, to be King of England, was carried there for a visit. Her influence however, was not confined to these holiday times. She wrote once a week to Alexander III while he lived and consulted with him on affairs of state. She was always on the side of peace, and many world tragedies are said to have been averted in the family councils at Fredensborg. Only a rare woman could have accomplished so much, and one who, though a Queen, understood so well the value of the home. The wonder is that the restless and ambitious should so often deny to the fire-side a value which a royal head has proved to us all.

A Jersey City druggist is making a collection of the queer orders he receives from people who send children to the store for things they need. Here are a few samples of them: "This child is my little girl. I sent you five cents to buy two sitless powders for a groan adult who is sick." Another reads: "Dear doctor, please give barter five sense worse of Auntie Toxyn for to gargle babi's throte and oblege." An anxious mother writes: "You will please give the little boy five cents worth of epsac for to throw up in a 5 months old babe. N. B.—The babe has a sore stummick." This one puzzled the druggist: "I have a cute pain in my child's diagram. Please give my son something to release it." Another anxious mother wrote: "My little baby has eat up its father's parish plaster. Send an antedote quick as possible by the enclosed little girl." The writer of this one was evidently in pain;

"I haf a hot time in my insides, and which I would like it to be extinguished. What is good for to extinguish it? The enclosed quarter is for the price of the extinguisher. Hurry, please."
